CONDITIONS OF POVERTY FOUND

Want and Actual Suffering Follow in Footsteps of Local Textile Depression

Union Relief Workers Strive to Rehabilitate Families Now in Need

Startling stories of acute poverty, suffering for lack of the bare necessities of life, shortage of fuel, sickness and conditions fast approaching actual misery, with names, addresses, and exact conditions recorded on the books of the textile workers' relief committee organization at Trades and Labor hall, furnish proof in ample volume of conditions that exist in many sections of Lowell today as the result of uncertain textile business and lack of other employment.

Not all of the cases listed at relief headquarters by the expert investigators of the U.T.W. of A. are those of families whose supporting heads have

DR. WORK TO SUCCEED HAYS

First Member of Medical Profession to Be Chosen a Cabinet Officer

WASHINGTON, March 2.—Dr. Hubert Work, present first assistant postmaster general, will succeed Will H. Hays as head of the postoffice department, it was learned definitely today at the White House.

Dr. Work, whose home is in Pueblo, Colo., will take over the postoffice portfolio Saturday, when the resignation of Mr. Hays becomes effective. The nomination of Dr. Work is expected to be sent to the senate shortly.

The elevation of the Coloradoan to the postmaster generalship will leave the position of first and second assistant postmaster generals to be filled by S. S. Shaughnessy, who was second assistant postmaster general, having lost his life in the Knickerbocker theatre disaster.

DENVER, Colo., March 2.—Dr. Hubert Work, of Pueblo, who will be appointed postmaster general, will be the second Colorado man to hold a place in the cabinet. Henry M. Teller of Colorado was appointed secretary of the interior by President Arthur in 1898. Dr. Work is the first member of the medical profession to hold a cabinet office.

GUARDS ON DUTY AS MILL REOPENS

Cotton Mill in Hope, R. I., Resumes Operation—Score of 250 Workers Report

Three Companies of Coast Artillery and Machine Gun Detail Leave Pawtucket

PROVIDENCE, R. I., March 2.—One of the two cotton mills owned by the Hope company in the village of Hope reopened today, under protection of the police and deputy sheriff with but a score of the 250 operatives reporting for work. A picket line took up its march before the gates in a hard snow storm. A detachment of coast artillerymen was later sent to the mill for guard duty.

Troops Leave Pawtucket

PAWTUCKET, R. I., March 2.—Three companies of the coast artillery, the 34th, 34th and 35th, a machine gun detail of the 101st field artillery and one medical officer and eight enlisted men of the 152nd ambulance company left Pawtucket today for the state armory in Providence, where it is reported they will be demobilized.

All of the companies, except the machine gun detail, were quartered at the plant of the Jencor Spinning Co.

About 300 soldiers are left in the city to guard the mills.

WINTER HOLDS FAST

Today's Storm Adds to Blanket That Has Covered City Since Last November

Another snowstorm that failed to come up to early expectations hit the city and suburbs early this morning shortly after 3 o'clock, cluttering up the streets and sidewalks with a morning without doing any particular damage or interfering greatly with traffic conditions anywhere.

The storm started shortly before noon, with the sun struggling to peep from light clouds that covered the sky. It was warm enough this afternoon for rain if the storm gathered any force, but weather prognosticators say the slowly rising temperature pre-

DEBATE ON FOUR POWER TREATY

13 Democrats Voted for Ratification of Yap Treaty—Three Republicans Against

WASHINGTON, March 2.—A prolonged debate was in prospect when the senate opened discussion today on the four power Pacific treaty regarding the Yap islands. The treaty was called up late yesterday immediately after the senate had ratified with reservation the Yap treaty with Japan by a vote of 67 to 22 in which the 23 democrats present divided 13 for ratification and 10 against, while only three republicans voted in the negative.

The administration managers said they expected to lose "very few" of the votes they commanded yesterday in the subsequent ratification roll call, while the "reconciliation" predicted that the lineup on the four power treaty would show at least seven and probably more who voted for the Yap treaty or were absent, voting against it.

VERDICT FOR MARY PICKFORD

Does Not Have to Pay Woman Part of $108,000 Claimed as Commission

NEW YORK, March 2.—Mary Pickford does not have to pay Mrs. Cora Wilkenning any part of the $108,000 which Mrs. Wilkenning claims was her due as commission for getting the film star a raise to $10,000 a week. This was the verdict of a federal jury returned last night and unsealed today before Federal Judge Black.

Neither Mary nor her husband, Douglas Fairbanks, were in court when the verdict was announced. Her counsel rushed to the telephone to acquaint her with the news at her hotel.

Counsel for Mrs. Wilkenning filed notice of an appeal.

De Valera Resents Refusal of Griffith to Answer Question

DUBLIN, March 2.—(By the Associated Press)—Another threat to withdraw from the Dail Eireanna was made by Eamon de Valera today when Arthur Griffith refused, as president of the Dail, to answer a question regarding plans for the future of the Haulbowline dockyard at Queenstown, on the ground that this was strictly provisional government work. Mr. de Valera declared the question was a test involving the supremacy of the Dail.

An effort by the republicans to shift the meetings of the Dail to the Mansion House so the public could attend, was defeated by a vote of 49 to 40. This motion was thought to indicate that Mr. de Valera's party expected a prolonged meeting of the Dail, while the Griffith supporters, on the other hand, desired to terminate the session today if possible.

Before adjourning for luncheon the Dail formally ratified the Ard Rhes agreement insofar as it concerned the Dail and the election to be held on the issue of the treaty, and the constitution of the Free State.

ATTEMPTS VIOLENCE ARMED WITH HAMMER

Armed with a hammer and declaring that he had already killed two men and was about to kill another, John G. Delano, aged about 55, a Tewksbury farmer, attempted to force an entrance to the state infirmary in Tewksbury, early this morning. The object of his search was the superintendent of the infirmary, Dr. Nichols.

Delano was taken in charge by Officer Anthony G. Kelly and brought to local police headquarters. His brother was expected to come to the station this afternoon, when Dr. M. A. Tighe was to examine the prisoner for symptoms of insanity. It is said that Delano has acted in a peculiar manner for a long time.

BEAUMONT, Tex., March 2.—John Sullivan, dairyman, last night was taken out by a large group of masked men and severely beaten. He was released in front of a newspaper office and commanded to report the incident to the editor.

"They told me to tell you that they whipped me because I whipped my mother," he said.

Tarred and Feathered

SHREVEPORT, La., March 2.—Taken from his home in Cedar Grove last night by a silent band of unmasked men, William B. Gentry, 67, was pushed out of an automobile 20 minutes later at a street intersection here, clad only in his underclothes and a coat of tar and feathers. No reason for the attack was given.

STRIKERS CLAIM THEY WILL CLOSE MILL

One of the officials of the local textile strike in conversation with a Sun reporter this morning stated that with good weather it will be a matter of only a few days before the pickets succeed in closing the plant of the Ray State Cotton corporation altogether. Last evening and this morning about 75 men and women were doing picket duty there and, according to reports, they succeeded in having a number of the employees leave their work.

The pickets reported at headquarters that the few imported strike breakers are accompanied to the mill by police officers at 6:15 a. m. and they do not leave the plant again until after 6 o'clock in the afternoon. It is said that arrangements are made by the mill officials to serve them food by the mill.

The weavers who are on strike and who are connected with the Weavers' union were paid off today at strike headquarters in Central street. The men and women gathered in Trades and Labor hall this forenoon and this afternoon, and the treasurer of the organization gave each a substantial amount, which is believed to be large enough to carry them along until next week.

The loomfixers will be paid off Saturday morning at 9 o'clock, in their hall in City Hall avenue. It was learned this morning that although the rules of the Loomfixers' union call for a stipulated amount to be paid to each member of the organization who is out on strike, a mutual agreement has been reached between the members by which the married men with families are to receive larger amounts than those who have no one but themselves to look after.

It was learned today that General Organizer Thomas J. Reagan, who has been confined to his home by illness during the past few days, is now able to be out again and late this afternoon he is scheduled to address a meeting of strikers in Trades and Labor hall.

Mr. Reagan and John Hanley, president of the Lowell Textile Council, are working hand in hand in an endeavor to bring the strike to a successful end and they feel confident that their efforts will not prove fruitless.

MOONSHINERS CALLED

Four Illicit Liquor Manufacturers Arraigned in District Court Today

Four alleged moonshiners appeared in district court this morning as a result of the activities of the liquor enforcement officers yesterday afternoon and evening. DRIVE ON RUM-RUNNERS

Dry Agents Being Transferred to Florida for Concentrated Campaign

WASHINGTON, March 2.—Prohibition enforcement agents are being transferred from various states to Florida for a concentrated campaign against liquor smugglers along the coast of the peninsula.

High treasury officials declared that a difficult problem was facing the government in connection with rum-running on the Florida coast. One peculiar difficulty, they explained, lay in the fact that great expanses of shallow water along the coast made it possible for smugglers to hide illicit cargoes of liquor on the bottom of the sea upon the approach of authorities.

This practice is followed to such an extent, it was said, that the Florida shallows were almost carpeted with whiskey and rum.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you 90 per cent. of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, a well known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 10c and 30c.—Ad.

TO REORGANIZE NAVAL RESERVE

Includes Provision for a Merchant Marine Reserve Section—Other Features

WASHINGTON, March 2.—Complete reorganization of the naval reserve is proposed in a tentative bill prepared by the navy department and forwarded to officials of the naval reserve association by Secretary Denby for comment before it is presented to congress. Included in the proposed act is the provision for a merchant marine reserve section and for certain merchant ships to fly a reserve emblem.

The bill would abolish all existing naval or marine corps reserves and establish a naval reserve as a "company" of the navy, consisting of three classes, the fleet reserve, the merchant marine naval reserve and the volunteer naval reserve.

All present members of the various classes of naval reservists, both officers and men, and the naval militia would be brought into the new system. Officers not to be above the rank of lieutenant commander, except for "a small percentage" in the rank of commander or captain "for the recruiting, organization, training, inspection and mobilization of the naval reserve."

Enlistments in the reserve would be for four years while officers would hold their commissions "during the pleasure of the president."

Reservists of the first two classes could be ordered to duty by the president in time of war or national emergency, to serve throughout the war or emergency, but in time of peace could be called out only with their own consent, except for prescribing training. While on duty or in uniform, they would be subject to navy regulations and orders. The volunteer reserve would be liable for war duty only.

While on active duty, except training, they would receive the pay and allowances of their rank or grade in the regular service and a $100 clothing gratuity would go to each officer when commissioned in the fleet reserve with an additional $50 allowance for each succeeding four years of service. In time of war every reserve officer would receive $150 for uniform.

Any officer or enlisted man of the reserve injured in line of duty while on active, training or volunteer service would be entitled to regular service benefits.

In war time reserve officers would be ranked next below the last regular officer in rank, taking their own order of seniority of service in the list, regular navy regulations as to promotion applying to the entire list.

In peace time the fleet reserve would be required to give 15 days' training service annually, receiving regular pay for that period. Those on 15-day duty for training would receive the navy flying pay scale.

Fleet reserve officers above the rank of lieutenant commander would receive $600 a year exclusive of training or active service pay.

Lieutenant commanders and officers below that rank of the fleet reserve would be discharged into the volunteer reserve when 60 years of age, while commanders would go to the volunteer reserve at 55 years and captains at 60 years.

Officers and men of the merchant marine reserve, not on active duty with the navy, would receive a month's base pay a year for performance of appropriate duties and would be transferred to the volunteer reserve or discharged within a year after they ceased to follow the sea. Officers would be eligible to honorific retirement without pay at 25 years of age.

The reserve pension could be drawn by ships of 2500 tons or up designated as suitable for naval auxiliary service in war and when the master and 25 per cent. of the ship's officers and 10 per cent. of the crew were reservists.

about 30 cents a week. This man is without work and has no prospects of securing employment unless the Hamilton mills reopen and give him a chance to recuperate his resources.

In Blakemore avenue is a widow who is in destitute circumstances, thrown out of work by the closing of the mills, and who has a boy just recovering from infantile paralysis. It is a case that demands immediate attention and the textile relief workers have done what they could to give prompt aid for the time being and relieve to some extent the serious affliction that follows "no work and no savings."

In Newhall street comes word of a widow with three children to support and no funds at hand to relieve the situation. The tenement rental here is $1.50 a week. One of the children is sick, and there is a medical bill of several dollars yet to pay. Numerous other cases of widows with families to support are recorded at relief headquarters. One case is at hand of a increased house rent placed not long ago on a rental of $3.50, bringing the present figure to $4 with no reduction because the man has lost employment. The case is in Fayette street.

In Auburn street a woman who formerly earned $21 weekly is out of work and practically without funds. Fuel supplies are scarce here and the pantry contains but little food for future needs.

The workers in some local mills have not fared very well in the past two years, textile officials say. In the case of the Hamilton mills, from Jan. 3 to May 1, 1921, there was employment only three days a week. From May 1 to the month of July 1921, full time was earned. Then came a period of about seven weeks when three-day time schedules were again in force. The rest of the year work was on full time. The shut down of the Hamilton mills came on Feb. 12.

BOSTON, March 2.—Patrick W. Anderson opened up a new legal point that may apply in several other similar cases now pending in that court.

Horan's counsel, John P. Leahy, offered an amendment to Horan's original answer to plaintiffs' charge, the essential portion of which is in this paragraph:

"Defendant says that Charles Ponzi was adjudicated a bankrupt on October 25, 1920, and the plaintiffs were appointed as trustees of his estate; that creditors of said were allowed one year after said date within which to prove their claims; that said period of one year has now expired, and if the petition of the plaintiffs is now allowed, the defendant cannot prove a claim against said bankrupt estate; that the effect of a decision in favor of the plaintiffs would be to leave the defendant without redress and without legal right to participate in the distribution of the bankrupt assets; that such a result would be contrary to the equity and good conscience and to the

OF SCHOOL FIRE

NEW YORK, March 2.—Twelve-year-old Abel Shubert "didn't want to see his school burn down," so when a little girl schoolmate in the Bronx screamed "Fire" between classes yesterday afternoon, young Abel dashed to the rescue.

As a result, the school didn't burn down, though some of Abel's hair was singed and his face was blistered in fighting the flames.

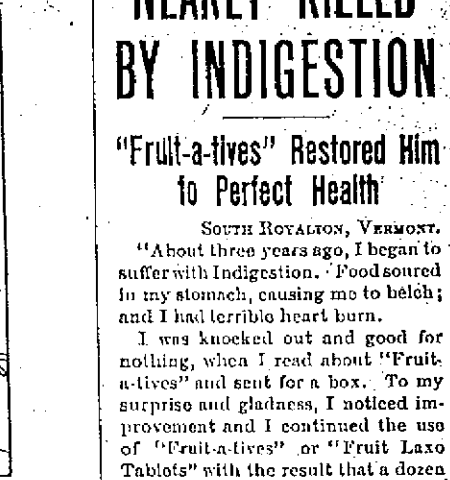

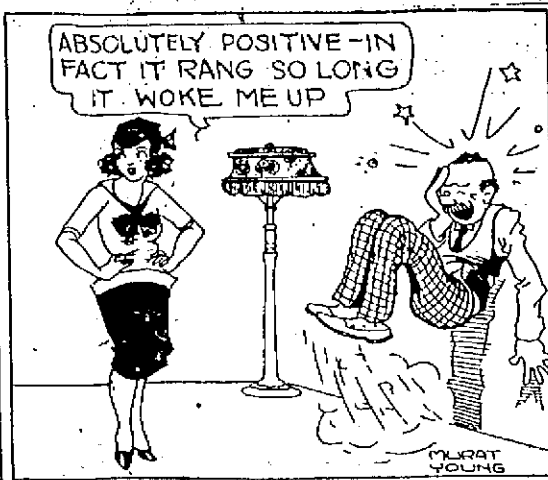

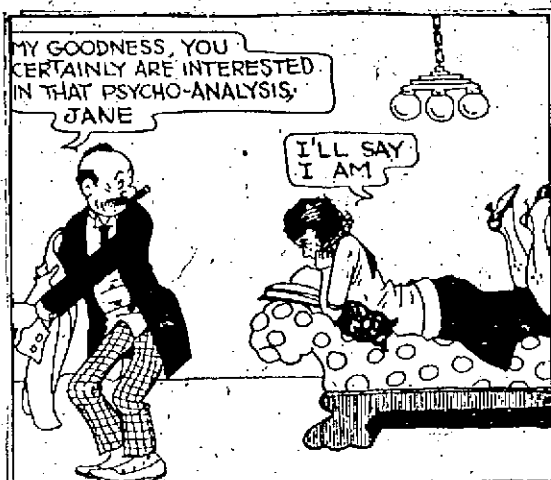

Abel was walking down a hallway when he heard the cry of fire. Dropping his armful of books, he ran back to room 23, where a score of children were huddled in fright at the door from which blue smoke was pouring. He darted into the room, flung open a closet door behind which the blaze had smouldered, and began beating the mounting flames. Janitors and teachers, coming on the run found him hard at it. The fire was quickly put out with chemical sprinklers, while 2100 pupils formed in the halls and marched out of the building in their best "showing off" fire drill order.

Afterwards, as Abel's hurts were being dressed in the principal's office, he explained that he wasn't one of the kids who would "like to see the old school burn down," as a relief from the daily vexations of getting an education.

HIGH PRAISE FOR AMERICAN ARCHITECTS

PARIS, March 2.—The praises of American architects, whose work he describes as a "new art in the truest sense of the word," are sung by Geo. Wybo, a young French architect, in the columns of the Intransigent.

The old skyscrapers of New York, he says, "are not always the happiest examples of architectural conception," but the newer office buildings erected within the last ten or 15 years are described as "impeccable in execution, well proportioned, possessing harmonious lines, with decorative elements of sober taste, constructed of splendid materials finely fashioned."

The slight of these buildings causes the Frenchman to recognize the existence of a new art "in the truest sense of the word, an art capable of making us feel strong emotions similar to those awakened within us by the power and splendor of our cathedrals and certain monuments of the past in Europe."

Referring to the "tremendous temples of commerce," M. Wybo says, "all these buildings are different from one another, but each in its own style, in its construction, form and architectural lines is undeniably a masterpiece. It is regrettable that we French, so ready to welcome decadent art, do not even know the names of the decorators, sculptors and architects of modern New York. All these artists, working with intelligence and method, have progressively freed themselves from worn-out conventions and, discarding simple elements of decoration, have succeeded rapidly in laying down the rules of an art of which we are seeing now only the early manifestations and which, to our honor, is a direct emanation of our own French styles."

ADMITS HE WAS ONE OF ALCOHOL BANDITS

BOSTON, March 2.—Joseph J. Murphy, 35, of 18 Mattapan street, Mattapan, confessed to the state police yesterday that he was one of the three daylight bandits who drove up to the warehouse of the Suffolk Exporting company at 123 Sydney street, Cambridge, one afternoon two months ago and, after knocking the watchman senseless with the butt of a revolver, took away in an automobile truck 15 barrels of grain alcohol valued at $15,000.

As a result of the confession the Cambridge and state police took into custody and held under $10,000 bonds Daniel F. Duris, 35, who said he was a manufacturer, but whom the directory lists as a clerk, as being another of the bandits.

The third is still at large and the police are searching for him. Murphy was battled in Cambridge late in the evening, but Duris was obliged to stay overnight at Station 2, that city. Both will be arraigned in the East Cambridge court today.

The bandits' act was one of the most daring since prohibition became a law of the land. The three drove to the warehouse on a snowy day and knocked on the door. The watchman answered and the visitors asked to see the manager. He was not at the warehouse, the watchman told them. Some further conversation ensued and the watchman turned away from the door. As he did so one of the men struck him on the head with the butt of a revolver. The watchman fell senseless. The men tied him up and placed a piece of adhesive tape over his mouth. Then they loaded the alcohol onto a truck and drove off.

The watchman managed to work the plaster off his mouth some hours later and untie himself with his teeth. He then called the police. The police traced the truck's progress in the snow from the warehouse across Cottage Farm bridge and lost the tracks in the traffic of Commonwealth avenue.

HONOR LAST SON OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION

PITTSFIELD, March 2.—Dr. Crosby A. Perry, believed to be the only living son of the American Revolution, was elected a life member of Berkshire Chapter, S.A.R., yesterday in honor of his 85th birthday. A. J. Wilh, ex-off of North Adams, president of the order, Judge Edward T. Slodkin and Joseph B. Pearson of this city called at the home yesterday afternoon and made him the present of life membership with dues paid.

Last evening at a family dinner at which a big cake adorned with 54 candles was the center piece, made by Miss Grace A. Perry, his only daughter, ter, there were present Dr. Perry's eldest youngest son, Carl S. Perry of Readsboro, Vt., the old home of the family, and Edward A. Perry of Amory street, Springfield, and also one of his five grandchildren, Crosby Perry, a namesake of his grandfather, of this city.

Dr. Perry received many friends at the house at 149 Egrement avenue yesterday and an armful of mail from all over the country, among the letters being one from William Kimberly, father of the late Dr. Perry, who recalled teaching a Sunday school class at the Five Points mission in New York city where Dr. Perry first saw and heard Abraham Lincoln. Dr. Perry was in splendid health and spirits yesterday and enjoyed every moment of his birthday.

READY FOR COAL STRIKE

Miners Quit Work on
April 1

CHICAGO, Mar. 2.—(By The Associated Press)—There will be no immediate suffering if coal operators and miners fail to reach an agreement and a strike is called April 1 by the United Mine Workers of America, according to figures compiled by the United States Geological Survey and Bureau of Census.

The survey, as of January 1, 1922, showed 41 days' supply of bituminous coal on hand. Production has slightly exceeded consumption since January 1, according to operators' figures, and they indicate the country will have something more than a forty day supply by April 1.

The government figures show the distribution to the principal industries and dealers. Artificial gas plants had the biggest supply of all, January 1, with enough fuel on hand to carry them running 30 days. Retail dealers were at the foot of the list with a 23 day supply. The other principal coal users were supplied as follows:

By-product coke plants 42 days
Steel plants 48 days
Other industrial 51 days
Electricity 51 days
Railroads 35 days

The government report estimated the total available supply at 47,500,000 tons. No figures are available on the available supply of anthracite, but the government report says it increased after Nov. 1, 1921, when it stood at 1,773,000 tons of domestic sizes and 2,719,000 tons of steam sizes.

While the soft coal held by retail dealers January 1 was figured at 33 days' supply, the figures were based on the rate of consumption at the time the stock was taken. In the middle of winter, when attention is directed to the strike, it is called it will come at the opening of the spring and summer seasons, when dealers' sales for domestic consumption are practically negligible, and hence the supply could be spread over a much longer period.

That in the last coal strike, in 1913, 23 1/2 per cent of the country's mines, representing the non-union fields, continued production. Under normal conditions the non-union fields can produce from 3,500,000 to 4,000,000 tons a week, operating at maximum capacity, operators say, and this supply also would be available in event the union fields strike.

DIPLOMATIC VICTORY FOR THE UKRAINE

MOSCOW, March 2.—The Ukraine has scored a diplomatic victory over the Russian soviet government which made it necessary for the American relief administration to sign a separate agreement with the Ukraine before it could legally open food draft warehouses and general relief work in that southern republic.

American workers were distributing food packages at Kiev, Odessa and Kharkov for some time without any agreement other than that entered into with the Moscow government.

The Ukraine insisted that it was an independent republic, fully competent to conduct relations with foreign powers and entitled to be dealt with as an autonomous nation wholly free from Moscow control. President Bakovsky, of Ukraine, recently conferred in Moscow with American relief administration officials and made his position clear.

The Ukraine wanted food packages and relief from America but it wanted to sign agreements with the Americans just as the Moscow government did. Furthermore it wants to negotiate with Americans for a loan to relieve its economic distress.

As the American relief administration is in no sense a diplomatic or official organization, its signature of a separate agreement with the Ukraine was not regarded as an official recognition of the Ukrainian government, although there seems to be a general impression in Russia that the American relief organization is the forerunner of diplomatic relations.

The Ukraine seems to be the soviet federated republic of Russia what Bavaria is to the German republic and there is the same delicacy in Moscow about handling the Ukraine that Berlin shows in dealing with the Munich government. Ukraine is the gem of the German federation. The Ukraine has two very flirtatious neighbors in Poland and Rumania. It also has valuable assets in Odessa, Nikolai and other free ports.

All in all Moscow is facing many of the interesting problems in federation which the United States confronted after it cut loose from England and found it necessary to harmonize the interests of its varied states.

WETS AND DRY IN HOT DON'T BE SWINDLED!

'CONFLICT IN POLAND'

WARSAW, March 2.—The "wets" and "drys" are having a hot conflict over proposals to restrict the use of intoxicants in Poland. The movement for more rigid control over the use of liquor is becoming more active. Newspapers are full of discussions of the question and there are numerous lectures on alcoholism while moving pictures are shown to promote the reform movement.

The example of America is continuously cited with heated arguments as to whether prohibition is effective in that country.

The "drys" advocate a regulation cutting down the number of places where liquor is sold by restricting them to one for every 2,500 of population. Another proposal would abolish all places where liquor alone is sold but grant permits to cafes and restaurants.

A steady dry movement has been going on for some time in the national parliament and the debates there have lately been made more heated by enforcement of an ordinance establishing a dry Sunday in Warsaw. It forbids the sale of liquors from Saturday noon to Monday noon and is being enforced by the Warsaw police with an iron hand, despite the protests of cafe and restaurant proprietors.

One of the active figures in the campaign is General Joseph Haller, president of the Polish Red Cross and Polish Boy Scouts, who organized and commanded the famous Haller army in which thousands of American volunteers of Polish blood fought in 1917 and 1918.

General Haller is now leading a fight against raising the percentage of alcohol in beer. This is now fixed at two and one-half per cent. The brewers have consented to this restriction.

Poland has just put a tax of 20 per cent on all retail liquor stocks. Polish law makes a liquor dealer assume the responsibility for drunkenness by providing that when an intoxicated person is arrested, the proprietor of the place in which he purchased his intoxicants must go along with him to jail.

Following Article by Economist Contains Both Warning and Advice

(By N. E. A. Service)

NEW YORK, March 2.—"How can I safely invest my savings?"

This question is being asked by hundreds of thousands who see the nation entering a new era of "frenzied finance"—and are dazed by failures of brokerage firms, investigation of bucket shops by the district attorney of New York and other cities, the revelation of another "Ponzi" in Chicago, and the expose of Florida wire tapping clean-ups and other get-rich-quick "sucker" schemes.

Thirty-one firms of stock brokers have failed in Wall Street alone during the last three months with total losses approximating $25,000,000.

To help the small investor steer safely through the financial fog N. E. A. Service asked Dr. B. M. Anderson, economist of the Chase National Bank of New York, to write "The A. B. C. of Investment," an article containing both warning and advice.

By B. M. ANDERSON, Jr., Ph. D. Economist, Chase National Bank, N. Y.

The small investor who tries to make 15 per cent on his money is not an investor. He is a speculator. The agent who solicits the funds of small investors promising them a return of 10, 15 or 20 per cent, or more on a "sure" investment is, consciously or unconsciously, misrepresenting facts. Sure investments paying 10 per cent, or more are exceedingly unusual and, when genuine, are almost never offered to the general public.

It is often well worth while for the man who can afford to lose money to take chances on speculative new promotions. Industrial progress comes as new enterprises are started. But even the best-planned new enterprises do not always make good, and the small investor who cannot afford to lose his money should not be called upon to take these chances.

Moreover, a very high proportion of the securities promising great returns which are offered to the small investor by solicitors are issued by untrained and over-optimistic men, while a very substantial number of them are outright frauds.

Plenty of Opportunities

The small investor need not lose his money. He has plenty of opportunities which combine virtually absolute safety with substantial income. The bonds of the United States government and the bonds of virtually all our states and better municipalities may be bought, of course, without hesitation. United States government bonds can be bought in denominations as small as $50 each.

There are, of course, savings banks almost everywhere, well regulated and dependable. There are local savings and loan, or building and loan, associations whose management and trustworthiness the small investor can investigate for himself.

In most communities, and particularly in the small communities, the small investor has opportunities to buy real estate mortgages where he can personally inspect the properties mortgaged, can personally inspect the title to the land (or have it investigated at the borrower's expense by competent experts), can personally see to it that insurance premiums and taxes on the property are paid, and that proper repairs are made.

Railroad Bonds

There are, moreover, a very large number of railroad bonds and industrial bonds which bring a greater return than do the bonds of the United States government, with practically absolute safety. In choosing these the small investor should consult his local banker.

To a very large degree the bankers of the United States have come to realize that they have a public duty in the matter of advising small investors. The working woman with a few hundred dollars to invest may today come to the bond department of a great city bank with confidence that she will receive a courteous reception and painstaking, conscientious advice.

Investor's Desires

As a general rule the investor wishes three things—(1) absolute safety, (2) as high a yield as possible, and, (3) a marketable investment, that is, one which he can quickly turn into cash if he needs it.

These three things do not usually go together. A bond which is absolutely safe and instantly marketable

SUCCEEDS WHERE DOCTORS FAIL

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Often Does That.—Read Mrs. Miner's Testimony

Churubusco, N. Y.—"I was under the doctor's care for over five years for backache and had no relief from his medicine. One day a neighbor told me about your Vegetable Compound and I took it. It helped me so much that I wish to advise all women to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for female troubles and backache. It is a great help in carrying a child, as I have noticed a difference when I didn't take it. I thank you for this medicine and if I ever come to this point again I do not want to be without the Vegetable Compound. I give you permission to publish this letter so that all women can take my advice."—Mrs. FRED MINER, Box 103, Churubusco, N. Y.

It's the same story over again. Women suffer from ailments for years. They try doctors and different medicines, but feel no better. Finally they take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and you can see its value in the case of Mrs. Miner.

That's the truth of the matter. If you are suffering from any of the troubles women have, you ought to try this medicine. It can be taken in safety by young or old, as it contains no harmful drugs.

will not yield anything like so much as a stock with a narrow market and with uncertain future earnings.

A real estate mortgage will yield a higher return than a highly marketable bond because no matter how safe, it is not likely that the holder of the mortgage can quickly turn it into cash in an emergency. Sometimes he cannot sell it, and sometimes he cannot. In many cases conditions are such that he must expect to hold it to maturity.

The small investor who does not need to convert his principal into cash in a hurry may safely aim at a higher yield than the small investor who feels he may need his principal back on short notice.

Blankets will stay soft and fleecy washed this way, says famous woolen manufacturer

Lever Bros. Co., Cambridge, Mass.

Gentlemen:

We picked out several of our finest blankets and had them washed in Lux. Each blanket was given the number of launderings it would normally receive.

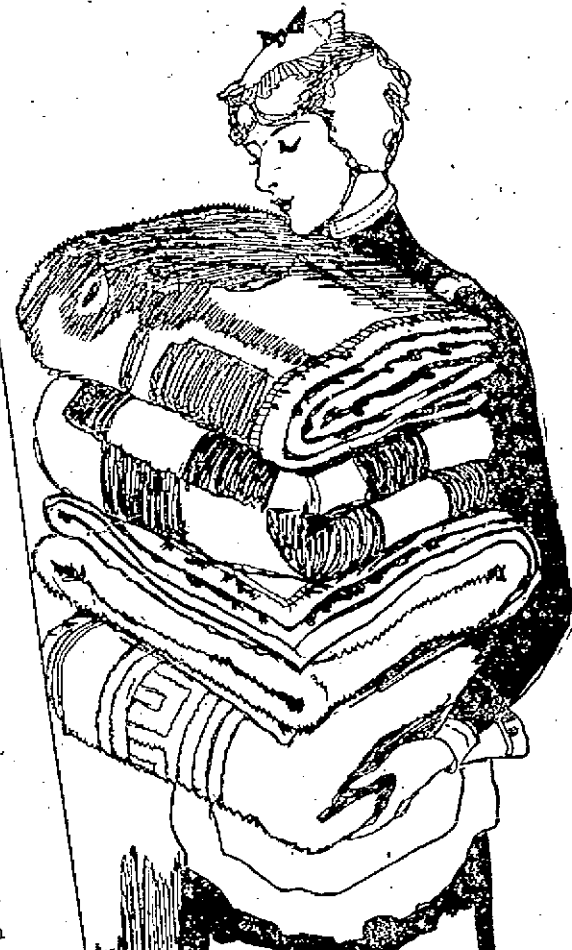

The blankets were still soft and fleecy at the end of the washings. They showed no signs of yellowing or spotting and the colored stripes and fancy borders did not run.

There was a complete absence of the little balls of matted wool that make a blanket lumpy in texture. Washing with a strong soap will mat woollens in this way.

We attribute the satisfactory results we obtained with Lux only in part to the fact that its flake form does away with rubbing. Even more important to our minds is its absolute purity and mildness. It will cleanse the finest woolen with entire safety.

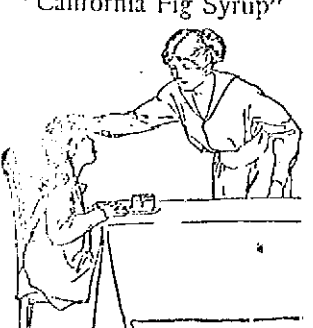

Very truly yours,

It is the most efficient antacid known—the certainty, and ease with which it overcomes stomach and digestive disorders is a revelation to those who try it.—Adv.

RUFFLES AND BIG HATS

BY MARIAN HALE.

NEW YORK, March 2.—Ruffles and big hats! What could be more delightfully summer-like? Claire gives us a very clever combination of the two in this frock of white silk crepe and the large straw hat thickly clustered with colorful fruits and flowers. The frock is an exceedingly girlish thing with a white full skirt and then new and very popular tight bodice. Ruffles finish the neck and sleeves as well as border the skirt. Nestled in the ruffles of the skirt one finds a new and really lovely touch; small bunches of brightly colored flowers. At the left side of the waistline one finds another cluster of flowers, a charming accent, for it is quite true that small waists are being accented this season!

The hat, like so many of the smartest hats shown for mid-summer wear, is of lavender straw, soft and pliable. It droops slightly and is heavily ornamented with flowers, fruits and foliage of pastel tints. An abundance of trimming, very colorful trimming, is being used on all of the newer hats intended for summer wear. Grasses dotted with yellow flowers are often used effectively on large black hats fashioned of fine braids.

ANNUAL REPORT

Growth of American Telephone Co. in 1921 Reviewed

President H. B. Thayer's annual report of the past year's work of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. and the situation at the present time as affecting the future, has just been issued. The report covering the year ending December 31.

The twelve months of 1921 was a year of real progress, the telephone president reports. Stock issues added materially to the strength of the company's financial structure. New applications for service were in most cases attended to with promptness and dispatch. The quality of both exchange and toll service steadily improved; the efficiency of the whole operating force increased and is increasing, the president also declares.

The report indicates that the value of the property of the Bell system companies is much in excess of the book figures and that the 5 per cent. earned last year on the book cost of their plant enabled the corporation to show 11.1 per cent. earnings on its outstanding capital stock. The policy of the Bell System to cooperate with and aid regulatory bodies is reaffirmed in the report on the premise that the real interests of the company and its patrons are identical and that regulation by commission is of advantage to both. The report shows that the Bell system, after meeting all operating expenses and making adequate provision for depreciation and obsolescence, and for federal and other taxes, had available for interest and dividends $73,520,300.51.

STATE SENATE PASSES INSURANCE BILL

BOSTON, March 2.—The state senate yesterday passed to be engrossed a bill to enlarge the field of securities in which insurance companies may invest their money. An amendment to permit Massachusetts companies to invest in the securities of foreign concerns was rejected by a roll-call vote of 18 to 16. By a standing vote of 13 to 3 the senate rejected another proposed amendment providing that the insurance companies must not invest in the bonds of any subsidiary company of the American Telephone and Telegraph company, unless both the principal and interest of the bonds are guaranteed by the parent company.

Senator Parkhurst of Winchester sought to have the bill referred to the next annual session, so that the matter might be investigated by a special committee appointed by the governor. That motion was defeated by a standing vote of 17 to 10.

The senate postponed until next Tuesday consideration of the adverse committee report on the petition for an investigation of the rates and charges of the New England Telephone and Telegraph company. The house has already accepted the adverse report.

The bill to prohibit the use of scented ball in traps and snares was ordered to a third reading.

An opinion was received from Atty. Gen. J. Weston Allen on the bill to provide for the retail sale of ice by tickler. The attorney general had been asked to pass on the constitutionality of the proposed measure. He stated in his communication that with certain changes the bill would be constitutional. He recommended that provision be made so that the ice may be sold either on payment of money or for tickets.

The senate elected William H. Sanger clerk to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Henry D. Coolidge. Mr. Sanger has been assistant clerk for 34 years. Thirty-three votes were cast for which number Mr. Sanger received 32 and Senator Alvin E. Bliss of Malden 1. Mr. Sanger thereupon announced the appointment of Irving H. Hayden of Quincy to be assistant clerk for the remainder of the session. Mr. Hayden has been clerical assistant in the clerk's office for several years. Philip E. Oliver will succeed Mr. Hayden as clerical assistant.

Increases the action of the intestines

Hundreds of men and women have already found freedom from laxatives by eating Fleischmann's fresh yeast.

Doctors are now agreed that proper elimination of waste matter should be brought about by food. One doctor comes right out and states plainly that the indigestion of cathartics is one of the causes of constipation.

Physicians all over the country are recommending Fleischmann's fresh yeast because it is a fresh food, rich in those elements which keep the intestines healthy. In one series of tested cases, normal functions were restored in from 3 days to 5 weeks.

Try it out for yourself. Begin today by adding 2 or 3 cakes of Fleischmann's Yeast to your everyday diet. Keep it up and see how normally and regularly your intestines act. Be sure it's Fleischmann's Yeast—the familiar tin-foil package with the yellow label. Place a standing order with your grocer.

"It Pays to Trade At Harrison's"

166 CENTRAL STREET

"Formerly the Old Putnam Store"

Cole's Inn Ready to Cater to Needs of Lowell Men and Women

With a large dining-room, seating 80 persons comfortably, a splendid cuisine equipped with the very latest devices for preparing food, a cafeteria of ample proportions where food will be served according to the self-service style—placed on the counter directly from its own kitchen—an up-to-date candy and soda shop, and 43 bed chambers neatly and attractively furnished, Cole's Inn was opened for public inspection at noon today.

Beginning with the cafeteria in the basement and traveling by easy stages to the upper story, the entire hostelry manifests great zeal in the direction of offering every comfort, the best of service and, above all, the establishment's motto, "Quality," to its guests. Everything is in perfect shape, without the slightest indication of ostentation.

The cafeteria is an ideal place for those who wish to secure lunches in short order and at the same time enjoy most of the advantages of the regular restaurant. Among the room's furnishings are 25 black carrara top tables, at which four persons may sit, and a long semi-circular counter where, beginning at the right, the diner, securing a tray, may pass along to the left, taking whatever food appeals to him, paying the cashier at the extreme left for the various articles of food he has chosen.

On the street floor is the little candy and soda shop which has been in operation for some time, where candy of every description, made on the premises, and sodas and drinks of all kinds, with sea cream of home manufacture, may be purchased.

On the second floor are the office and dining-room, with lavatories at either end of the office and a large, splendidly equipped kitchen in the rear of the dining-room. Tables covered with snowy-white linen are attractively arranged in the dining-room, and 80 persons may dine at one time without crowding. A corps of experienced waitresses has been secured and will be at the service of patrons at all times. Tableware and silver are of beautiful design, and, together with the immaculate whiteness of the table covers, make the dining-room a delightful place in which to satisfy the appetite.

On the third, fourth and fifth floors are the sleeping-rooms, all of them equipped with beds, chiffoniers and chair of wickerwork finish. Silk floor mattresses have been placed on all the beds, and the coverings and pillow cases are of the same fine quality.

Frederick F. McJoy was the general contractor.

The excellent painting throughout the inn is the work of Dwyer & Co. The ceilings were installed by the Lowell Metal Ceiling Co., the electrical work by Harry F. Harding, the plumbing by Quigley & Harrington, and the refrigerating plant was installed by Coffey & Halloran.

The two large kitchens present an attractive spectacle. The main kitchen, in the rear of the dining-room, is equipped with everything that may be secured to lend efficiency and uniformity to the preparation of food, and the cafeteria kitchen in the basement is similarly equipped. In both places are patent steam heaters, for vegetables and other foods, and automatic washing machines for the tableware. In the rear of the basement is a large ice box, about ten feet high and the same dimensions in width and depth.

At one side of the basement kitchen is the large boiler room, which, besides supplying heat to the entire building, furnishes hot water to all

lishment will be of the highest and that the motto of the proprietors is to be not only service but "Quality." The new inn is under control of a corporation, of which John W. Cole is president, D. W. McKensie, a wholesale grocer, treasurer, and C. H. White, proprietor of the Lowell Public Market, assistant treasurer. It is fireproof throughout, or as nearly so as it has been possible to make it. The corporation is now working on the construction of a new candy factory on Church street, for the present accommodations are far too small.

At the opening, which took place at noon today, music was furnished by a string orchestra, and 1000 will be supplied by the orchestra this evening as well.

TO ERECT MONUMENTS TO AMERICANS IN EUROPE

WASHINGTON, March 2.—Erection of nine monuments in Europe to mark places of special interest and historical importance in the service of the American Expeditionary Forces is contemplated in the memorial plans of the war department for which President Harding has recommended legislation by congress, in addition to the more than 100 war monuments proposed.

These monuments of artistic design would mark the following places: "The spot where the first American soldier was killed in Europe; where the first American soldier was wounded at the front; area of German raid on First division, Nov. 2, 1917, during which first American soldier was killed in action and first American soldier was captured; first sector held by an American division acting as a unit; where 11th engineers fought at Cambrai; sector held by Sixth engineers March 21, 1918, during German offensive; important actions of the 388th, 770th, 371st and 372nd American regiments while serving with the French; point near Casarza, Italy, where 332nd In-

MINIATURE TANNERY

Forerunner of Science to Teach Proper Preparation of Leathers in U. S.

NEW YORK, March 2.—Although reputed to be the smallest tannery in the world, occupying a space no larger than the top of a large library table, Columbia university's tanning room is the probable forerunner of a science to teach the proper preparation of leathers in this country.

Prof. Arthur W. Thomas, who is in charge, said today the miniature tannery was planned to bring to the front the importance of scientific research in the matter of leather dressing. American tanners, he said, are far behind other industries in the matter of scientific knowledge in their own field. Arthur H. Gallun, a wealthy trader of Milwaukee, who died last year left the fund with which the Columbia tannery was founded.

Miniature machinery, complete in every detail, is operated in the diminutive laboratory, and hides are worked over in their powdered form. All phases of the tanning industry, particularly in relation to the manufacture of shoes, are being investigated.

GRIFFITH IN CONTROL

Sessions of Dail Eireann
Strengthen Position of Provisional Government

DUBLIN, March 2 (By the Associated Press)—Numerous clashes occurred again in the Dail Eireann yesterday, the feeling running high.

Mr. De Valera continued to press for recognition of the Dail's supremacy, but the minister of the provisional government held firmly that they were supreme, and responsible only to the Irish people.

Divisions continue to show there is no doubt that Griffith is in control. Observers expressed the opinion last night that the net result of the two days' debate has been to strengthen the hands of the provisional government and increase public confidence in their ability to handle the situation.

Health is Vital!

Albany, N. Y.—"I have been wonderfully helped by taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Luring expectancy my health was very bad. I became so weak and all run-down that I could not get around to do anything. Just had to be around all the time. I decided to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and by the time I had taken about one bottle I was able to be around and do my work. I got along fine after that, never having any more trouble. I had practically no suffering and my child was very healthy. Always since that experience, whenever I feel the least bit run-down or in need of a tonic I take a bottle of Favorite Prescription and it makes me feel fine."

In the course of a long debate on the election machinery, Mr. Griffith maintained his determination to hold the elections as planned, three months hence and on the old register.

The members of the provisional government displayed intense impatience at the tedious debates, which they call an appalling waste of time. They have much work to do in connection with getting the Free State established and are eager to get on with it.

Mr. Collins, on adjournment, bitterly reproached his opponents for failing to submit a single constructive idea. The finance minister's words of exhortation were his associates. He works daily until 2 or 3 o'clock in the morning, getting only four or five hours' sleep. The nature of the work of the provisional ministers, Mr. Collins informed the Associated Press correspondent, was so complicated and delicate that it could not be delegated to subordinates.

Mr. Griffith offered a resolution, which was seconded by Mr. De Valera, authorizing the Dail funds to be kept as an account in the names of three trustees. Mr. Collins explained that in war conditions the money had been lodged for safety in various names in order to avoid seizure, but that now on account of the treaty, the money could be regularly lodged in the names of trustees. The resolution was adopted unanimously.

Makes Appeal

BOSTON, March 2—Charles Ainsleigh, said to be the only American wounded by the Germans in American waters during the World war, for weeks has sought employment and today appealed for a chance to work to support his family. Ainsleigh was captain of the coal barge Lansford, sunk off Cape Cod by a German submarine on July 1, 1918. He is father of "Jack" Ainsleigh, 10 year old hero, who waved the American flag from the tug in defiance of the Germans. For a year Captain Ainsleigh was treated in hospitals. Then he got a job in the Victory Shipbuilding plant at Quincy, but since that closed he has worked

STATE CONSTABULARY HAS FIRST PRISONER

The new state constabulary brought first case into district court yesterday afternoon. The defendant was a Chelmsford man, Walter W. Edwards, arrested in West Chelmsford yesterday for operating an automobile without the required 1922 registration. The prisoner pleaded guilty and paid a fine of $5, as ordered by Judge Earlight. The arresting officers were Sergeant R. E. Kimball and Patrolman Richard H. Mooney, Jr., both of whom are stationed in Framingham with Troop A.

SURVEY OF CITY NEARLY COMPLETE

The tuberculosis survey started some time ago by the local and state health departments practically has been completed and, according to reports, more than 200 positive cases of the disease have been located in the city, while 250 people who have been in contact with persons suffering from the disease, have been examined. Those who were found to have any lung disease were advised to have an examination made by their family physician, and to follow his directions, and in cases where financial conditions made such an examination impossible the patients were urged to submit to an examination at the city dispensary, where a tuberculosis clinic is being held every Tuesday from 4 to 6 and every Thursday from 4 to 7.

TALKED ON ANCIENT AND CHURCH MUSIC

John A. O'Shea, supervisor of music in the Boston public schools, was the lecturer last evening at the third session of the class in music appreciation which is being conducted in high school hall by the state division of university extension under the auspices of the League of Catholic Women. He prefaced his lecture with an appeal for a larger membership, commenting on the fact that Lawrence people seemed more appreciative of the course than people of this city. Although it was the intention of those in charge to take no further enrollments after last night, he said that one more week would be allowed members of the class to canvass for more pupils, and next Wednesday will be the last chance to enroll for the course.

Last night Mr. O'Shea lectured on "Ancient and Church Music," a topic which proved of decided interest. Enrollments were taken by Mrs. J. J. Sullivan, chairman of the league's educational committee, and she will be prepared to receive others during the coming week.

Mr. Scheid Could Not Stay In Bed

Almost Choked From Catarrhal Cough. Cerizane Brought Relief

"I can recommend Cerizane for any sort of a cough." So said Mr. Herman Scheid, a skilled pattern weaver, who has been a resident of Clinton, Mass., for thirty-five years. He then went on to say: "I have had catarrh for the last fifteen years and off and on during the winter would have a very hard cough. The dripping of mucus almost choked me and I had to get out of bed to breathe. But the first bottle of Cerizane brought great relief, and by taking a little occasionally, I am kept free from catarrh and coughs."

Cerizane Cough Balsam is one of the famous "Wineol" line of medicines. It is absolutely free from narcotics, chloroform or any harmful drug. Cerizane has been helping people for ninety-five years and it has never hurt any one.

Reliable druggists generally sell Cerizane.

(Special to The Sun.)

BOSTON, March 2.—A bill to give disabled war veterans an absolute preference in all civil service appointments is to be reported favorably by the legislative committee on public service within a few days, a vote to that effect having been taken yesterday.

This year there were presented for the consideration of the committee a list of bills designed to give all veterans a preference, but after careful consideration, the committee has decided to limit its legislation to those who are disabled.

It will provide that, in order to obtain the preference, the veteran must file the certificate of a physician stating that he is actually disabled, and that his disability is such as not to prevent a proper discharge of the duties of the position he seeks, and he must also furnish satisfactory proof that his condition of disability is due to wounds received while in the country's service.

On motion of Rep. Andrew P. Dwyer of New Bedford, the house yesterday postponed until next Tuesday further consideration of the bill permitting cities and towns to license establishments in which soft drinks are to be sold. This bill was the subject last Monday of the first real debate of the present session in the lower branch.

Without debate, the house accepted a report of "leave to withdraw" on a petition asking that the state department of education be directed to make provision for the compulsory making of religious education compulsory in the public schools.

tain's war-time food controller, who died in 1918 from illness brought on by overwork.

Lord Donoughmore presided over the committee, composed of Louis Desart, Haldane, Chalmers, Hyton, Wrenbury, Phillimore and Askwith.

Lady Rhonda expressed her delight that the case had gone in her favor.

After Lady Rhonda's right to the present title was established by the committee, her counsel argued that the disqualification removal act had clearly applied to a case like the present, and that the disability existing in the past now being removed, Lady Rhonda was entitled to sit in the house of lords.

The attorney general on behalf of the crown, said he raised no objection to the petition which was therefore granted.

Agreement on Bonus Plan

titutes, would relieve the treasury of any large cash payment during the enormous refunding operations which must be carried out in the next two years, and would place no additional tax burden upon the public.

Many details of the proposed amendment to the bonus bill remain to be worked out, said Mr. Forney, and it probably would be a week before the plan was ready for submission to the entire republican membership of the committee. He declared that there would be provisions safeguarding the rights of the holders of the certificates and limiting the amount of interest which the banks could charge for the loans.

Governor Harding of the Federal Reserve board, was before the subcommittee today discussing the interest and giving suggestions. He suggested that the interest rate should not exceed a figure greater than two per cent above the rediscounting rate of the regional reserve banks.

Under another provision being considered the title to the certificates could not be disposed of by the service men. The loans could be made only by national or state banks and not by the Federal Reserve bank, Mr. Forney explained, to prevent the certificates falling into the hands of loan sharks.

If the loans advanced by the banks were not paid by the service men on October 1, 1923, the banks could make demand upon the treasury for the amount due by the service men, plus interest at what would be made the legal rate in the future.

It was explained that the $50 cash payment was retained in the bill because the men entitled to only this amount would prefer the cash to a 20 year certificate. It was estimated that the cost to the treasury in paying this amount would be around $16,000,000.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—Majority members of the house ways and means committee were hopeful today that a final solution of the "bonus" bonus program had been found in the proposed plan to substitute for the cash feature of the bill a provision for adjusted service certificates upon which former service men could immediately obtain funds from the banks. Formulation of the plan already had been undertaken today by the special subcommittee to which it was referred yesterday and it was understood it was planned to call in Secretary Mellon and possibly members of the Federal Reserve board for a discussion of the whole proposal.

Representative Longworth of Ohio, a member of the subcommittee to which the majority members assigned the task of working out the scheme after failing to agree on any method for financing the cash payments, said it probably would be a week or more before this could be complete and it appeared it would be at least a month before the committee would be ready to report any bill agreed upon to the house.

Without changing the vocational training, farm and home aid and land and settlement features of the Forney bill it is contemplated under the new plan, committee members said to issue adjusted service certificates which, by the addition of 40 per cent to the proposed adjusted service pay, plus interest on the total for 20 years at the rate of 4 1/2 per cent, compounded annually, would have a total face value of approximately $23 times the amount that would be received under the cash feature.

An amount equal to 50 per cent of the total of the adjusted service pay could be borrowed from a bank immediately on issuance of the certificates with provision that if the sum thus obtained plus interest was not repaid in three years, the bank could make demand on the federal treasury for the amount due, the government thus taking over and carrying the loan.

The hope that "the administration will not continue to procrastinate very much longer and will fulfill the promises made in the last national elections and pass the veterans' adjusted compensation bill without further delay" is expressed by Edwin S. Bettelheim, Jr., chairman of the national legislative committee of the veterans of foreign wars in a letter to President Harding, made public today.

2,000,000 Service Men Idle

Mr. Bettelheim wrote the president that he was just in receipt of a report showing that 12,000 of the 30,000 former service men in Cuyahoga county, Ohio, were applying for the adjusted compensation voted by the state of Ohio were unemployed.

"If this is indicative of the conditions existing throughout the country," the letter said, "it would mean that approximately two million of the ex-service men are out of employment. How many of these are in destitute circumstances, would be hard to tell, but the report shows that a good many were unable to pay their rents and were dependent upon odd jobs and the good favor of others.

"This example from one of the larger counties in your home state is typical of the condition of the former service men throughout the country."

Liquor officers last evening, also a patent container to carry liquor on the person, pleaded not guilty and the case continued until March 18. The liquor seized at this place is said to be of extreme high proof and the container gives forth an odor which tends to show that it has been used more than once.

The case of Louis Conomopoulos, who was arrested in connection with a raid at 8 Noble's court, was continued until March 18. Officers testified that the defendant was connected with the plant at 12 Cross street, where the officers found a still, 23 gallons of liquor and a large quantity of sugar and flavoring and coloring material, was continued until March 18.

James J. Droney, a former liquor dealer on lower Broadway, who has been the proprietor of a near beer saloon on the same premises since the advent of prohibition, was fined $150 for illegal keeping and on his appeal from the court's finding was placed under $300 bonds for appearance before the higher court. Officers testified that when raiding the place several weeks ago Droney was behind the bar and in an altered intoxicated condition.

They alleged that when they entered the place, Droney poured the contents of two large glasses into the drainer beneath the bar, but they succeeded in getting hold of two small glasses which smelled strongly of liquor. They found three bottles with a small amount of what they considered liquor in the bottom of each and poured the contents into one bottle. Upon analysis they admitted that the sample showed an alcoholic content of 5.2 per cent.

Judge Enright said that he had made a rule some time ago to the effect that men who had kept their saloons open after the dry law went into effect would receive both imprisonment and fine. In Cambridge, however, the imprisonment has been constantly abated, and in his opinion there is no sense in ordering imprisonment if he is not assisted by the superior court. He asked what Lieut. Palmer, who was in charge of the raid, wanted him to do, saying he would impose the regular penalty if the officer desired. Lieut. Palmer said that under the conditions he would be satisfied with a fine, and the judge acted accordingly.

Victor L. Mason, Hugh Muldoon and John Sarandakos were called upon to answer to a charge of conspiracy in connection with the alleged theft of a large number of cartons containing cigarettes from cars in the yards of the N.Y. N.H. and Hartford railroad. Mason and Muldoon were in the dock but Sarandakos, who failed to appear when the case was first called last week, was still absent. A further continuance was granted the two defendants until March 15, with bail reduced from $2000 to $1000 each, in order that they could secure their liberation in the meantime. A flock of witnesses were present on behalf of the railway and were ordered to appear on the 15th.

William P. Cogger was charged with an assault on Hubert Lafleur, the outcome of an automobile collision on Smith street. It developed that Cogger, driving his father's Patrick Cogger and Peter P. Kenney was approaching Westford street in a touring car when the collision and the alleged assault occurred. Lafleur was driving a truck in the opposite direction. Up to this point both sides agreed. The defendant's claim, backed by his passengers, was that he stopped his car when he realized that Lafleur could not turn out of the way in time to avoid a collision, but Lafleur attempted to pass, running into Cogger's fender. Lafleur, it was alleged, began calling Cogger impolite names.

The defendant and his witnesses told an entirely different story. Lafleur said that the Cogger car was in motion at the time of the collision and did not stop until after it had occurred. He told of trying to get out of the rut in which he was running, saying that the street was filled with mud and when the cars stopped after the collision he got out of the machine and went around to the front to look at the damage, bending over to see what had happened to his car and finding that one of the spokes in a wheel had been broken. He was conversing with the complainant at the time and suddenly received a blow which knocked him on his back. He felt that there was no use of offering resistance, as he was alone.

A Mr. Dixon, who lives on Smith street, told of coming out of his house some distance away and seeing Lafleur hit and knocked down. He was too far away to hear the conversation, but was surprised to see the blow, as any words spoken were uttered in so quiet a manner as to prevent him from hearing them. Harry Priestly said that he saw the collision, and saw the front wheels of the defendant's machine move into the snow at the side of the road. The rear end, however, did not follow. He heard no conversation but saw the assault, which he related exactly as Mr. Dixon had previously described it. He was only a short distance from the scene.

Judge Enright said that he was satisfied that the complainant was responsible for the assault, having used foul language, but he was compelled to find the defendant guilty since he had no right to strike a blow. The case was placed on file, and the defendant ordered to pay the costs.

SENATOR WALSH'S SPEECH

Of course it was hardly to be expected that the Courier-Citizen, that has devoted so much ridicule to Senator Walsh on account of his middle name, would allow him to deliver an address here on any subject without delivering a Philippic against his attitude on public questions however imprugnable.

In the first place, our neighbor alleges that in his address before the chamber of commerce, Senator Walsh "was heard at his characteristic best, both as to matter and manner" and then proceeds to criticize both in an effort to show that the senator is an "overrated man."

With all this we wholly disagree, as must everybody who heard the senator's speech and who is familiar with his usual style of oratory and especially with the power of eloquence he can wield in a prepared address.

The senator's address on Monday night was logical, patriotic and well delivered, although beyond question, he appeared at his worst both in matter and delivery and for the very best of reasons. He followed Mr. Herbert Adams Gibbons, a man of wonderful fluency and most intimate knowledge of affairs national and international, and of our policies, foreign and domestic. Most of them he discussed at such length that there seemed to be little left for the senator to say on any of these subjects. For this reason he had to face the difficulty of selecting some phases of our national policies that had not already been fully discussed by the preceding speaker. As a result his address was wholly extemporaneous and the fact that much of it was devoted to subjects touched by Mr. Gibbons, proved it to be such.

As to the matter of his speech, after complimenting the chamber of commerce as representing the live and progressive spirit of the community he drew a graphic picture of poverty-stricken and bankrupt Europe, and then another picture of America, presenting a striking contrast, calculated to cause Americans to have a higher appreciation of their own country and to realize more fully how vastly better off they are than any other nation on earth.

In the opinion of our neighbor apparently, this was poor stuff, yet it seemed to be very fully appreciated by the audience, if applause is any criterion, and the audience was certainly one far above the average intelligence. This was but a step to the climax of the address in which the senator declared his belief that the policy of minding our own business, under which this republic had prospered since the days of Washington, should not be abandoned for one that would plunge us into the madhouse of European politics and international jealousies.

In this connection he said that while he favored extending economic aid and financial subsidies to Europe, "the would never vote to approve a political alliance with any foreign power and never sign any compact that pledges the United States to send its youth to defend imperialism in France, in England or any other nation on earth."

To this the editor of the Courier-Citizen objects that the opposition to such alliances is as well established as an American tradition that it is almost regarded as a part of our constitution and that the senator's "impassioned oratory" is not needed to ward off a danger that does not really exist. Our neighbor is here taking too much for granted and is interpreting the facts in advancing such a claim.

For many years past, there has been an effort to form an alliance with England; and even Mr. Gibbons referred to the movement to have the English speaking nations rule the world. The League of Nations is but a recent example of such a danger; and now it is feared that the treaty for peace in the Pacific would lead us to defend the islands of Japan against attack.

It is against this very danger that Senator Brandegee, a staunch republican, submitted reservations to be appended as a condition of ratification of this treaty.

It is rather surprising that in dealing with the senator's speech, the Courier-Citizen devoted its attention to his stand against foreign alliances and overlooked his attack upon the local policy of the republican party. Thus the writer criticizes the senator on the matter of his speech and in so doing is palpably guilty of the fault it is fairly attributed to him: "to consistently, throw out a jewel of the deepest dye."

HITS AMERICAN VALUATION

E. C. Dunne, treasurer of the Amoskeag Manufacturing Co., of Manchester, N. H., where one of the most serious wars were in 21 years is now in progress, is emphatically opposed to certain measures looking to the relief of textile industries solely. At the same time, he desires better protection for American-made goods, but is unalterably opposed to the so-called "American valuation plan."

In a recent letter to the secretary of the National Textile Dry Goods association, Treasurer Dunne states that the American valuation plan is "unbusinesslike, un-American, and most important of all, dishonest, in that it deceives the public."

Mr. Dunne goes farther, and says: "Nearly a year has passed since the republican party came into power, and a tariff bill has failed as yet to be enacted. This delay is adding a heavy burden to business, already staggering under the strain of a most unusual period of adjustment."

"We need to be rid of embargoes and licensing clauses. The public demands that much; it will not sanction less and I fear for the party which refuses thus to grant it."

"My business is to produce goods, the most useful fabric in the WORLD, AND PLACE THEM IN THE HANDS OF THE CONSUMER AT THE LOWEST PRICES. WE ARE PASSING THROUGH THE SEVEREST PERIOD OF LIQUIDATION EVER KNOWN AND IT IS PART OF YOUR DUTY TO SEE TO IT THAT THESE PRODUCTS ARE SUPPLIED INTO THE HANDS OF THE PEOPLE WHO USE THEM, AT THE LOWEST POSSIBLE PRICES CONSISTENT WITH GOOD MERCHANDISING AND A REASONABLE PROFIT.

"Liquidation must be general and no one trade or vocation should be made to bear the whole burden if prosperity is to return to all of us. What is needed most now in business is volume, and, thereby, re-employment of every person desiring to work. This cannot be brought about unless each of us does his full share toward reducing margins and making prices which will enhance the purchasing power of the dollar and induce wide and full distribution of commodities."

There is much truth in what this mill man says in regard to the tariff and the responsibility of the republican party for delay and the haggling over new theories while the industries of the country suffer from delay. The American plan of valuation is so generally condemned that it should be dropped. It is the idea of Fordney, the new apostle of high protection. President Harding lacks the vision necessary to the prompt decision of such questions and hence congress continues to wrangle instead of following the counsel of a wise leader.

FOR TWENTY-YEAR TRUCE

Premier Lloyd George is out to secure a twenty-year truce against war to be binding on all the nations of Europe, including Germany and Russia.

It would be a great blessing to have even that comparatively brief period of peace maintained throughout the entire continent of Europe.

Anybody who looks over the history of Europe will find that very rarely have all the component nations enjoyed continuous peace for a period of twenty or even ten years. There is always some country in a belligerent mood. For a long time the Balkans kept up a sort of warfare. Turkey did her share to maintain the excitement, while England, Germany and Russia have had various colonial wars which, however, passed without much notice.

Under present conditions, Europe is more unsettled than at any time previous to the great war. Russia is a potential source of trouble, as much of the original empire is now held under military force. Trotsky and Lenin have many schemes on foot for the extension of the Bolshevik regime, which means that countries on the border are liable to be plundered as was Russia and then left helpless with no protection against starvation.

Unless these Soviet pirates get what they want from the other countries of Europe, they are liable to start border warfare, as it is only by keeping up some kind of machinery that they can maintain stable government under peaceful conditions. They depend upon plunder and when everybody is plundered and when everybody is plundered and has to look to the government for protection and support, then the hollowness of the pretensions of these socialist dictators is revealed.

The other elements menacing peace are the Germans and the Turks. France is in deadly fear that the Germans will come back at her after a few years; but these fears are based upon her terrible experience in the world war.

If the old Germany could not conquer France and her allies, there is no danger that the new Germany can ever accomplish it. Moreover, we believe the Germans, like other people have had all the war they want and that hereafter they will devote themselves to outliving the other nations in the arts of peace.

We do not believe that it will be possible to get a truce of twenty years unless an agreement be made among the powers to maintain the peace by force, if necessary, as provided for in the League of Nations. But whether the truce is practical or not, it will do no harm to try it and in this connection it will be a great victory for Lloyd George if he can secure any arrangement for such a truce. The suggestion of the ten-year holiday adopted by the armistice conference at Washington has undoubtedly influenced the British premier to seek a similar success from the horrors of war through mutual agreement. If it can be accomplished, it will serve a great purpose and may be the first step toward the goal of universal peace, the dream of Woodrow Wilson, the vain ambition of the League of Nations and the hope of the well meaning nations of the world.

EUROPEAN BONDS

Great interest centers in the foreign bond issue offered by the government of the Netherlands with half in the United States. The bonds are to run for 55 years at 6 per cent, a very unattractive offer to be sure, if the government behind the bonds continues to exist. It is expected that many alluring offers of this kind will be made by other governments of Europe, but the instability of many of them will deter Americans from putting money in such bonds.

It is expected, however, that vast sums of American capital will be drawn to Europe in long-time loans where the security offered is safe and reliable. This will help very materially in starting up the industries in the war ravaged nations.

Now that Princess Mary has secured her count, the world can again turn to the problem of finding enough to eat and a few dollars to wear, and try to save millions of people now threatened with starvation.

SEEN AND HEARD

Observe the Lenten season.
Self-sacrifice is a real test of a man's courage.
A big photograph company has failed. Its business is all played out.
Another man thought hooligans wouldn't lie. Aged 36 years—leaves wife and three children.
"A girl in short dresses is in danger," says a contributor. Shucks, every man looks after her.
A thought for today
"Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace whose mind is stayed on Thee; because he trusteth in Thee. Trust ye in the Lord forever, for he is the Lord of all."—Psalm 125:1.
Absence of occupation is not rest; A mind quite vacant is a mind distressed.
—William Cowper.
A Word a Day
Today's word is abstemious. It's pronounced ab-stee-mee-us with accent on the second syllable.
It means—temperate, sparing, restraining from overeating, shunning strong drink, etc.
It comes from Latin, "abs," away from, and "temere," strong drink.
Companion word—abstemiousness. It's like the word abstemious, but escape illness, be abstemious in your diet.
A Skinny Customer
The stallionmaster, hearing a crash on the platform, rushed out of his room just in time to see the express disappear, leaving a man sprawling out perfectly flat among a confusion of overturned milk cans and the scattered contents of his traveling bag. "Was he trying to catch a train?" the stallionmaster asked of a small boy who stood by, admiring the scene.
"He said he got away again."

Grab the Thin Air
An attendant, descending freely from entry, trips to the station field to carry a bag and all for the planes, had reached the end of his patience. Each trip he had been required to make, he had been required to carry a bag with foolish things. Nos. 1 to 100 inclusive.
Finally an old lady stepped him. "You're a machine, get up in the air and run out of gasoline!" he confidently, "man, he said, 'There's a couple of them stranded in the air now, and we're just sending up emergency balloons to fetch them down!'"

The Drifts
After the storm, men digging through the drifts!
After a cloud, the lowering shadow!
Snow is not all there is to dig through here.
Snow, the sheet—a thousand things we fear.
Must be ploughed up and shoveled off that clean.
Bright sunbeams glow across the living green.
We cannot get beyond the gate until the drifts are gone—the old road up the hill.
Must be unburied, and the streets set free.
And then the drifts to clear away ere we Can go much farther on our destined
Toward the heights and splendors of the day.

In vain the purpose if we sit and wait
For time to clear the drifts beyond the gate!
Old errors, doubts, all vanities and pride,
These must be shoveled till the path grows wide.
Along the sunlit beauty of the road,
Our way we travel with our spirit's load.
—Polger McKinney.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

B. J. KEITH'S THEATRE
A show check-off and comedy, with funny Bert Baker in the leading part, is shown to audiences at the B. J. Keith theatre this week. Nothing funnier than "The Great Pretence" has been seen in vaudeville in this section, and Baker plays the leading part in the comedy. It is admirably assisted by three other acts of his company. Harry and the boys, who are in the manner of his brother, "Burman & Nash," in a singing act, score well with every one of his numbers, and Frank Gray, who is a monologist of the first class, is right up with the very best acts on the bill. Other acts of the week are Dan and O'Malley, La Dora & Beckman, and Homer Tompkins.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE
The feature attractions at the Merrimack Square theatre today are "Chivalrous Charlie," starring Eugene O'Brien and "Everything for Sale," featuring May McVey. Don't miss either of them.

BIATTO THEATRE
A complete change of program featuring two first class productions will appear at the Biatto theatre this afternoon with the sheet of the Biatto Connor's famous northern actors, "Cameroon of the Royal Mounted" and "Home on the Range." In conjunction with the Biatto is a smart comedy, "House Full of Spirits," and an up-to-date act of Kluge.

"The story of the Royal Mounted" tells the story of a young man who left his home in Scotland on an expedition of crime. He settled down in the Biatto house and met the police, and pretty soon he got into a fight with the daughter of a ranchman. The story of his love life is filled with suspense, but it is a happy ending to the satisfaction of everybody. House Full of Spirits is in one of his favorite productions.

OPERA HOUSE
That time they're all humming or whistling about the subject of Miss Moreau's favorite song number, "Butter Butter," which the local stock company is so cleverly interpreting at the Opera House this week. If you are partial to good musical comedy, and who isn't, then be sure and attend one of the remaining performances. Every member of the local company is in a most congenial role, and their efforts are augmented by the presence of a Broadway chorus of pretty and clever girls who sing and dance. Don't miss this. Next week's attraction will be "The Girl of the Year," a new comedy.

THE SHIRAZ
Is it a man? Is it a woman? What is it? Attend one of the performances at The Shiraz and try to determine for yourself. Then try and make it smile. If you can't, you've got a "Question" and it is presented by Al Wilson & Co. The program announces it as "The Greatest Mystery." If you don't know what it is, and you are curious, attend Saturday night's performance and learn. For the management will explain it at that time.

Replies this extraordinary feature, there will be the usual motion picture program with Buck Jones in one of the newest western thrillers, called "A Finish." The other feature shows Shirley Mason, the lovely little screen favorite in her most amusing and thrilling "Question." In it, Mason is seen as a girl who starts life as a boarding school teacher, but who eventually works her way right out of the boarding school and into the world of her ambition. The play has a happy and the proverbial "pop." The

Starest Thing You Know

I've seen men who upon a fluke
One hour, perhaps, or three, or four—
A find may swing a lucky duko
That knows the other side of the door.
Luck helps a guy, there ain't no doubt!
But here's a fact that you can lump,
This is the dope, year in, year out—
It ain't no luck that makes a champ!

Luck sometimes deals a winning hand
To some poor duf that ain't the class;
But in the long run, understand!
He goes back to the tall green grass.
The lad that looks it to the top
Ain't no luck that makes a champ.
He's got the stuff to cope
It ain't no luck that makes a champ!

He's gotta have the pep and nerve
Which nothing in the world can dent.
He's gotta have the grit and nerve
To take a share in the excitement.
Old Lady Luck may help him, too,
But she's a kind of fickle vamp.
An' s'goin' the long years through,
It's the fellow who sticks to the plan!

U. S. DYE INDUSTRY FACING DIFFICULTY

PARIS, March 2 (By Associated Press).—The American dye industry is said to be in danger of considerable inconvenience because of the refusal of Germany to deliver the American share of dyes to the reparations commission until the controversy between the textile alliance and the industry dye interests in that country is cleared up, the Associated Press was informed yesterday in reliable quarters.

American has not received its share of the German dyes for more than four weeks and American experts in Europe assert that any great prolongation of this situation probably will cause widespread disturbance to America's newly organized dye industry.

It is asserted that while the American dye industry manufactures a majority of its own dyes; those dyes which have been supplied by Germany through the reparations commission are what are known as "key" dyes, and represent vital color elements without which no industry could continue for any length of time to form acceptable work. America has been receiving the all-important dyes at the rate of $2,000,000 yearly. They include dyes manufactured in Germany from processes which remain a secret to the outside world.

When the American government failed, after two weeks, to respond to a cable dispatch sent it by the reparations commission on the subject of dye deliveries, or to a direct communication said to have been sent by the Textile Alliance or some other responsible agency for their receipt.

In the meantime American observ-

Germany is they have been informed that they are quietly but effectively expropriating the dye industry of the United States at prices two and three times higher than she had been credited with by the reparations commission. The German dye manufacturers, these observers assert, would like the reparations commission arrangement abolished, so that she might sell direct to the United States at greatly increased prices.

It is added that the commission does not accept this view, and that it probably would demand a resumption of deliveries of dyes if the matter were placed in its hands. For the present, however, the officials are credited with saying they cannot act because of the failure of the American government to make a decision in the controversy.

DRANK FROM BOTTLE, DIED IN FEW HOURS

BRATTLEBORO, Vt., March 2.—Poisoning was said yesterday by Dr. A. L. Newton of Northfield, Mass., to have been the cause of the death of Michael Laukaitis of Vernon, which occurred in his home about 3 o'clock yesterday morning. Sheriff Frank L. Wellman and State Atty. Harold E. Whitman of this place are investigating the case.

Laukaitis was a Polish farmer. Tuesday afternoon a man whom Mrs. Laukaitis said was her husband's friend called at the house and handed Laukaitis a bottle which the wife said contained whiskey. After drinking some of the liquor about 4 o'clock, Laukaitis sat down and rested his head on a table.

Mrs. Laukaitis thought her husband had gone to sleep. At 6 o'clock she was unable to arouse him and noticed that his lips, face and hands were turning purple. In the evening Dr. Newton arrived, and later Dr. Roscoe Philbrick of Northfield.

The patient was then in a moribund state and failed to respond to treatment. There was an odor of alcohol about the patient. It is expected that an autopsy will be made by a specialist from the state laboratory.

Laukaitis leaves a wife and seven children.

ENTERTAINMENT BY JUNIOR Y. W. H. A.

The Lowell Junior Young Women's Hebrew association held its first public entertainment last night in Colonial hall in the form of a vaudeville show and dance. The program was as follows:

They were assisted by a committee from the Senior Y. W. H. A., composed of the following: Mrs. J. E. Keyman, Girls' club director; Sarah Shapiro, Mildred Cantor, Mrs. William Levine, Mrs. M. Carr, Mrs. J. H. Weinstein.

PAID DEBT AND THEN COMMITTED SUICIDE

MANCHESTER, N. H., March 2.—After writing four letters, one of them to his chum directing that he pay the $5 enclosed to a friend who had loaned that amount to him, Louis Spazman, an ex-convicted suicide by shooting, died in his room at a local hotel yesterday. A 32-caliber revolver was found clutched in his hand.

Spazman was a printer and had a union card in his pocket. He had also given a Cambridge, Mass., address, but humbly made there indicated that he had not lived at that address for 15 years. Respondents believed to have been the cause of his act. The police are trying to get in touch with relatives.

M'ADOO TO PRACTICE LAW ON THE COAST

NEW YORK, March 2. (By the Associated Press).—William G. McAdoo, secretary of the treasury under President Wilson, announced last night that he soon will leave New York, his home since 1902, and settle in Los Angeles, Cal.

With Mrs. McAdoo, he will leave for the Pacific coast on Friday. His son, Francis H. McAdoo, will succeed him as a member of the New York law firm, McAdoo, Cotton and Franklin, of which he was senior member.

Asked whether he meant to retire from the practice of law, Mr. McAdoo said: "No, sir; I intend my new life to be the beginning of greater activity than ever before."

Replying to further questions, he denied the suggestion that he might be going west to become head of any part of the movie industry, or that he was making a political move.

"I'm simply going to Los Angeles to make my home because Mrs. McAdoo and I like the climate and the country," he said. "I expect to hang out my shingle and practice law, just as I have been doing since I left my office at Washington."

SPRING TONIC THAT GIVES YOU STRENGTH

After Colds and Attacks of Grip / the Blood Needs Building Up If You Are To Be Well.

As spring approaches a tonic for the blood is needed by many people who feel tired, languid and lacking in strength and ambition. When the blood is made rich and red it carries renewed life to every tissue and organ of the body, revitalizes the nerves, increases the appetite, strengthens the digestion, brings color to the cheeks and lips, in fact it tones up the entire system.

"I began to feel badly in the spring," says Mrs. Myrtle B. Young, of No. 48 Ash street, Lowell, Mass., "and I think I overtaxed my strength. I felt all tired and my work was a drag. I was troubled with indigestion after eating, was nervous, did not sleep well, and got up in the morning all tired out. My blood was thin, I was very pale and felt weak all the time."

"Last June I read about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and before I had taken them a week I began to feel better. There was a wonderful difference in me after I had taken two boxes of these pills. I have got my strength back, my nerves are strong again and I sleep well. I am no longer troubled with indigestion and the improvement in my color shows that my blood must be richer. I certainly can recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills highly to anyone in need of a tonic."

Winter Cold Thins Blood

Very often a winter cold will hang on until the system is run down and debilitated and the general health so impaired that all the organs of the body are affected and recovery of full strength and vigor is slow and difficult. In such cases a tonic for the blood and nerves is needed to restore health as is shown by the experience of Mrs. Flora Jones, of No. 114 Elm street, Manchester, N. H. Mrs. Jones says:

"Last winter I had a cold and it weakened my system so much that I would be so tired that I didn't seem as though I could finish out the day."

"Beside the tired feeling that I had all the time my stomach was upset and after eating I would have heartburn. My heart would flutter. I had no strength, there were pains all over my body and I had headaches almost constantly."

Fuel Administrator Hultman has sent out the following notice: Massachusetts Fuel Administration Copy.

MEMORANDUM;—TO THE HONORABLE MAYORS AND BOARDS OF SELECTMEN, COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS

RELATIVE TO THE COAL SITUATION

Both the Bituminous and Anthracite coal miners threaten to strike on April 1st, and the mine owners state that a strike is inevitable.

Hon. Herbert Hoover, Secretary of Commerce, in reply to my request for information advises:

"The stage is well set for a strike on April first." In my opinion this most aptly describes the present situation.

We are advising our customers to put in enough coal to carry them through April and May. We advise doing this at once and avoid panicky conditions as we approach the first of April.

We can give you FRANKLIN, EGG, STOVE AND NUT; JEDDO STOVE; and LEHIGH and LACKAWANNA EGG, STOVE AND NUT.

Also high grade of New River Steam Coal.

FLAYS GOVERNOR OF PORTO RICO

Demands Congressional Investigation of Acts and Conduct of Gov. Reilly

Declares Harding "Imposed Upon" in Making Appointment

WASHINGTON, March 2.—Demand for a congressional investigation of the acts and conduct of Governor E. Mont Reilly of Porto Rico, looking to his removal from office, was made in the house today by Delegate Felix Cordova Davila, resident commissioner of Porto Rico.

Mr. Davila told the house that while he believed President Harding made a mistake by appointing Governor Reilly, he knew "the president was imposed upon" and, therefore, the appointment was not made "knowingly or with the least malice toward the people of Porto Rico."

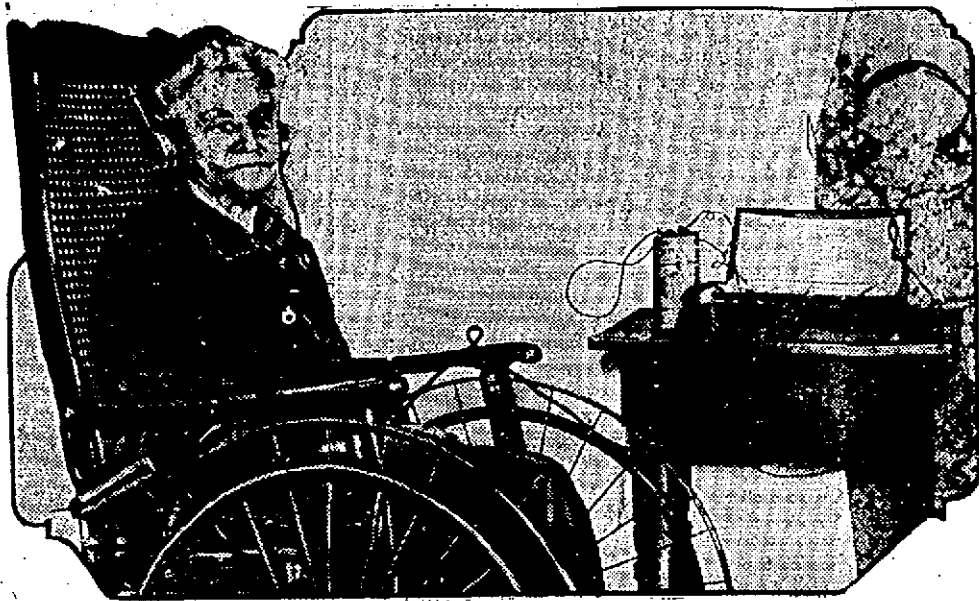

"Unable to convince the president of the justice of our cause," he exclaimed, "I appear before you to ask a congressional investigation which will expose to public view the general reputation and conduct of Governor Reilly."

Mr. Davila charged among other things:

That Governor Reilly "announced publicly that he intends to make $200,000 during the next four years in office, whereas the salary as governor is $10,000."

That he has endeavored to set up

News of World Brought to Her Invalid's Chair on Pulsating Wireless Waves

MRS. VESTA LEET AND HER RADIOPHONE.

(By N.E.A. Service)

CONNEAUTVILLE, Pa., March 2.—The wireless waves beat a track for the world to the door of Mrs. Vesta Leet, who for five years has been confined to her bed and a wheel-chair in her home in an isolated section of the country near here.

It is with the aid of a radioophone that Mrs. Leet, the widow of a Civil War veteran, keeps in touch with the doings of the world outside.

The instrument was installed in her home by her son, who is a Pittsburgh dentist. And since it came, Mrs. Leet's eyes have lost the listlessness of the idle. Into them has come sparkle and snap.

Music Best

"I think the thing that gives me trifle and discord among the citizens; that he unlawfully interfered with the courts of justice and attempted to intimidate judges; that in public speeches he disregarded the feelings and sentiments of the citizens and denounced the flag of Porto Rico as "a dirty rag"; that he declared to members of the senate that he would have the government of Washington annul the organization act which provides that the senate shall ratify appointments, "unless the nominations were confirmed, which amounts to intimidation," and that he has attempted to "poison and mislead and prejudice" public opinion in the United States "by stating in public speeches that prominent Porto Ricans were disloyal and traitors."

"I am strongly of the opinion from information submitted to me," said Mr. Davila, "that an investigation of Reilly's past history will show he was not the kind of man who should have been placed in an important position like that of governor of 1,300,000 people. His past is shady to say the least."

Charging that Reilly had been removed as assistant postmaster at Kansas City, and that the post office department had refused to give him the record in the case, Mr. Davila added:

"If he was not good enough to be an assistant postmaster, how can he be qualified to be governor of a distant possession?" Mr. Davila concluded:

"The administration of Governor Reilly has been a succession of insults to the people. When he went to the island he found a land of peace and happiness and almost overnight he transformed it into a hot bed of dissension and despair. He could have had the everlasting friendship and affection of Porto Ricans of all classes had he possessed the least qualification to be their governor. And I say to you in full truth, we can stand no more. The moment has come when our self respect rebels. We appeal to you for relief from this administration."

Enjoys Sermons

"My radioophone brings me interesting talks on all sorts of subjects, and they are always good. But next to the music I think I enjoy the church services most."

"I am a member of the Universalist church but I get lots of good from the sermons that are broadcasted from other churches, too. If I keep on hearing Presbyterian, Episcopalian, Methodist and all the other services it won't be long before I will hardly know what denomination I really am."

"I think the radioophone was the most wonderful gift my son could have presented me with."

"Wouldn't you enjoy hearing the things that other folks are hearing if you hadn't been able to do it for five years?"

"It's always something to look forward to—what am I going to hear next?"

sweeper, and the reserve railwaymen were notified to report at headquarters at 1 o'clock this afternoon for further instructions. Very few car delays were reported, most lines being operated on slightly delayed schedules. There were the usual stoppages of traffic on the down town streets by automobiles, trucks and horse-drawn vehicles. Middlesex street as usual had its quota of these motorman's disposition-disturbances.

With better weather in sight, indications are good for the usual service in the homeward rush hour tonight on all lines. Every extra car that can be used for the rush service will be "rained" tonight, with plenty of operators ready to maintain proper transportation on the busiest lines.

DOG SHOW HELD BY THE LOWELL KENNEL CLUB

The first dog show held in this city for several years took place last night in Hamilton hall, Odd Fellows building, following the regular meeting of the Lowell Kennel club. About 60 puppies of all breeds were exhibited and several prizes were awarded.

The Lowell club has been in existence only a few weeks and taking all things into consideration, the affair last night was a credit to the efforts of those in charge of it. With 98 new members voted in last night the membership roll has reached the 400 mark and is still on the climb.

Prior to the show, Frank T. Estlin, of Cambridge, president of the Middlesex county club, gave a short address in which he complimented the local club for its fine start. The speaker acted as one of the judges and was assisted by William H. Higby and William Doll.

A business meeting followed the show and was presided over by President Leon H. Mullin. It was voted to hold a show for Boston terriers of all ages at the next meeting.

There was considerable discussion over the advisability of running an outdoor dog show during the last few days in May but nothing definite was decided upon.

In addition to reading the minutes of the meetings, Sec. Frederick G. Humphreys spoke in appreciation of the assistance given the club by the press and it was voted to extend the privileges of membership to the editors and of those in charge of it. With 98 new members voted in last night the membership roll has reached the 400 mark and is still on the climb.

The following is the list of prize winners:

Mrs. James Kirkpatrick, with a Boston terrier, won the Daggler cup offered by William Doll. This cup will be at stake at the first club show of each year and will remain with the winner until it is awarded to another dog.

In a special class for the best puppy bred by the exhibitor, Fred Williams, showing a Scottish terrier, was awarded the prize. This prize was donated by William H. Higby.

multi operatives relief work and deeply interested in their home welfare, she made a carefully planned effort to dispose of many tags on the streets of Lowell. Later, when the returns came in, it was found that Mrs. Melton's collection was up among the highest money figures tabulated by the textile workers' collection committee when the boxes were opened and the funds counted.

The work of Mrs. Melton has been highly commended by the textile officials, also the warm-hearted activities of all the young people who aided in making labor's tag day a success.

ENTERTAINED FRIENDS AT THEIR HOME

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Napoleon Desmarais at 62 Fisher street was the scene of a happy gathering Tuesday night, the occasion being an informal observance of "Mardi Gras." There were about 25 couples present, all relatives and close friends of the couple.

Charles Cole, acting the part of a butler, was kept busy receiving the guests from 8 o'clock until after 9 o'clock at which time a grand march was held with Mrs. Blanche Desmarais at the piano. In the march were guests attired in costumes of all descriptions.

At the close of the march Mr. Lamoine, who was attired as Uncle Sam, and Mrs. Marie John, who impersonated "Sin Hopkin", received first prizes.

In the course of the evening various musical and vocal numbers were given, those taking part in the program being Mrs. Decelle, E. S. Desmarais, J. Liburdy, Napoleon Desmarais, Auguste Jodoin and Miss Sybil Desmarais. A licot luncheon was served and general dancing was enjoyed. Mr. and Mrs. Desmarais, who proved to be admirable hosts, were assisted in receiving by their daughter, Miss Sybil Desmarais.

Dough Is About the Only Thing a Losing Boxer Knocks Down

BOXING

Mike Castle of Lawrence and Johnny Brown of Newport are on the program to play a return engagement at the Crescent rink tonight under the auspices of the Moody club. The pair were engaged after their whirlwind sets of just two weeks ago and if their offering this evening is anything like their previous tilt, boxing fans are in for another rare battle treat.

Four bouts ever staged in this city compared with the hostile encounter this pair engaged in and for several days after the bout the thrilling work of the gladiators was the subject of discussion here and in Lawrence.

One reason, undoubtedly, for the prolonged post mortem was the complete surprise and upset that Brown sprung on the fans. He hopped into the ring, a virtual unknown here, to substitute for the popular Frankie Smith, a very few days before he gave him a chance. In fact the big majority figured he would last but a brief period with the aggressive and skillful Castle. Some in the crowd, however, got up on their feet to be ready to depart for their homes. But they hesitated when they discovered that Brown was not only a fighting battler, but was forcing the fighting and keeping the Lawrencean on the defensive. A few skeptics felt that Brown's work was a dash in the punch and they soon changed their minds and before the half was over he had reached the hall was in an uproar and hundreds were vowing their approval and shouting words of encouragement to the Newport lad.

The other bouts on tonight's card are Joe Joseph vs. Grant (Glenn) in the semi-final and Lory Williams vs. Red Clinton and Kid Hooker vs. Tommy Moran in the preliminaries.

Johnny Brown arrived in Lowell late yesterday afternoon and immediately reported to "Dink" Dodge of the Moody club. He announced that he was at the required weight and confident of winning over Castle. He said he would come to town today and both will step on the scales. The articles of agreement call for both men to weigh in at 125 pounds.

Nate Steele's victory over Eddie Shevlin in Boston the other night upset the dope and sent a bunch of Shevlin supporters home minus much of their purse change. Steele will undoubtedly be kept busy now, as will Barnyard Golf Title Goes to Charles Davis of Columbus, O.

Word comes from New York that Al Hammond, the Lowell flyweight, continues to add new laurels to his record in the big town. Al has done remarkably well since leaving this city after the success of his successful fight with the opportunity of working out with such high class performers as Jimmy Leonard and other famous glove men of the Glendon stable.

Lowell fans are greatly interested in Dan Coughlin, the local heavyweight, who recently jumped from the amateur into the professional ranks and signified his entry into the money class by stopping his opponent in 40 seconds. He did the feat at 204 pounds, is very fast, has a wonderful left hand, and is cool under fire. It is expected that he will soon be seen in action at the Moody club.

Abie Friedman, New England heavyweight champion, will meet Danny Edwards of Los Angeles, who recently scored a decisive victory over Chick Suggs, at Boston next Monday night.

Paul Doyle will box Danny O'Keefe, recent conqueror of Harry Silva, at Lynn on Monday night. Johnny Lucas will meet Young Donohoe in the local final.

While "Young" Gradwell, who is now under the management of Charlie Gardo of Boston, is regarded as one of the most sensational lightweights in the game. He has boxed all the 125 pound boys of note, from Leonard down and is expected to meet Willie Jackson at Philadelphia in the near future.

Joe Morgan of Manchester, who has been out of the game for several years, made a most successful comeback recently when he defeated Eddie Hammer and captured the New Hampshire featherweight title. He is in search of bouts in this vicinity.

Pugilistic Tableau May Develop an Opponent for Jack Dempsey

NEW YORK, March 2.—A pugilistic tableau that may develop an opponent for Jack Dempsey, is to be staged in Madison Square Garden tonight by two heavy-weight performers, Harry Wills and "Kid" Norfolk.

Wills, whose muscles were developed heaving cotton bales down on the docks in New Orleans, is called the "Punching" pugilist. He stands 6 feet 4 inches in his ring socks, weighs 210 pounds, and carries 16 inches.

Norfolk, known as the "Darktown" thunderbolt, is 5 feet 10 inches tall, weighs 185 pounds and carries 16 inches. He has punched his way to pugilistic fame and the colored light in the pugilistic championship of the world by more than 20 knockouts.

DISCUSS CHANGES IN FOOTBALL RULES

BOSTON, March 2.—Proposed changes in football rules were discussed last night by several New England college football coaches and others at the Boston Athletic association. A letter from the National Football association, which meets in New York on March 10, was read.

It was pointed out that the proposed changes in the rules were designed to clarify football conditions, were discussed. Another meeting will be held at Harvard tomorrow night, at which proposals will be referred to the rules committee of the National Football association, which meets in New York on March 10.

RUTH AND MAYS AGREE TO TERMS

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., March 2.—Carl Mays, last year's leading pitcher of the New York Yankees, yesterday agreed to a contract for the 1922 season and Babe Ruth, "Home Run King," has tentatively agreed on terms for this year. Colonel Houston, president of the Boston Braves, yesterday announced that he had agreed to a contract with Mays and Ruth, which will keep them in the club for the next season.

It was not known what salary Ruth will receive for 1922, but the big slugger had been holding out for $20,000.

Col. Houston said that the contract with Mays was for $15,000 and that it would be necessary to sign him to a similar contract. The contract with Ruth is for $10,000.

CHAMPION LEONARD'S HAND IS INJURED

NEW YORK, March 2.—Tony Leonard, world's lightweight boxing champion, may not be able to enter the ring for at least six weeks because of an injury on the back of his right hand.

This information was given yesterday by Billy Glavin, the champion's manager, to Frank Flanagan, sports editor of the New York Times. Leonard is expected to fight at Madison Square Garden on March 10.

Leonard's injury was caused by a fight with a contender, who had been injured by a fall from a horse. Leonard's hand was injured when he caught the contender's foot.

BASKETBALL

The much discussed C. Y. M. C. I. series will open tomorrow night at the Crescent rink and a record crowd is expected to turn out to witness the resumption of hostilities begun several years ago.

A few years back players representing these two organizations engaged in a number of thrilling games and every time they clashed a record crowd turned out to witness the contest. The I. C. Y. M. C. I. team won every series engaged in, the final one being decided just ten seconds before the sound of the whistle in the last game.

Ever since that game the C. Y. M. C. I. has been anxious to again meet their conquerors and the membership is elated over the coming series. Many of the players who participated in those games of other days, will be in uniform tomorrow night. The I. C. Y. M. C. I. team will be practically intact.

The Y. M. C. I., however, has added a few new men, but they are counting on several of the old favorites to again play a leading part in the contest.

Jimmy Keenan, hero of the final game of the series, will start for the Y. M. C. I. team, and his teammates are expecting much from him. Keenan's work in the important game, which decided the championship, stood out conspicuously and while the I. C. Y. M. C. I. team will be sore after Foley, in the recent series he covered the I. C. Y. M. C. I. team most effectively.

There is considerable interest in Jimmy Grant's appearance with the Y. M. C. I. Grant has not played on local teams for several years, but a few years back, he was a brilliant member of various "Y" teams. He has been working out in the gymnasium for the past few weeks, and if he can recover his old time speed, he is bound to prove a big asset to the Belvidere organization.

The I. C. Y. M. C. I. team will depend on its old stalwarts, Randall, Foley, Martin, Lackwood, Twobey, P. Flynn, F. Flynn and Gleason.

The members of St. Anne's and St. Patrick's teams which will open their three game series to determine the amateur championship of the city on Monday night, are putting in considerable work in preparation for the games. This series will be run in accordance with amateur rules, which provide for considerable open work.

The I. C. Y. M. C. I. team will be practically intact.

The Y. M. C. I., however, has added a few new men, but they are counting on several of the old favorites to again play a leading part in the contest.

GIRL SWIMMER WILL TOUR COUNTRY

Margaret Burke, Fort Worth, Tex., swimmer, holder of several swimming records, will tour the country this summer with her father, giving swimming and diving exhibitions. Her diving record is 43 feet, the highest available over Lake Worth, where she swims.

Margaret Burke, Girl Swimmer.

Larry says in his big league career he has played under three of the greatest managers in the game, Bill Carrigan, Connie Mack and Tris Speaker.

One day last year Gardner and I were discussing Bill Carrigan. Like Gardner, I am a great booster for Bill Carrigan. He was a real manager. In talking over some of the things we had seen Carrigan pull, Gardner remarked:

"Bill Carrigan's judgment was unerring. He had a keen eye for a pitcher, and I don't believe he ever made a managerial mistake. He was a wonder at making shifts in the lineup, substituting pitchers and calling on pinch hitters."

"Although a left-handed hitter, I have always been successful against him. In all my career only once have I been taken out with a south-paw working to let a right-handed hitter bat."

"Bill Carrigan made that change, and when he did it I could have murdered him. I don't believe I was ever so sore in all my life. However, all of Carrigan's shifts, it produced results."

"It was in the 1916 series with Boston that he made that change. It was a dark night, and Carrigan was fast coming over the field. It looked as if the game would surely be a tie. Then Carrigan started to make his shifts."

"Sherrod Smith was pitching for Brooklyn and going great. With two out we got a man on second. Carrigan then pulled the game and sent Milt McNally in as pinch runner. It was my turn next at bat."

"Carrigan told me that Del Gainer would hit for me. I looked at him in amazement. It was the first time I had ever been taken out of a game to let someone hit for me. Seeing my surprise he again announced that Gainer would bat for me. I threw my bat away in disgust."

"Before I had a chance to get my bat out of my system Gainer had hit for me. McNally had scored from second with the winning run, and we were one game closer to a world title."

INDOOR TENNIS TOURNAMENT FOR WOMEN

BOSTON, March 2.—Announcement was made today that the usual indoor tennis championship for women would be held at the Longwood covered courts at Chestnut Hill, the week of March 20. There will be three divisions: singles, doubles and mixed doubles. Entries will close March 16. It is expected that Mrs. Franklin I. May, of New York, who won the championship here last year, and Mrs. Rosamund E. Cole, 2nd, of Andover, runner-up, will be among the participants in the singles.

PUBLIC 18-HOLE COURSE AT BOSTON

BOSTON, March 2.—This city, the first to have a municipal golf links, is to have an 18-hole course for public play for the first time. Announcement was made today by James B. Shea, chairman of the city park department, that the offer of Donald Ross, links architect and professor of golf, to lay out a 18-hole course at Franklin Park, had been accepted, and that the necessary financial provisions had been made for extending the links hole system there to one of 18 holes.

George Hildebrand, the American league umpire, is sponsor for the following story:

Before coming to the American league Hildebrand played, then umpired in the Pacific Coast league.

In that league was the late Hap Hogan, who, in his day, was to the coast league fans what Nick Altrock is to the big league circuit.

Hogan was nothing if not original. On the coast they still talk of some of the stunts that he pulled at the expense of players, fans and umpires. Hildebrand's story deals with an umpire.

In those days it was customary for the umpires to find the players for various offenses. Often in assessing the fine it was a habit with most umpires, if the fine was $5, to raise his hand and say, "It will cost you that much."

Working with Hildebrand in a certain game was an umpire who had only three fingers on his right hand. Hogan got into an argument with this umpire. The umpire finally decided he wanted to fine Hogan $5, but he merely raised the hand containing three fingers and said, "It will cost you that much."

Hogan neglected to pay the fine, hoping the umpire would forget it. The "ump" didn't, and the president advised Hogan he should pay it immediately if he desired to continue playing.

Hogan immediately sent a check for $3. On its receipt the president suspended him. Hogan refused to pay the other $2. As manager of the club he refused to put his team on the field.

The president of the league was gotten on the telephone, the conditions of the fine explained, and the president ruled in favor of Hogan.

Technically he had only been fined $3.

TRAINING CAMP NEWS

NEW YORK, March 2.—This city's new baseball squads, the Yankees, Giants and Superiors, were familiarizing themselves today with their southern training camp in Jacksonville, Fla.

The Giants ran into unusual trouble, freezing weather at San Antonio and had to listen to a Methodist lecture while the Yankees at New Orleans were compelled by rain to stay in their hotel.

Miller Huggins was still at Hot Springs, Tenn., in an effort to wind up negotiations with Babe Ruth. At San Antonio, McGraw announced that "Shuffle" Phil Douglas had been offered a conditional contract.

CLEVELAND, March 2.—Although it had stopped raining at Dallas, Tex., yesterday, the weather was so cold that the Cleveland Indians were deprived of their practice at Marine Field and a roller skating rink near the ball park offered their only opportunity to lumber up, according to reports received from Dallas today. Indications were that the rink would be used again today.

PHILADELPHIA, March 2.—The advance guard of the Philadelphia National League baseball club started practice at their spring training quarters in Lehigh, Pa., today.

The players arrived yesterday. Arthur Heyward, formerly of the Giants, has been appointed captain of the club, and will receive here and there.

Cold weather at the camp of the Philadelphia Americans in Eagle Pass, Tex., continued to interfere with their workouts.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., March 2.—James J. Jeffries, former heavyweight champion pugilist of the world, may become an evangelist, according to a story the Los Angeles Examiner published today.

Elopement Brings Two Divorce Suits

MAYSVILLE, Ky., March 2.—Two divorce suits are pending in the Mason county circuit court here because Carl Kellum, 23, and his mother-in-law, Mrs. Addie Gallagher, 45, ran off together, according to the petitions filed by Mrs. Julia Gallagher Kellum, 18, against her husband, and John Gallagher, 55, against his wife. Kellum and Mrs. Gallagher are living together in this county now, the petitions charge.

Brunettes in Lead at Wellesley

WELLESLEY, March 2.—Brunettes are in the ascendency at Wellesley college. After a long standing precedent of blonde supremacy, Miss Olive Ladd of Lincoln, Neb., a young woman with black hair, has been elected mistress of the Senior Tree Day exercises. The choice was by vote of the senior class. In the selection of aids to the mistress, the class picked two blondes and two brunettes, Misses Caroline Ingham of New York; Dorothy Tower of Chicago; Elizabeth Woody of Louisville, Ky., and Harriet Rathbun of Madison, N. J.

Stranded on Reef in Blinding Snowstorm

NEW YORK, March 2.—Stranded on a reef of Hunter's Island in Long Island sound for more than six hours in a blinding snowstorm to lay, the army launch L-51 from Fort Totten with 15 enlisted men and one civilian aboard, reached Hart's Island after a battle against wind and wave. The rising tide lifted the craft from the rocks just as policeboats sent from this city sighted her. The boat's occupants were drenched by the waves and numb with cold. They were given hot coffee and furnished dry clothing and soon recovered. The men had attended a basketball game at Fort Slocom and were returning when they lost their way in the storm.

Italian Minister's Resignation Accepted

ROME, March 2.—(By the Associated Press)—King Victor Emmanuel today accepted the resignation of Giovanni Colonna di Cesarò as minister of posts and approved the appointment of Luigi Fulci, a deputy of the social democratic party, to succeed him. Signor Di Cesarò resigned Tuesday as a protest against the practice of several Catholic ministers in consulting Luigi Sturzo, secretary-general of the Catholic party, regarding appointments.

Bodies of Couple Found By Children

ROXTON, N. J., March 1.—The bodies of Henry Klingzer, 22, and his wife, Catherine, 56, were found on the kitchen floor of their home near here today by their two children. A revolver clutched in Klingzer's hand led Prosecutor Mills of Morris county to believe he shot his wife and then committed suicide. Grief over the recent death of a child, caused the couple to enter a death pact, the prosecutor surmised.

Allen Urges Enforcement of Dry Law

BOSTON, March 1.—Urging strict enforcement of the liquor statutes because they are the law of the land, Attorney General J. Weston Allen, in an address before the Boston Rotary club today, said the man who buys liquor from a bootlegger is a partner in crime. Those who urge non-enforcement he branded as traitors.

Yap Treaty Ratified

WASHINGTON, March 1.—The Yap treaty was ratified without reservations or amendments today, by the senate. The vote for ratification was 67 to 22. Senator Lodge, republican leader, immediately after action on the Yap treaty, called up the four power Pacific pact.

Judge Mack Named to Succeed Landis

CHICAGO, March 1.—Federal Judge Julian W. Mack of New York, was today selected by Judge George A. Carpentier, senior federal judge of the northern district United States court, to serve the unexpired term of Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, whose resignation became effective today. Judge Mack will serve until such time as President Harding may appoint a successor.

LONDON RECOVERING FROM WEDDING

LONDON, March 1.—(By the Associated Press)—While Princess Mary and her husband, Viscount Lascelles, were on their honeymoon at Weston Park today, London was recovering from yesterday's celebration of the wedding. The newspapers today reported the great achievement of carrying out yesterday's program in perfect order despite the fact that the crowds constituted the largest public gathering ever recorded at any state function. The West End resumed with song and laughter until nearly 3 o'clock this morning in celebration of the wedding. Such crowds had not thronged the streets and filled the hotels and theatres to overflowing since armistice day. In the provinces the celebrations were no less hearty.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE IN ITS NEW QUARTERS

The chamber of commerce completed the process of moving from the Grosvenor block in Merrimack square to the Fairburn building yesterday afternoon. Rooms 302-308 in the Fairburn building have been engaged and all future business of the chamber will be carried on from there. There is a room connected with the new quarters large enough for meetings and the serving of luncheons.

EVERETT TRUE

"The Masquerader" Demonstrates Screen's Advantages Over Stage

BY JAMES W. DEAN
NEW YORK, Mar. 2.—The greater scope of action the screen enjoys as compared with the stage will be aptly demonstrated in Guy Busch's first movie, "The Masquerader."

Post performed in that play for six years on the stage. I saw it three times. It was not until the third time that I solved the riddle of how he presumably was on the stage in two different places at the same time. Double exposure make such tricks ordinary on the screen. One person can be in as many places on the screen at the same time as exposures can be made with the same film. You probably remember that Mary Pickford kissed herself in "Little Lord Fauntleroy" and that Buster Keaton was an entire minstrel company in "The Playhouse."

One of the most dramatic moments in Katherine Cecil Thurston's novel which Post could not portray on the stage because of its limited scope of action was the one in which the demoralized Chilcote failed in his speech before the house of commons. In the movie version Post will appear in parliament for that situation. Richard Walton Tully has had a set erected in conformity with ground plans and interior pictures of parliament.

Tully will reproduce the interior even to the name plates on members' benches and the hour glass, which still serves as parliament's time-piece. The stage appears as a puny place for action when compared to the screen.

The Movie Holidays
Almost every week of the year has some significance in the film industry. Each film has an anniversary week in which exhibitors make an extra effort to have films of their firms shown.

Christmas, Easter, Fourth of July and other holidays are usually marked with some appropriate picture. Now St. Patrick's day comes into its own. Rupert Hughes' latest photoplay, "Come Over," will be released that day.

Colleen Moore and Ralph Graven head the cast, and, to create the proper color, Alfred Green directed it.

LADY DIANA MAKES A HIT
Covent Garden, London, is still turning away those who come to see Lady Diana Manners in the Gladiators and Venus. London critics acclaim the picture a masterpiece, something new in the cinema world.

The film is done in colors. The critic of the Daily Graphic says of it, "It is like a thousand oil paintings come to life."

The feature of the film that will surprise Americans is the acting of Lady Diana. The popular conception of a noblewoman is that of a woman of dignity and reserve. Still, of the production recently received here show that Lady Diana has forgotten her dignity and condescends to become, violently emotional.

Nyrdle Steinman will support Elaine Hammerstein in "Reckless Youth."

"Dollar Devils" is the first of a series of pictures to be directed by Victor Schertzinger.

Tom Walsh, American director, is making a film called "Maritana" for a Viennese company.

BEFORE LOWELL AD CLUB

Professor Norman B. Cawley of Harvard Spoke at Luncheon Held Yesterday Noon

Professor Norman B. Cawley of Harvard University, expert in the subject of public speaking, psychology and character analysis, addressed the members of the Lowell Advertising club in the old quarters of the chamber of commerce, Grosvenor block, at a noon luncheon yesterday. Dinner was served by a caterer in the room, thus drawing away from the president established by the club holding the Wednesday noon meetings at a local restaurant. The next meeting as planned now, will be held in the new quarters of the chamber in the Fairburn building.

In talking to the members of the club who are particularly interested in advertising Professor Cawley drew upon his knowledge of the fundamentals of human character as they may be applied to advertising. He made his talk very interesting and sparkling with wit by an intermixture of stories learned through his experience and study. He mentioned very familiarly some of the large advertisers of Lowell and showed some of the fundamental points upon which that advertising was based.

There are three kinds of men, he said, the selfish man, the semi-selfish man, and the unselfish man. The selfish man is for himself all the time; the semi-selfish man has some other love at heart, such for instance as the love of family, while the unselfish man has not only himself, and his family at heart, but also in just as sufficient degree the love of the community. Each one of these types of men are urged into action by five fundamentals which may be applied to himself, his family or the community.

To get action out of a man appeal to his natural instinct for self-protection, or to his instinct to care for his life, his family's life, or the life of the community. Secondly, appeal to his desire to get something for nothing, or to his desire to get something "free." Thirdly, appeal to his natural instinct to protect the property or add to the property of his own, his family or the community. Fourthly, appeal to his constant desire to live up to the reputation of his own life, his family, or the reputation of the community, or to get action in another way make a man fight for the protection of his reputation. Fifthly, urge a man to action by appealing to his love of power. Show him how he may increase his power, that of his family and he will be moved into action.

The selfish man takes these natural principles or fundamentals unto himself, while the semi-selfish man applies them not only to himself, but also to his family, or to his close associates, while the unselfish man puts himself last and applies these principles to his family, his community and his country.

Professor Cawley illustrated his various points with examples of the use of these various instinctive appeals.

URGES PRISON REFORM LEAGUE

Thomas Mott Osborne Speaks Before Men's Club of All Souls' Church

Recounts Interestingly His Experiences as a Voluntary Prisoner in Sing Sing

Speaking last evening in the parish house of All Souls church, before the Men's club, Thomas Mott Osborne, famous as a prison warden urged the necessity of a prison reform league. Mr. Osborne at one time served a voluntary term in order that he might learn prison conditions from the viewpoint of a prisoner and had reached the conclusion that a majority of men placed in confinement were harmed rather than benefited by their imprisonment under the old conditions.

In opening, Mr. Osborne said some people are frequently led to assume that he is a so-called philanthropist, but that he is really a plain business man. Mr. Osborne then launched into his message, given him by the Unitarian association, under whose auspices a committee made up of citizens of prominence has been named to organize a league for prison reform.

"I am not asking you to take any sentimental interest in prisons," said Mr. Osborne. "I find that it is not well to be sentimental. The thing is purely a matter of common sense. As a matter of fact, there are very few men in prison who ought not to be there. Some got there for crimes they did not commit, but most of them had done something else that ought to have been sent them there. Like Jimmy Martin. He was sent to prison for a burglary he did not commit, but at the same time he was a burglar in another burglary, then broke away. Prisons are to protect society. We place there men who have shown by their acts that they are dangerous to the state. On the whole, we need not feel anxious about the innocence of the men who are in prison."

"But do the prisons protect society?" They hold the dangerous men there for a limited length of time, but how do they come out? There is more crime coming out of your prisons than there is going in. What is it that is wrong? The answer is that the system of going to prison for a week and his success in getting into the "cellar" through a breach of discipline. This was done to get at the real conditions. He said that when he was placed in a cell in the cooler he was deprived of his handkerchief for the reason that a prisoner had committed suicide with his handkerchief two years previous. They left him his underclothing, however, which he thought was made for the purpose for which they feared a prisoner might use a handkerchief.

With five other men who were confined in the cooler, most of them for talking, whispering or turning their heads, he talked continuously. "Thus he spent his most sociable night in prison. For talking," he said. "I was told that the men in the one place in prison where it is possible to talk."

"We hear a great deal about mental defects. There are mental defects in prison, but not all of the men in prison are mentally defective. It has been shown that the average mentality is higher among men in prison than out of prison. Intellectually, they are extraordinarily keen and efficient. This talk about mental defects is a largely an effort on the part of prison wardens to escape prison reform."

"I am not one of those hopeful persons who see any chance of prisons being discontinued, but any system with the prison system in it that does not protect society is a failure. It is a failure because it does not protect society when they went in. The Massachusetts prison needs to be reformed quite as much as any prison in the country; and the same is true of the Concord reformatory. It is not by any chance that a prison is called a reformatory, a college of crime, of which the reformatory is the preparatory school."

That there is material in the prisons too valuable to be scrapped, is the opinion expressed by Mr. Osborne. He believes that it can be salvaged by proper treatment.

"It is not a question of how much a criminal deserves," he said. "How do you know how much he deserves? It is a question of how to deal with a man so that when he comes out he will want to go straight."

"After eight years," he said, "they were worked out the problem at Auburn. When they used to have 149 guards for 170 prisoners. It ran for two years without any guards at all, and there was no increase in riots. The idea is nothing but an application of the fundamental principle of the prison. We do not need all these guards. We do not need straight because we are afraid of the police. The appeal to fear is the fundamental fallacy of the whole question."

"The crook thinks of the whole world as a crooked place. There is no reason why he should not get it straight. They call themselves the honest crooks. It is not unnatural that they should get that view. They meet the grafting policeman, the crooked district attorney. I knew of your man Pelletier, 10 years ago from Crocker they go to prison, and there they meet dishonest guards."

"The average prison, if it does not rely upon the fear of punishment, relies upon the so-called honor system, the spy system. That is worse in its effect upon the prisoners than the honor system. It is the trouble with your institution at Charlestown. It is the fellow who is a successful hypocrite, who is getting along."

Mr. Osborne said that under the new system a good conduct league is formed in a prison, with the men electing the fundamental principle of being free to elect their own officers. Although they sometimes elect the wrong men, Mr. Osborne said that he had heard of the same thing being done out of prison. He told of incidents which revealed the working of the plan and stated that the league at Auburn was going on.

Enrollment cards for the new organization were passed around to the audience. The association plans to raise a fund, secure a secretary and publish yearly a handbook containing that the proprietors know something of such institutions and what the inmates receive from their employment.

EXTERIOR IMPROVEMENTS

City, Not Auditorium Commission, Seeks $60,000 Loan for Necessary Work

An item published in the Courier-Citizen this morning relative to the Memorial Auditorium commission is quite misleading. It says that there has been a setback on the grounds of the Memorial Auditorium to borrow $60,000 for the various improvements around the building.

The commission is not seeking this loan. It is to be negotiated by the city for necessary improvements around the Auditorium, for the construction of a wall along the site of the building on the Concord street and for other necessary work on the grounds adjoining the Auditorium.

The law department of the city decided that the Auditorium commission had no authority to spend money upon the work for which the loan is now sought by the city.

The opinion of former Solicitor Reardon on this matter in a communication to the Memorial Auditorium commission said in part:

"In the matter of streets, sidewalks and trees adjoining and contiguous to the Memorial Auditorium, I herewith inform you that it is my opinion that your board is vested with no authority in law to expend money upon the construction of sidewalks, surfacing of streets, or the removal of trees. The various activities contemplated in the above work are imposed by law on various boards and officers in the city, and your commission has no power to exempt these boards and officers of the obligation imposed upon them. Further, I seriously question the right of your commission to expend money upon the reconstruction of a wall on the lot of the Concord street."

In accordance with that opinion the Auditorium commission apportioned no money for the necessary grading and other work on the areas around the building.

At a public hearing before the city council a few weeks ago, the commission fully explained the whole matter and estimated that $60,000 would be needed for the work now contemplated. Mayor Brown has said he would recommend a city loan of $60,000, but with this the Auditorium commission has nothing to do. The money will be expended by the municipal department, same as any other loan for regular municipal department work.

IN ITS NEW QUARTERS LOCAL JEWELERS

Interesting and Valuable Library Features New Chamber of Commerce Rooms

Arrangements for first meetings of the Lowell chamber of commerce, affiliated business organizations, and special committees, were completed today in the new quarters in rooms 302-308, third floor of the Fairburn building.

While the chamber officials have officially moved to their new location from the old Grosvenor block, the work of fitting up the rooms to meet the demands of the executive force is to be continued for several days to come, owing to numerous conveniences and additional equipment of a permanent nature necessary in the new quarters.

Workmen today were employed in one large room of the new quarters, fitting up wall fixtures and adding necessary working equipment. This room, the largest in the quarters, is to be occupied by the board of directors, special committees and other organizations that may desire to use it. A feature of this room, directly connected of course with the other executive offices, will be the chamber library, which contains many recent additions of books of an unusually interesting and instructive nature, particularly affecting the commercial life of the city and covering a wide range of business topics, data, memoranda and a wealth of official reports, and other descriptive, educational and generally instructive material covering many cities of the United States and the world.

Valuable references are Hendrick's Commercial Register of the United States, the New England business directory, the New England business directory, the 1922 auto blue book, Davidson's terribile blue book, hotel red book, Thomas' register of American manufacturers and "Who's Who in America."

There are several of city directories covering municipalities from Portland, Me. to San Diego, Cal. A list of numerous New England city telephone directories is also a feature of the large committee room library. Many other things of importance to the commercial and professional life of the industrial life of the city of Lowell are stored away here on ample shelves for the perusal of any citizen of Lowell.

The excellent lighting arrangements of the new chamber quarters are admirable in every way. One director called it "a first class daylight saving room."

Secretary-Manager George P. Wells was today busy with Assistant Secretary Edward J. Gallagher and members of the executive office forces, arranging furniture, tables, book cases, files and reports. A large quantity of stationery is to be kept in a nearby room, to be called "the storeroom." There will also be kept there other needed materials for carrying on the work of the chamber's various departments.

Arrangements are also being made for a room where dining materials can be placed in preparation for luncheons. The room will have a large water closet and arrangements for temporarily protecting all supplies of this kind in the food line. Tables may be used here, or shelves placed about the walls. In no case will an attempt be made to install full kitchen arrangements.

The chamber committee on committees will meet in the new quarters on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. A meeting of the directors is scheduled for next Monday, probably with a luncheon as an added attraction. The educational and Americanization committee plans to hold a meeting next Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

SUPPORT BILL

Frank Ricard and A. H. Abbott Represent Lowell Association at Hearing

Speak in Favor of Measure to Regulate Business of Jewelry Auctioneers

(Special to The Sun)
STATE HOUSE, Boston, March 2.—Frank Ricard, representing the Lowell chamber of commerce, and A. H. Abbott, president of the Lowell Retail Jewelers' association, were among those who appeared before a legislative committee on legal affairs yesterday in support of a bill to regulate the business of selling jewelry at auction.

The bill provides that the premises in which such auction sales are conducted, as well as the auctioneer, shall be licensed, and that no person shall be permitted to conduct the business of selling jewelry at auction unless he is a resident of the state. They told the committee that under the present law, which provides that the auctioneer only shall be licensed, it is possible for an out-of-state auctioneer, after his license has been revoked, to employ another auctioneer to go into his place of business and to conduct it in exactly the same manner as before. Since a licensed auctioneer is permitted to ply his trade anywhere in the Commonwealth, the bill is practically inoperative, and consequently there is no way to put an end to fraudulent sales under the present law.

The committee was told that in some of the local auction places pieces of glass which can be purchased at $5 per piece are sold at $100 per piece. Another favorite trick of the fake auctioneers, it was stated, is to put some article in an envelope, bearing fictitious name and address. Later, when a customer comes in and purchases an article for a fair amount of money, the auctioneer then opens the envelope and shows the customer the article, which is a cheap article, and explains to him that he has overbid, but since the proprietor is anxious to make things right with him, he will be permitted to purchase the article in the envelope at the balance of the amount due on the purchase. This is a very common trick, and the committee was told that it is a very serious matter, and that it is a very serious matter, and that it is a Startling stories of acute poverty, suffering for lack of the bare necessities of life, shortage of fuel, sickness and conditions fast approaching actual misery, with names, addresses, and exact conditions recorded on the books of the textile workers' relief committee organization at Trades and Labor hall, furnish proof in ample volume of conditions that exist in many sections of Lowell today as the result of uncertain textile business and lack of other employment.

RENEWS THREAT TO QUIT DAIL

Effort by Republicans to Shift Meetings of Dail to Mansion House Beaten

DUBLIN, March 2.—(By the Associated Press.) Another threat to withdraw from the Dail Eireann was made by Eamon de Valera today when Arthur Griffith, president of the Dail, refused to answer a question regarding plans for the future of the Rathfarnham dockyard at Queenstown, on which ground that this was strictly a national government work. Mr. de Valera declared the question was a test involving the supremacy of the Dail.

An effort by the republicans to shift the meetings of the Dail to the Mansion House so the public could attend, was defeated by a vote of 12 to 10. This motion was brought to indicate that Mr. de Valera's party expected a prolonged meeting of the Dail, while the Griffith supporters, on the other hand, desired to terminate the session today if possible.

Before adjourning for luncheon the Dail formally ratified the Ard Fheis agreement insofar as it concerned the null and void election to be held on the issue of the treaty and the constitution of the Free State.

SPECIAL COMMITTEE TOURS BASTILE

The public safety committee of the city council, accompanied by the acting superintendent, made a thorough tour of the Market street building this afternoon, to investigate conditions alleged to exist there. They visited the patrolmen's locker-room and wash room in the basement, the cell-room and offices on the street floor, and the upper stories of the building.

At the conclusion of their tour much comment on the poor conditions prevailing and a sentiment was voiced by some of the members in favor of the purchase of the Lowell jail. A few of the councilors have recently visited police headquarters in Lawrence, and state that the conditions there are excellent.

It was said that a meeting of the committee would be held later in the afternoon, at which the question of recommending the purchase of the jail property would be discussed, and, possibly, action taken.

The personnel of the committee is: Fred A. Sailer, chairman; Smith J. Adams, Frank McMahon, John J. McFadden, Peter P. McEntinmen, Daniel J. Moriarty and John J. Quennan.

DEBATE ON FOUR POWER TREATY

13 Democrats Voted for Ratification of Yap Treaty—Three Republicans Against

WASHINGTON, March 2.—A prolonged debate was in prospect when the senate opened discussion today on the four power Pacific treaty regarded as the pivotal agreement of the arms conference series. The treaty was called up late yesterday immediately after the senate had ratified with reservation the Yap treaty by Japan by a vote of 67 to 22 in which the 32 democrats present divided 18 for ratification and 14 against, while only three republicans voted in the negative.

The administration managers said they expected to lose "very few" of the votes they commanded yesterday in the subsequent ratification roll call, while the "irreconcilables" predicted that the lineup on the four power treaty would show at least seven and probably more who voted for the Yap

Does Not Have to Pay Woman Part of $108,000 Claimed as Commission

NEW YORK, March 2.—Mary Pickford does not have to pay Mrs. Corn C. Wilkenning any part of the $108,000 which Mrs. Wilkenning claims was her due as commission for getting the film star a raise to $10,000 a week. This was the verdict of a federal jury, returned last night and unsealed today before Federal Judge Mack.

Neither Mary nor her husband, Douglas Fairbanks, were in court when the verdict was announced, their counsel rushed to the telephone to acquaint her with the news at her hotel.

Counsel for Mrs. Wilkenning filed notice of an appeal.

In her hotel suite, the screen star said she had spent $300,000 in fighting Mrs. Wilkenning's effort to obtain $108,000 of her money. The trial here this week was the third in the case.

"I feel sorry for Mrs. Wilkenning," said Mary, "but I never have settled a claim when it was in the right and I never will."

WINTER HOLDS FAST

Today's Storm Adds to Blanket That Has Covered City Since Last November

Another snowstorm that failed to come up to early expectations hit the city and suburbs early this morning shortly after 3 o'clock, cluttering up the streets and sidewalks most of the morning without doing any particular damage or interfering greatly with traffic conditions anywhere.

The storm abated shortly before noon, with the sun struggling to peep from light clouds that covered the sky. It was warm enough this afternoon for rain if the storm gathered any force, but weather prognosticators say the slowly rising temperature prevents the snow from melting.

DRIVE ON RUM-RUNNERS

Dry Agents Being Transferred to Florida for Concentrated Campaign

WASHINGTON, March 2.—Prohibition enforcement agents are being transferred from various states to Florida for a concentrated campaign against liquor smugglers along the coast of the peninsula.

High treasury officials declared that a difficult problem was facing the government in connection with rum-running on the Florida coast. One peculiar difficulty, they explained, lay in the fact that great expanses of shallow water along the coast made it possible for smugglers to hide illicit cargoes of liquor on the bottom of the sea upon the approach of authorities.

This practice is followed to such extent, it was said, that the Florida shallows were almost carpeted with whiskey and rum.

ATTEMPTS VIOLENCE ARMED WITH HAMMER

Armed with a hammer and declaring that he had already killed two men and was about to kill another, John G. Delano, aged about 55, a Tewksbury farmer, attempted to force an entrance to the state infirmary in Tewksbury, early this morning. The object of his search was the superintendent of the infirmary, Dr. Nichols.

Delano was taken in charge by Officer Anthony G. Kelly and brought to local police headquarters. His brother was expected to come to the station this afternoon, when Dr. M. A. Tighe was to examine the prisoner for symptoms of insanity. It is said that Delano has acted in a peculiar manner for a long time.

AGREEMENT ON BONUS PLAN

Sub-committee of House Agrees to Eliminate Cash Feature of Bonus

Exception in Case of Men Whose Adjusted Service Pay Would Not Exceed $50

WASHINGTON, March 2.—Unanimous agreement to eliminate the cash feature of the soldiers' bonus except in the case of men whose adjusted service pay would not exceed $50, was reported today by the special subcommittee of republicans of the house ways and means committee, to which the whole bonus question was referred yesterday.

In lieu of cash for the other service men, it was agreed to add a new provision to the bonus bill under which the men accepting adjusted service certificates could borrow immediately on the certificate from banks a sum equal to 50 per cent of the total adjusted service pay, computed at the rate of $1 a day for domestic service and $1.25 a day for foreign service.

Chairman Fordney said this plan was expected to meet with general approval since it enabled the soldiers who may be in need to obtain cash immediately after the issuance of the certificate.

WILL PRESENT BUDGET

1922 Estimates and Recommendations Will Go to City Council for Passage

Presentation of the budget for the year will be the main business to come before tonight's meeting of the city council. A bill calling for a $50,000 loan to be used by the sewer department will be presented in all probability, its passage is practically assured upon presentation. Councilor Gallagher said this morning that he expected final action would be taken upon his recommendation to close Anne street from Merrimack to French street to be set aside for a park.

This order has already been sent in and if it is carried will mean work can be started in ripping up sidewalks and the like. It would afford an opportunity for the use of some of the $30,000 relief fund.

Mayor Brown said this morning that he did not intend to send down any more appointments to the council tonight. In addition to the usual routine matters five jurors will be drawn for the criminal session of superior court.

RAIN TO FOLLOW SNOW

BOSTON, March 2.—Commuters pleaded to their misfortune today through the second heavy snowstorm of the week. The fall, which began early this morning, exceeded four inches during the forenoon, but the weather bureau predicted that the snow would give way to sleet or rain later in the day. Railroads and trolley lines experienced no trouble.

BOARD OF INSPECTION APPOINTED TO PROBE BATTERY B SHORTAGE

Missing Equipment, Said to Belong to Lowell Artillery Unit, Valued at $2500---No Charge Preferred Against Capt. MacBrayne Who States That Missing Property Is in the Hands of the Members Who Do Not Attend the Drills

(Special to The Sun)

BOSTON, March 2.—A shortage in government property amounting to $2500 has been discovered in Battery B, 102nd Field Artillery, of Lowell, and a board of inspection has been authorized, through the adjutant general's department, to fix responsibility.

The shortage was discovered when the former battery commander, Capt. Winfred C. MacBrayne, turned the battery property over to his successor, Capt. George J. Faneuf. Uniforms, pistols and other small equipment were found to be missing. No charge has been made against Capt. MacBrayne. Should the board of inquiry find that the shortage is due to negligence in caring for the property, Capt. MacBrayne will be called upon to reimburse the government for the full amount. Adj. Gen. Stevens stated today.

HOYT.

MacBrayne's Statement

Relative to the report that state and federal inspectors have been conducting examinations of Battery B property for several weeks and have found about $2000 worth of property missing, former Captain MacBrayne states that it is composed of equipment held by men who are members of the battery but who do not attend drills. There are between 40 and 50 of these, he says, and they are breaking the rules of the battery by holding this property, which consists of wearing apparel, guns and a few minor articles.

Lieut. Faneuf is preparing a list of those who have this property in their possession, and the list will be turned over to the acting superintendent in due time.

Steamer Rushes to Aid Norwegian Freighter Sinking Off Cape Race

BOSTON, March 2.—The Norwegian freighter Grontoft was reported sinking about 500 miles southeast of Cape Race, in radio messages received here today. Her lifeboats had been smashed, the steamer West Keber reported. The steamer Estonia was proceeding to her assistance. The Grontoft was bound from New Orleans for Esbjerg.

The Estonia was said to be 40 miles from the sinking steamer and proceeding to her at a rate of six knots an hour. The Grontoft is a vessel of 1200 tons, and carries a crew of about 20 men.

MOONSHINERS CALLED

Four illicit liquor manufacturers arraigned in District Court Today

Four alleged moonshiners appeared in district court this morning as a result of the activities of the liquor enforcement officers yesterday afternoon and evening. Only one case was disposed of, however, the other three receiving continuances until later in the month. A near-beer sulton keeper was fined for illegal keeping, but entered an appeal.

Mike Konstantonis, charged with illegal keeping in connection with a raid in a house in Worthen place yesterday afternoon, where a still and quantity of moonshine were found, pleaded guilty and paid a fine of $100.

Philip Lallas, alias James Leonard, in whose house at 624 Market street a 125-gallon still of the most up to date type was found in operation by the police.

been affected by strike conditions. More than one unfortunate case of misery and poverty was reported to the textile workers' agents and added to the list of the Hamilton mills. The agents shut their entrance doors and posted notices of a complete shut-down and a reduction of wages when future operations were started.

At least a dozen cases of poverty, sickness and lack of the actual necessities of life and comfort were affected by the closing of the mills and now, with no employment ahead in any local textile mill and no prospects of relief from weekly wages, never high in some cases where employees were not fortunate enough to secure good-paying positions behind the machines of production, the blight of no funds and other safeguards for the preservation

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feel young; to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—phimphs—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you 50 per cent. of all sickness comes from liver and bowels. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, a well known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c and 30c.—Ad.

INGROWN TOE NAIL TURNS OUT ITSELF

A noted authority says that a few drops of "Goutro" upon the skin surrounding the ingrowing nail reduces inflammation and pain and its touchens the tender, sensitive skin underneath the toe nail, that it can not penetrate the flesh, and the nail turns naturally outward almost overnight.

"Goutro" is a harmless, antiseptic manufactured from vegetable oils. However, anyone can buy from the drug store a tiny bottle containing directions.—Ad.

TO REORGANIZE NAVAL RESERVE

Includes Provision for a Merchant Marine Reserve Section—Other Features

WASHINGTON, March 2.—Complete reorganization of the naval reserve is proposed in a tentative bill prepared by the navy department and forwarded to officials of the naval reserve association by Secretary Denby for consideration before it is presented to congress. Included in the proposed act is the provision for a merchant marine reserve section and for certain merchant ships to fly a reserve emblem.

The bill will abolish all existing naval or marine corps reserves and establish a naval reserve as a "component part" of the navy, consisting of three classes, the fleet reserve, the merchant marine naval reserve and the volunteer naval reserve.

All present members of the various classes of naval reserves, both officers and men, and the naval militia would be brought into the new systems, officers not to be above the rank of lieutenant commander, except for "a small percentage" in the rank of commander or captain in the recruiting organization training and mobilization of the naval reserve.

Enlistments in the reserve would be for four years while officers would hold their commissions "during the pleasure of the president."

Reservists of the first two classes could be ordered to duty as a volunteer in time of war or national emergency, but in time of peace could be called out only with their own consent, except for prescribing training. While on duty or in uniform, they would be subject to navy regulations and orders. The volunteer reserve would be liable for war duty only.

While on active duty, except training, they would receive the pay and allowances of their rank or grade in the regular service and a $100 clothing gratuity would go to each officer and enlisted man in the fleet reserve with an additional $50 allowance for each succeeding four years of service. In time of war every reserve officer would receive $160 for uniforms.

Any officer or enlisted man of the reserve injured in line of duty while on active training or volunteer service would be entitled to regular service benefits.

In war time reserve officers would be ranked next below the last regular officer in each rank, taking their own order of seniority of service in the regular service as a basis for promotion applying to the entire list.

In peace time the fleet reserve would be required to give 15 days' training service annually, receiving regular pay for that period. Those on actual flying duty for training would receive the navy flying pay scale.

Most reserve officers above the rank of lieutenant commander would receive $500 a year exclusive of training or active service pay.

Lieutenant commanders and officers of lower rank of the fleet reserve would be discharged into the volunteer reserve when 50 years of age, while commanders would go to the volunteer reserve at 55 years and captains at 60 years.

Officers and men of the merchant marine reserve, not on active duty with the navy, would receive a monthly base pay a year for performance of appropriate duties and would be transferred to the volunteer reserve or discharged within a year after they ceased to follow the sea. Officers would be eligible to honorary retirement without pay at 61 years and could be down by ships of 2500 tons or up designated as suitable for naval auxiliary service in war and when the master and 25 per cent. of the ship's officers and 10 per cent. of the crew were reservists.

about 20 cents a week. This man is without work and has no prospects of securing employment unless the Hamilton mills reopen and give him a chance to reenter his profession.

In Blakely street is a widow who is in destitute circumstances, thrown out of work by the closing of the mills, and who has a boy just recovering from infantile paralysis. It is a case that demands immediate attention and the textile relief workers have done what they could to give prompt aid for the time being and relieve to some extent the serious affliction that follows "no work and no savings."

Newhall street comes word of a widow with three children to support and no funds at hand to relieve the situation. The tenant rental here is $14.0 a week. One of the children is sick and there is a medical bill of several dollars yet to pay. Numerous other cases of widows with families to support are recorded at relief headquarters. One case in a line of an increased rental of $3.50, bringing the present figure to $5 with no reduction because the man has lost employment. The case is in Fayette street.

In Auburn street a woman who formerly earned $21 weekly is out of work and practically without funds. Fuel supplies are scarce here and the pantry contains but little food for future needs.

The workers in some local mills have not fared very well in the past two years, textile officials say. In the case of the Hamilton mills, from Jan. 3 to May 1, 1921, there was employment only three days a week. From May 1 to the month of July 1921, full time came. Then came a period of about seven weeks when three-day time schedules were again in force. The rest of the year work was on full time. The shut down of the Hamilton mills came on Feb. 18.

MAN ARRESTED WITH COULTHURST RELEASED

BOSTON, March 2.—Albert J. Walker, arrested in Worcester, yesterday, with Roger Coulthurst, a bookkeeper for the Hotel Touraine, who disappeared with a check for the hotel's $7400 payroll, was released today. The police said they were convinced that Walker was in no way at fault. Walker asserted that he had joined Coulthurst for a spree after he had been assured that a matured insurance policy was responsible for Coulthurst's sudden affluence. "Hereafter I'll paddle my own canoe," he assured the police.

Coulthurst, who had $7000 when he was arrested, pleaded not guilty to a larceny charge today and was held under $5000 for a hearing on March 9.

Hitchcock Opposes Pact
WASHINGTON, March 2.—Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, ranking demagogue of the senate foreign relations committee, declared in an address to the senate today opening debate on the four power Pacific treaty that he could not support it unless amendment or reservations were adopted to meet his objections.

Senator Hitchcock, opening the discussion, because he expects to be absent from the senate because he attacked what he described as the secrecy with which the four power treaty was negotiated. He declared he had voted for ratification of the Ypp treaty yesterday and would support the naval and Chinese treaties.

"But I have reluctantly come to the conclusion that I cannot vote for the ratification of the four power treaty unless changes are made by amendment or reservations are adopted to have certain objections removed," he added.

"This treaty was conceived in secrecy and its genesis suggests an old-fashioned and highly objectionable alliance."

The four power treaty, Senator Hitchcock said, was not in the arms conference call or on the agenda.

"Everything was done to keep public attention fixed on the naval negotiations, Chinese tariff and other matters, while there was a month of secret meetings on this treaty," he said.

Senator Hitchcock said he was innocent enough to believe "that his resolution, calling upon the president for information, would give results." Senator Borah of Idaho, republican, irreconcilable, entered the debate to declare that reservations could not meet the situation and that amendment would be required.

Senator France of Maryland, another republican "irreconcilable" also served definite notice of hostility to the treaty.

HIGH PRAISE FOR AMERICAN ARCHITECTS

PARIS, March 2.—The praises of American architects, whose work he describes as a "new art in the truest sense of the word," are sung by Geo. Wybo, a young French architect, in the columns of the Transatlantic.

The old skyscrapers of New York, he says, "are not always the happiest examples of architectural conception," but the newer office buildings erected within the last ten or 15 years are described as "impeccable in execution, well proportioned, possessing harmonious lines, with decorative elements of sober taste, construction of splendid materials finely fashioned."

The sight of these buildings caused the Frenchman to recognize the existence of a new art "in the truest sense of the word, an art capable of making us feel strong emotions similar to those awakened within us by the power and splendor of our cathedrals and certain monuments of the past in Europe."

Referring to the "tremendous temples of commerce," M. Wybo says, "all these buildings are different from one another, but each in its own style, in its construction, form and architectural lines is undeniably a masterpiece."

"It is regrettable that we French, so ready to welcome decadent art, do not even know the names of the decorators, sculptors and architects of modern New York. All these artists, working with intelligence and method, have progressively freed themselves from worn out conventions and, discarding simple elements of decoration, have succeeded rapidly in laying down the rules of an art of which we are seeing now only the early manifestations and, which, to our honor, is a direct emanation of our own French styles."

ADMITS HE WAS ONE OF ALCOHOL BANDITS

BOSTON, March 2.—Joseph J. Murphy, 38, of 78 Mattapan street, Mattapan, confessed to the state police yesterday that he was one of the three daylight bandits who drove up to the warehouse of the Suffolk Exporting company at 128 Sydney street, Cambridge, one afternoon two months ago and, after knocking the watchman senseless with the butt of a revolver, took away in an automobile truck 15 barrels of grain alcohol valued at $15,000.

As a result of the confession the Cambridge and state police took into custody and held under $10,000 bonds Daniel F. Durla, 35, who said he was a manufacturer, but whom the directory lists as a clerk, as being another of the bandits.

The third is still at large and the police are searching for him. Murphy was bailed in Cambridge late in the evening, but Durla was obliged to stay overnight at Station 2, that city. Both will be arraigned in the East Cambridge court today.

The bandits' act was one of the most daring since prohibition became a law of the land. The three drove to the warehouse on a snowy day and knocked on the door. The watchman answered and the visitors asked to see the manager. He was not at the warehouse, the watchman told them.

Some further conversation ensued and the watchman turned away from the door. As he did so one of the men struck him on the head with the butt of a revolver. The watchman fell senseless. The men tied him up and placed a piece of adhesive tape over his mouth. Then they loaded the alcohol onto a truck and drove off.

The watchman managed to work the plaster off his mouth some hours later and untied himself with his teeth. He then called the police. The police traced the truck's progress in the snow from the warehouse across Cottage Farm bridge and lost the tracks in the traffic of Commonwealth avenue.

Diligent search has been kept up since then till the present time for the bandits. Murphy's surrender and confession brought the case to a head yesterday.

HONOR LAST SON OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION

PITTSFIELD, March 2.—Dr. Crosby A. Perry, believed to be the only living son of the American Revolution, was elected a life member of Berkshire Chapter, S.A.R., yesterday in honor of his 84th birthday. A. J. Withersell of North Adams, president of the order, Judge Edward T. Slocum and Joseph D. Pelron of this city called at the home yesterday afternoon and made him the present of life membership with dues paid.

Last evening at a family dinner at which a big cake adorned with 84 candles was the center piece, made by Miss Grace A. Perry, his only daughter, ter, there were present Dr. Perry's eldest youngest sons, Carl S. Perry of Readsboro, Vt., the old home of the family, and Edward A. Perry of Amory street, Springfield, and also one of his five grandchildren, Crosby Perry, a namesake of his grandfather of this city.

Dr. Perry received many friends at the house at 149 Egmont avenue yesterday and an array of mail from all over the country, among the letters being one from William Kimbelfy Palmer of Chilopon, who recalled teaching a Sunday school class at the Five Points mission in New York city where Dr. Perry first saw and heard Abraham Lincoln. Dr. Perry was in splendid health and spirits yesterday and enjoyed every moment of his birthday.

READY FOR COAL STRIKE

Miners Quit Work on
April 1

CHICAGO, Mar. 2.—(By The Associated Press)—There will be no immediate suffering if coal operators and miners fail to reach an agreement by April 1, according to the United States Geological Survey and Bureau of Census.

The survey, as of January 1, 1922, showed 41 days' supply of bituminous coal on hand. Production has slightly exceeded consumption since January 1, according to operators' figures, and they indicate the country will have something more than a forty day supply by April 1.

The government figures show the distribution of principal industries and dealers. Artificial gas plants had

Home-made Remedy Stops Coughs Quickly

The best cough medicine you ever used. A family supply easily and quickly made. Saves about $2.

You might be surprised to know that the best thing you can use for a cough, is a remedy which is easily prepared at home in just a few moments. It's cheap, but for prompt results it beats anything else you ever tried. Usually stops the ordinary cough or chest cold in 24 hours. Tastes pleasant, too—children like it—and it is pure and good.

Four 2½ ounces of Pinex in a pint bottle, then fill it up with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup, if desired. Thus you make a full pint—a family supply—but costing no more than a small bottle of ready-made cough syrup.

And as a cough medicine, there is really nothing better to be had at any price. It goes right to the spot and gives quick, lasting relief. It promptly heals the inflamed membranes that line the throat and air passages, stops the annoying throat tickle, loosens the phlegm, and soon your cough stops entirely. Splendid for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway pine extract, famous for its healing effect on the membranes. To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

MOTHER!

Move Child's Bowels with "California Fig Syrup"

Many mothers. Even a sick child love the "fruity" taste of "California Fig Syrup" and it never fails to open the bowels. A teaspoonful today may prevent a sick child tomorrow. It cures constipation, biliousness, feverish, fretful, hot, cold, colic, or if stomach is sour, tongue coated, breath bad, remember a good cleansing of the little bowels is often all that is necessary.

Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! You must use "California" or you may get an imitation of the syrup—Ally.

GIRLS! GROW THICK

LONG, HEAVY HAIR

WITH "DANDERINE"

Buy a 25-cent bottle of "Danderine." One application ends all dandruff, stops itching and falling hair, and in a few moments, you have doubled the beauty of your hair. It will appear a mass, soft, lustrous, and easy to do up. But what will please you most will be after a few weeks use when you see new hair—yes, but really new hair, growing all over the scalp. "Danderine" is to the hair what frost-free is to the roses. It keeps the hair from becoming thin, lifeless, faded, and grows long, thick, heavy and lustrous. —Ally.

WETS AND DRIES IN HOT

CONFLICT IN POLAND

WARSAW, March 2.—The "wets" and "drys" are having a hot conflict over proposals to restrict the use of intoxicants in Poland. The movement for more rigid control over the use of liquor is becoming more active. Newspapers are full of discussions of the question and there are numerous lectures on alcoholism while moving pictures are shown to promote the reform movement.

The example of America is continuously cited with heated arguments as to whether prohibition is effective in that country.

The "drys" advocate a regulation cutting down the number of places where liquor is sold by restricting them to one for over 2,500 of population. Another proposal would abolish all places where liquor alone is sold but grant permits to cafes and restaurants.

A steady dry movement has been going on for some time in the national parliament and the debates there have lately been made more heated by enforcement of an ordinance establishing a dry Sunday in Warsaw. It forbids the sale of liquors from Saturday noon to Monday noon and is being enforced by the Warsaw police with an iron hand, despite the protests of cafe and restaurant proprietors.

One of the active figures in the campaign is General Joseph Haller, president of the Polish Red Cross and Polish Boy Scouts, who organized and commanded the famous Haller army in which thousands of American volunteers of Polish blood fought in 1917 and 1918.

General Haller is now leading a fight against raising the percentage of alcohol in beer. This is now fixed at two and one-half per cent. The brewers have consented to this restriction. Poland has just put a tax of 20 per cent. on all retail liquor stocks. Polish law makes a liquor dealer assume the responsibility for drunkenness by providing that when an intoxicated person is arrested, the proprietor of the place in which he purchased his intoxicants must go along with him to jail.

DON'T BE SWINDLED!

Following Article by Economist Contains Both Warning and Advice.

(By N. E. A. Service)

NEW YORK, March 2.—"How can I safely invest my savings?"

This question is being asked by hundreds of thousands who see the nation entering a new era of "frenzied finance"—and are dared by fellows of brokerage firms, investigation of bucket shops by the district attorney of New York and other cities, the revelation of another "Ponzi" in Chicago, and the exposure of Florida wire tapping clean-ups and other get-rich-quick "sucker" schemes.

Thirty-one firms of stock brokers have failed in Wall Street alone during the last three months with total losses approximating $26,000,000.

To help the small investor steer safely through the financial fog N. E. A. Service asked Dr. B. M. Anderson, economist of the Chase National Bank of New York, to write "The A. B. C. of Investment," an article containing both warning and advice.

By B. M. ANDERSON, Jr., Ph. D. Economist, Chase National Bank, N. Y. The small "investor" who tries to make 15 per cent. on his money is not an investor. He is a speculator. The agent who solicits the funds of small investors promising them a return of 10, 15 or 20 per cent. or more on a "sure" investment is, consciously or unconsciously, misrepresenting facts. Sure investments paying 10 per cent. or more are exceedingly unusual and, when genuine, are almost never offered to the general public.

It is often well worth while for the man who can afford to lose money to take chances on speculative new promotions. Industrial progress comes as new enterprises are started. But even the best-planned new enterprises do not always make good, and the small investor who cannot afford to lose his money should not be called upon to take these chances. Moreover, a very high proportion of the securities promising great returns which are offered to the small investor by solicitors are issued by untrained and over-optimistic men, while a very substantial number of them are outright frauds.

Plenty of Opportunities

The small investor need not lose his money. He has plenty of opportunities which combine virtually absolute safety with substantial income. The bonds of the United States government and the bonds of virtually all our states and better municipalities may be bought, of course, without hesitation. United States government bonds can be bought in denominations as small as $50 each.

There are, of course, savings banks almost everywhere, well regulated and dependable. There are local savings and loan, or building and loan, associations whose management and trustworthiness the small investor can investigate for himself.

In most communities, and particularly in the small communities, the small investor has opportunities to buy real estate mortgages where he can personally inspect the properties mortgaged, can personally inspect the title to the land (or have it investigated at the borrower's expense by competent experts), can personally see to it that insurance premiums and taxes on the property are paid, and that proper repairs are made. Railroad Bonds

There are, moreover, a very large number of railroad bonds and industrial bonds which bring a greater return than do the bonds of the United States government, with practically absolute safety. In choosing these the small investor should consult his local banker.

To a very large degree the bankers of the United States have come to realize that they have a public duty in the matter of advising small investors. The working woman with a few hundred dollars to invest may today come to the bond department of a great city bank with confidence that she will receive a courteous reception and painstaking, conscientious advice.

Investors' Desires

As a general rule the investor wishes three things—(1) absolute safety, (2) as high a yield as possible, and, (3) a marketable investment that is, one which he can quickly turn into cash if he needs it.

These three things do not usually go together. A bond which is absolutely safe and instantly marketable will not yield anything like so much as a stock with a narrow market and with uncertain future earnings.

A real estate mortgage will yield a higher return than a highly marketable bond because no matter how safe it is not likely that the holder of the mortgage can quickly turn it into cash in an emergency. Sometimes he can sell it, and sometimes he cannot. In many cases conditions are such that he must expect to hold it to maturity.

The small investor who does not need to convert his principal into cash in a hurry may safely aim at a higher yield than the small investor who feels he may need his principal back on short notice.

SUCCEEDS WHERE DOCTORS FAIL

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Often Does That.—Read Mrs. Miner's Testimony

Churubusco, N. Y.—"I was under the doctor's care for over five years for backache and had no relief from his medicine. One day a neighbor told me about your Vegetable Compound and I took it. It helped me so much that I wish to advise all women to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for female troubles and backache." It is a great help in carrying a child, as I have noticed a difference when I didn't take it. I thank you for this medicine and if I ever come to this point again I do not want to be without the Vegetable Compound. I give you permission to publish this letter so that all women can take my advice."—Mrs. FRED MINER, Box 102, Churubusco, N. Y.

It's the same story over again. Women suffer from ailments for years. They try doctors and different medicines, but feel no better. Finally they take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and you can see its value in the case of Mrs. Miner.

That's the truth of the matter. If you are suffering from any of the troubles women have, you ought to try this medicine. It can be taken in safety by young or old, as it contains no harmful drugs.

Blankets will stay soft and fleecy washed this way, says famous woolen manufacturer

Lever Bros. Co.,
Cambridge, Mass.
Gentlemen:

We picked out several of our finest blankets and had them washed in Lux. Each blanket was given the number of launderings it would normally receive.

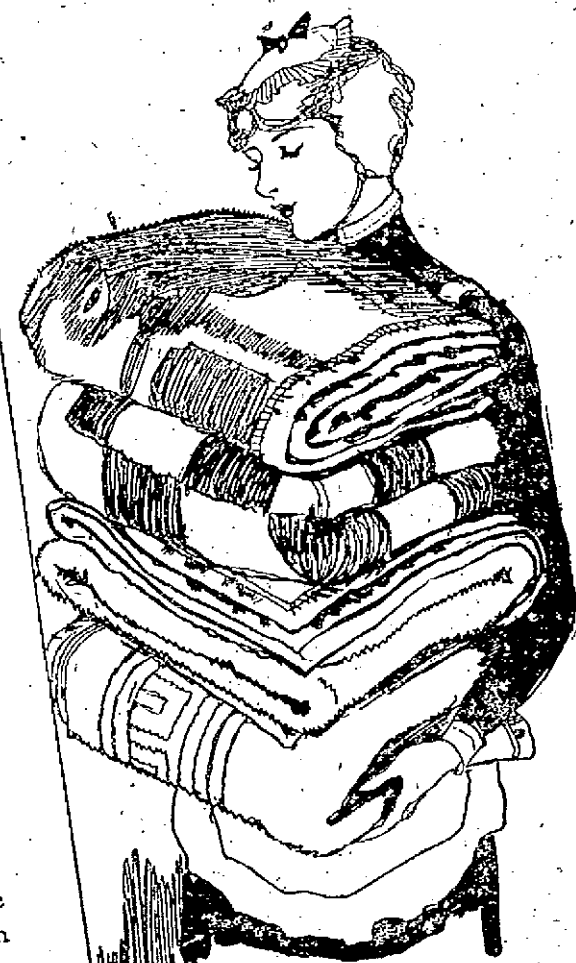

The blankets were still soft and fleecy at the end of the washings. They showed no signs of yellowing or spotting and the colored stripes and fancy borders did not run.

There was a complete absence of the little balls of matted wool that make a blanket lumpy in texture. Washing with a strong soap will mat woolens in this way.

We attribute the satisfactory results we obtained with Lux only in part to the fact that its flake form does away with rubbing. Even more important to our minds is its absolute purity and mildness. It will cleanse the finest woolen with entire safety.

Very truly yours,

J. P. Russell
THE NORTH STAR WOOLEN MILL CO.

UPSET STOMACH

In five minutes "Pape's Diapepsin" ends

Sourness Acidity Palpitation

"Pape's Diapepsin" relieves stomach distress in five minutes. You don't want a slow remedy when your stomach is in a bad way or an uncertain one. A harmful one—your stomach is too valuable; you mustn't injure it with drastic drugs. Pape's Diapepsin is noted for its speed in giving relief, its harmlessness, its certain action in regulating sick, sour, gassy stomachs. Keep this perfect stomach doctor in your home—keep it handy—not a large 50-cent case from any drug store, and then if you should eat something which doesn't agree with you, if what you eat lies like lead, ferments and sours and forms gas, causes headache, dizziness and nausea, eruptions of skin and undigested food—remember, as soon as Pape's Diapepsin comes in contact with the stomach all indigestion vanishes. It is the most efficient antacid known—the certainty and ease with which it overcomes stomach and digestive disorders is a revelation to those who try it.—Ally.

RUFFLES AND BIG HATS

BY MARIAN HALE.

NEW YORK, March 2.—Ruffles and big hats! What could be more delightfully summer-like? Claire gives us a very clever combination of the two in this frock of white silk crepe and the large straw hat thickly clustered with colorful fruits and flowers. The frock is an exceedingly girlish thing with a very full skirt and the new and very popular light bodice. Ruffles finish the neck and sleeves as well as border the skirt. Nestled in the ruffles of the skirt one finds a new and really lovely touch; small bunches of brightly colored flowers. At the left side of the waistline one finds another cluster of flowers, a charming accent, for it is quite true that small waists are being accented this season!

The hat, like so many of the smartest hats shown for mid-summer wear, is of lavender straw, soft and pliable. It droops slightly and is heavily ornamented with flowers, fruits and foliage of pastel tints.

An abundance of trimming, very colorful trimming, is being used on all of the newer hats intended for summer wear. Grasses dotted with yellow flowers are often used effectively on large black hats fashioned of fine braids.

ANNUAL REPORT

Growth of American Telephone Co. in 1921 Reviewed

President H. B. Thayer's annual report of the past year's work of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. and the situation at the present time as affecting the future, has just been issued. The report covering the year ending December 31.

The twelve months of 1921 was a year of real progress, the telephone president reports. Stock issues added materially in the strength of the company's financial structure. New applications for service were in most cases attended to with promptness and dispatch. The quality of both exchange and toll service steadily improved; the efficiency of the whole operating force increased and is increasing, the president also declares.

The report indicates that the value of the property of the Bell system companies is much in excess of the book figures and that the 5 per cent. earned last year on the book cost of their plant enabled the corporation to show 1.1 per cent. earnings on its outstanding capital stock. The policy of the Bell System to cooperate with and aid regulatory bodies is reaffirmed in the report on the promise that the real interests of the company and its patrons are identical and in regulation by commission is of obvious benefit to both.

The report shows that the Bell system, after meeting all operating expenses and making adequate provision for depreciation and obsolescence, and for federal and other taxes, had available for interest and dividends $73,526,900.51.

STATE SENATE PASSES INSURANCE BILL

BOSTON, March 2.—The state senate yesterday passed to be engrossed a bill to enlarge the field of securities in which insurance companies may invest their money. An amendment to permit Massachusetts companies to invest in the securities of foreign concerns was rejected by a roll-call vote of 13 to 16. By a standing vote of 13 to 3 the senate rejected another proposed amendment providing that the insurance companies must not invest in the bonds of any subsidiary company of the American Telephone and Telegraph company, unless both the principal and interest of the bonds are guaranteed by the parent company.

Senator Parkhurst, of Worcester, sought to have the bill referred to the next annual session, so that the matter might be investigated by a special committee appointed by the governor. That motion was defeated by a standing vote of 17 to 10.

The senate postponed until next Tuesday consideration of the adverse committee report on the petition for an investigation of the rates and charges of the New England Telephone and Telegraph company. The house has already accepted the adverse report.

The bill to prohibit the use of scented bait in traps and snares was ordered to a third reading.

An opinion was received from Atty. Gen. J. Weston Allen on the bill to provide for the retail sale of ice by ticket. The attorney general had been asked to pass on the constitutionality of the proposed measure. He stated in his communication that with certain changes the bill would be constitutional. He recommended that provision be made so that the ice may be sold either on payment of money or for tickets.

Increases the action of the intestines

Hundreds of men and women have already found freedom from laxatives by eating Fleischmann's fresh yeast.

Doctors are now agreed that proper elimination of waste matter should be brought about by food. One doctor comes right out and states plainly that the indiscriminate use of cathartics is one of the causes of constipation.

Physicians all over the country are recommending Fleischmann's fresh yeast because it is a fresh food, rich in those elements which keep the intestines healthy. In one series of tested cases, normal functions were restored in from 3 days to 5 weeks.

Try it out for yourself. Begin today by adding 2 or 3 cakes of Fleischmann's Yeast to your everyday diet. Keep it up and see how normally and regularly your intestines act. Be sure it's Fleischmann's Yeast—the familiar in-fall package with the yellow label. Place a standing order with your grocer.

FORMAL OPENING TODAY

Cole's Inn Ready to Cater to Needs of Lowell Men and Women

With a large dining-room, seating 80 persons comfortably, a splendid cuisine equipped with the very latest devices for preparing food, a cafeteria of ample proportions where food will be served according to the self-service style—placed on the counter directly from its own kitchen—an up-to-date candy and soda shop, and 43 bed chambers neatly and attractively furnished, Cole's Inn was opened for public inspection at noon today.

Beginning with the cafeteria in the basement and traveling by easy stages to the upper story, the entire hostelry manifests great zeal in the direction of offering every comfort, the best of service and, above all, the establishment's motto, "Quality," to its guests. Everything is in perfect shape, without the slightest indication of ostentation.

The cafeteria is an ideal place for those who wish to secure lunches in short order and at the same time enjoy most of the advantages of the regulation restaurant. Among the room's furnishings are 25 black carrara top tables, at which four persons may sit, and a long semi-circular counter where, beginning at the right, the diner, securing a tray, may pass along to the left, taking whatever food appeals to him, paying the cashier at the extreme left for the various articles of food he has chosen.

On the street floor is the little candy and soda shop which has been in operation for some time, where candy of every description, made on the premises, and sodas and drinks of all kinds, with ice cream of home manufacture, may be purchased.

On the second floor are the office and dining-room, with lavatories at either end of the office and a large, splendidly equipped kitchen in the rear of the dining-room. Tables covered with snowy-white linen are attractively arranged in the dining-room, and 80 persons may dine at one time without crowding. A corps of experienced waitresses has been secured and will be at the service of patrons at all times. Tableware, and silver, are of beautiful design, and, together with the immaculate whiteness of the table covers, make the dining-room a delightful place in which to satisfy the appetite.

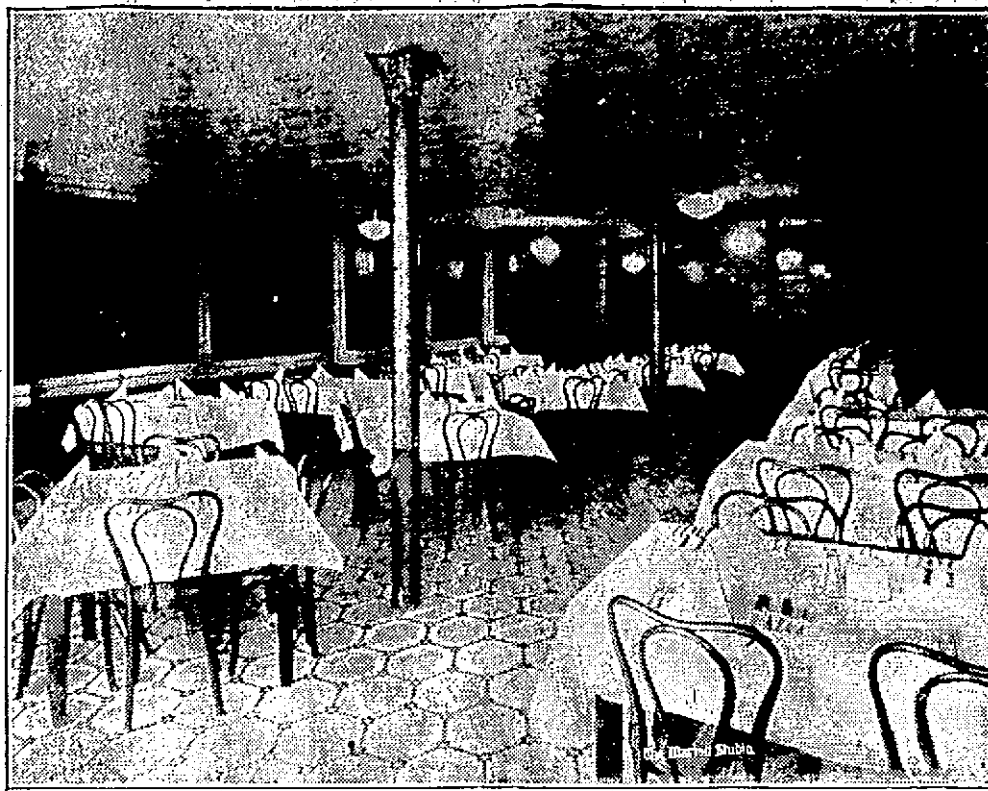

On the third, fourth and fifth floors are the sleeping-rooms, all of them equipped with beds, chiffoniers and chair of mahogany finish. Silk floor mattresses have been placed on all the beds, and the coverings and pillow cases are of the same fine quality.

Frederick F. Meloy was the general contractor.

The excellent painting throughout the Inn is the work of Dwyer & Co. The ceilings were installed by the Lowell Metal Ceiling Co., the electrical work by Harry F. Harding, the plumbing by Quigley & Harrington, and the refrigerating plant was installed by Coffey & Halloran.

The two large kitchens present an attractive spectacle. The main kitchen, in the rear of the dining-room, is equipped with everything that may be required to lend efficiency and uniformity to the preparation of food, and the cafeteria kitchen in the basement is similarly equipped. In both places are patent steam heaters, for vegetables and other foods, and automatic washing machines for the tableware. In the rear of the basement is a large ice box, about ten feet high and the same dimensions in width and depth.

parts of the hostelry through a 1000-gallon tank. In the extreme rear is the ice cream room, with a capacity of about 120 gallons an hour. General Manager Harry A. Cole states that the standard of the establishment will be of the highest and that the motto of the proprietors is to do not only service but "Quality." The new Inn is under control of a corporation, of which John W. Cole is president, D. W. McKenzie, a wholesale grocer, treasurer, and C. H. Willis, proprietor of the Lowell Public Market, assistant treasurer. It is fireproof throughout, or as nearly so as it has been possible to make it. The corporation is now working on the construction of a new candy factory on Church street, for the present accommodations are far too small.

At the opening, which took place at noon today, music was furnished by a string orchestra, and music will be supplied by the orchestra this evening as well.

TO ERECT MONUMENTS TO AMERICANS IN EUROPE

WASHINGTON, March 2.—Erection of nine monuments in Europe to mark places of special interest and historical importance in the service of the American Expeditionary Forces is contemplated in the memorial plans of the war department for which President Harding has recommended legislation by congress. In addition to the more than 100 war monuments proposed.

These monuments of artists design would mark the following places: The spot where the first American soldier was killed in Europe; where the first American soldier was wounded at the front; area of German raid on First division, Nov. 2, 1917, during which first American soldier was killed in action and first American soldier was captured; first sector held by an American division acting as a unit; where 11th engineers fought at Cambrai; sector held by Sixth engineers March 21, 1918, during German offensive; important actions of the 389th, 770th, 371st and 372nd American regiments while serving with the French; point near Casarza, Italy, where 332nd in-

MINIATURE TANNERY

Forerunner of Science to Teach Proper Preparation of Leathers in U. S.

NEW YORK, March 2.—Although reputed to be the smallest tannery in the world, occupying a space no larger than the top of a large library table, Columbia university's tanning room is the probable forerunner of a school to teach the proper preparation of leathers in this country.

Prof. Arthur W. Thomas, who is in charge, said today the miniature tannery was planned to bring to the front the importance of scientific research in the matter of leather dressing. American tanneries, he said, are far behind other industries in the matter of scientific knowledge in their own field. Arthur A. Gallun, a wealthy tanner of Milwaukee, who died last year, left the fund with which the Columbia tannery was founded.

Miniature machinery, complete in every detail, is operated in the diminutive laboratory, and hides are worked over in their powdered form. All phases of the tanning industry, particularly in relation to the manufacture of shoes, are being investigated.

Sessions of Dail Eireann
Strengthen Position of Provisional Government

DUBLIN, March 2 (By the Associated Press).—Numerous clashes occurred again in the Dail Eireann yesterday, the feeling running high.

Mr. De Valera continued to press for recognition of the Dail's supremacy, but the minister of the provisional government held firmly that they were supreme, and responsible only to the Irish people.

Divisions continue to show there is no doubt that Griffith is in control. Observers expressed the opinion last night that the net result of the two days' debate has been to strengthen the hands of the provisional government and increase public confidence in their ability to handle the situation.

Albany, N. Y.—"I have been wonderfully helped by taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Luring expectancy my health was very bad. I became so weak and all run-down that I could not get around to do anything—just had to lie around all the time. I decided to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and by the time I had taken about one bottle I was able to be around and do my work. I got along fine after that, never having any more trouble. I had practically no suffering and my child was very healthy. Always since that experience, whenever I feel the least bit run-down or in need of a tonic I take a bottle of Favorite Prescription and it makes me feel fine."

In the course of a long debate on the election machinery, Mr. Griffith maintained his determination to hold the elections as planned. Three months hence and on the old register.

The members of the provisional government displayed intense impatience at the tedious debates, which they call an appalling waste of time. They have much work to do in connection with getting the Free State established and are eager to get on with it.

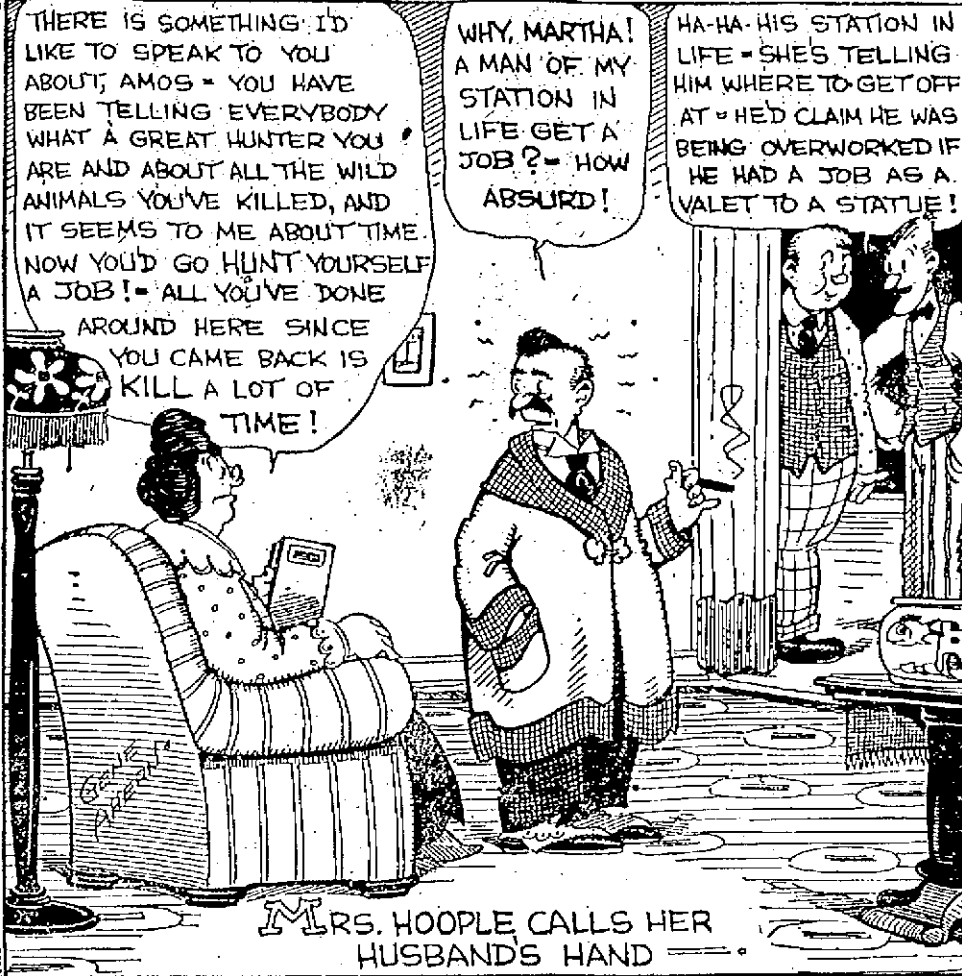

Mr. Collins, on adjournment, bitterly reproached his opponents for failing to submit a single constructive idea. The finance minister's feats of endurance amaze his associates. He works daily until 2 or 3 o'clock in the morning, getting only four or five hours' sleep. The nature of the work of the provisional ministers, Mr. Collins informed the Associated Press correspondents, was so complicated and delicate that it could not be delegated to subordinates.

Mr. Griffith offered a resolution, which was seconded by Mr. De Valera, authorizing the Dail funds to be kept as an account in the names of three trustees. Mr. Collins explained that in war conditions the money had been lodged for safety in various names in order to avoid seizure, but that now, on account of the treaty, the money could be regularly lodged in the names of trustees. The resolution was adopted unanimously.

SEA HERO SEEKS WORK

Only American Wounded by Huns in American Waters
• Makes Appeal

BOSTON, March 2—Charles Alnsleigh, said to be the only American wounded by the Germans in American waters during the World war, for weeks has sought employment and today appealed for a chance to work to support his family.

Alnsleigh was captain of the coal barge Lansford, sunk off Cape Cod by a German submarine on July 1, 1918. He is father of "Jack" Alnsleigh, 19 year old hero, who waved the American flag from the tug in defiance of the Germans. For a year Captain Alnsleigh was treated in hospitals. Then he got a job in the Victory Shipbuilding plant at Quincy, but since that closed he has worked wherever he could, without steady employment. Captain Alnsleigh is a native of Richmond, Va. He has a wife and two boys living in Quincy.

SURVEY OF CITY NEARLY COMPLETE

The tuberculosis survey started some time ago by the local and state health departments practically has been completed and, according to reports, more than 200 positive cases of the disease have been located in the city, while 250 people who have been in contact with persons suffering from the disease, have been examined.

Those who were found to have any lung disease were advised to have an examination made by their family physician and to follow his directions, and in cases where financial conditions made such an examination impossible the patients were urged to submit to an examination at the city dispensary, where a tuberculosis clinic is being held every Tuesday from 4 to 8 and every Thursday from 4 to 7.

STATE CONSTABULARY HAS FIRST PRISONER

The new state constabulary brought first case into district court yesterday afternoon. The defendant was a Chelmsford man, Walter W. Edwards, arrested in West Chelmsford yesterday for operating an automobile without the required 1922 registration. The prisoner pleaded guilty and paid a fine of $5, as ordered by Judge Burleigh. The arresting officers were Sergeant R. E. Kimball and Patrolman Richard H. Mooney, Jr., both of whom are stationed in Framingham with Troop A.

TALKED ON ANCIENT AND CHURCH MUSIC

John A. O'Shea, supervisor of music in the Boston public schools, was the lecturer last evening at the third session of the class in music appreciation which is being conducted in high school hall by the state division of university extension under the auspices of the League of Catholic Women.

men. He prefaced his lecture with an appeal for a larger membership, commenting on the fact that Lawrence people seemed more appreciative of the course than people of this city. Although it was the intention to have in charge to take no further enrollments after last night, he said that one more week would be allowed members of the class to canvass for more pupils, and next Wednesday will be the last chance to enroll for the course.

Last night Mr. O'Shea lectured on "Ancient and Church Music," a topic which proved of decided interest.

Enrollments were taken by Mrs. J. J. Sullivan, chairman of the league's educational committee, and who will be prepared to receive others during the coming week.

Mr. Scheid Could Not Stay In Bed

Almost Choked From Catarrhal Cough. Cerizane Brought Relief

"I can recommend Cerizane for any sort of a cough." So said Mr. Herman Scheid, a skilled pattern weaver, who has been a resident of Clinton, Mass., for thirty-five years. He then went on to say: "I have had catarrh for the last fifteen years and off and on during the winter would have a very hard cough. The dripping of mucus almost choked me and I had to get out of bed to breathe. But the first bottle of Cerizane brought great relief, and by taking a little occasionally, I am kept free from catarrh and coughs."

Cerizane Cough Balm is one of the famous "Winsor" line of medicines. It is absolutely free from narcotics, chloroform or any harmful drug. Cerizane has been helping people for ninety-five years and it has never hurt any one.

FAVORABLE REPORT ON VETERANS' PREFERENCE

(Special to The Sun.)

BOSTON, March 2.—A bill to give disabled war veterans an absolute preference in all civil service appointments is to be reported favorably by the legislative committee on public service within a few days, a vote to that effect having been taken yesterday.

This year there were presented for the consideration of the committee a list of bills designed to give all veterans a preference, but after careful consideration, the committee has decided to limit its legislation to those who are disabled.

Its bill will provide that, in order to obtain the preference, the veteran must file the certificate of a reputable physician that he is actually disabled and that his disability is such as not to prevent a proper discharge of the duties of the position he seeks, and he must also furnish satisfactory proof that his condition of disability is due to wounds received while in the country's service.

On motion of Rep. Andrew P. Doyle of New Bedford, the house yesterday postponed until next Tuesday further consideration of the bill permitting cities and towns to license establishments in which soft drinks are to be sold. This bill was the subject last Monday of the first real debate of the present session in the lower branch.

Without debate, the house accepted a report of "leave to withdraw" on a petition asking that the state department of education be directed and reported as to the advisability of making religious education compulsory in the public schools.

rate of 4 1/2 per cent, compounded annually, would have a total face value of approximately $3.33 times the amount that would be received under the cash feature.

An amount equal to 50 per cent. of the total of the adjusted service pay could be borrowed from a bank immediately on issuance of the certificates with provision that if the sum thus obtained plus interest, was not repaid in three years, the bank could make demand on the federal treasury for the amount due. The government thus takes over and carries the loan. The hope that "the administration will not continue to procrastinate very much longer and will fulfill the promises made in the last national adjournment and pass the veterans' adjusted compensation bill without further delay" is expressed by Edwin S. Bettelheim, Jr., chairman of the national legislative committee of the veterans of foreign wars in a letter to President Harding, made public today.

2,000,000 Service Men Told

Mr. Bettelheim wrote the president that he was just in receipt of a report showing that 12,000 of the 30,000 former service men in Cuyahoga county, Ohio, who applied for the adjusted compensation voted by the state of Ohio were unemployed.

"If this is indicative of the conditions existing throughout the country," the letter said, "it would mean that approximately two million of the ex-service men are out of employment. How many of these are in desperate circumstances, would be hard to tell, but the report shows that a good many were unable to pay their rents and were dependent upon odd jobs and the good favor of others."

"This example from one of the larger counties in your home state is typical of the condition of the former service men throughout the country."

Liquor officers last evening, also a patent container to carry liquor on the person, pleaded not guilty and the case continued until March 18. The liquor seized at this place is said to be of extremely high proof, and the container gives forth an odor which tends to show that it has been used more than once.

The case of Louis Conomopoulos, who was arrested in connection with a raid at Noble's court, was continued until March 18 and the case continued until March 18. The liquor seized at this place is said to be of extremely high proof, and the container gives forth an odor which tends to show that it has been used more than once.

James J. Droney, a former liquor dealer on lower Broadway, who has been the proprietor of a near beer saloon on the same premises since the advent of prohibition, was fined $150 for illegal keeping and on his appeal from the court's finding was placed under $500 bonds for appearance before the district court. Officers testified that when raiding the place several weeks ago Droney was behind the bar and in an alleged intoxicated condition.

They alleged that when they entered the place, Droney poured the contents of two large glasses into the drain beneath the bar, but the glasses in getting hold of two small glasses which smelled strongly of liquor. They found three bottles with a small amount of what they considered liquor in the bottom of each and poured the contents into one bottle. Upon analysis they admitted that the sample showed an alcoholic content of 6.19 per cent.

Judge Bright said that he had made a rule some time ago to the effect that men who had kept their saloons open after the dry law went into effect would receive both imprisonment and fine. In Cambridge, however, the rule was not strictly enforced, and in his opinion there is no sense in ordering imprisonment if he is not sustained by the superior court. He asked what Lieut. Palmer, who was in charge of the raid, wanted him to do, saying he would impose the regular penalty if the officer desired. Lieut. Palmer said that under the conditions he would be satisfied with a fine, and the judge acted accordingly.

Victor L. Mason, Hugh Muldoon and John Sarandakos were called upon in answer to a connection with the alleged theft of a large number of cartons, containing cigars from cars in the yards of the N.Y. N.H. and Hartford. Mason and Muldoon were in the dock, but Sarandakos, who failed to appear when the case was first called last week, was still absent. A further continuance was granted the defendants until March 15, with bail reduced from $2000 to $1000 each, in order that they could secure their liberation in the meantime. A flock of witnesses were present on behalf of the railway and were ordered to appear on the 15th.

William P. Cogger was charged with an assault on Hubert Lafleur, the outcome of an automobile collision on Smith street. It developed that Lafleur, driving his father Patrick Cogger and Peter F. Kenney, was approaching Westford street in a touring car when the collision and the alleged assault occurred. Lafleur was driving a truck in the opposite direction. Up to this point both sides agreed. The defendant's claim, backed by his passengers, was that he stopped his car when he realized that the other would turn out of the way in time to avoid a collision, but Lafleur attempted to pass, running into Cogger's fender. Lafleur, it was alleged, began calling Cogger impolite names. The defendant and his witnesses told an entirely different story. Lafleur said that the Cogger car was in motion at the time of the collision and did not stop until after it had occurred. He told of trying to get out of the rut in which he was running, saying that the street was filled with ruts. When the cars stopped after the collision he got out of the machine and went around to the front to look at the damage, bending over to see what had happened to his car and finding that one of the spokes in a wheel had been broken.

Complainant at the time and suddenly received a blow which knocked him on his back. He felt that there was no use of offering resistance, as he was alone.

A Mr. Dixon, who lives on Smith street, told of coming out of his house some distance away and seeing Lafleur hit and knocked down. He was too far away to hear the conversation, but was surprised to see the blow, as any words spoken were uttered in so quiet a manner as to prevent him from hearing them. Harry Priestly said that he saw the collision, and saw the front wheels of the defendant's machine move into the snow at the side of the road. The rear end, however, did not follow. He heard no conversation but saw the assault, which he related exactly as Mr. Dixon had previously described it. He was only a short distance from the machines.

Judge Bright said that he was satisfied that the complainant was responsible for the assault, having used foul language, but he was compelled to find the defendant guilty since he had no right to strike a blow. The case was placed on file, and the defendant ordered to pay the costs.

Without changing the vocational training, farm and home aid and land and settlement features of the Forney bill, it is contemplated under the new plan, committee members said to issue adjusted service certificates which, by the addition of 40 per cent. to the proposed adjusted service pay, plus interest on the total for 20 years at the rate of 4 1/2 per cent, compounded annually, would have a total face value of approximately $3.33 times the amount that would be received under the cash feature.

SENATOR WALSH'S SPEECH

Of course it was hardly to be expected that the Courier-Citizen, that has devoted so much ridicule to Senator Walsh on account of his middle name, would allow him to deliver an address here on any subject without delivering a Philippic against his attitude on public questions however impracticable.

In the first place, our neighbor alleges that in his address before the chamber of commerce, Senator Walsh "was heard at his characteristic best, both as to matter and manner," and then proceeds to criticize both in an effort to show that the senator is an "overrated man."

With all this we wholly disagree, as must everybody who heard the senator's speech and who is familiar with his usual style of oratory and especially with the power of eloquence he can wield in a prepared address.

The senator's address on Monday night was logical, patriotic and well delivered, although beyond question, he appeared at his worst both in matter and delivery and for the very best of reasons. He followed Mr. Herbert Adams Gibbons, a man of wonderful fluency and most intimate knowledge of affairs national and international, and of our policies, foreign and domestic. Most of them he discussed at such length that there seemed to be little left for the senator to say on any of these subjects. For this reason he had to face the difficulty of selecting some phases of our national policies that had not already been fully discussed by the preceding speaker. As a result his address was wholly extemporized and the fact that much of it was devoted to subjects touched by Mr. Gibbons, proved it to be such.

In the opinion of our neighbor apparently, this was poor stuff, yet it seemed to be very fully appreciated by the audience, if applause is any criterion, and the audience was certainly one far above the average intelligence. This was but a step to the climax of the address in which the senator declared his belief that the policy of imitating our own business, under which this republic had prospered since the days of Washington, should not be abandoned for one that would plunge us into the maelstrom of European politics and international jealousies. In this connection he said that while he favored extending economic aid and friendly guidance to Europe, "he would never vote to approve a political alliance with any foreign power and never sign any compact that pledges the United States to send its youth to defend imperialism in France, in England or any other nation on earth."

To this the editor of the Courier-Citizen objects that the opposition to such alliances is so well established as an American tradition that it is almost regarded as a part of our constitution and that the senator's "impassioned oratory" is not needed to ward off a danger that does not really exist. Our neighbor is here taking too much for granted and is misrepresenting the facts in advancing any such claim. For many years past, there has been an effort to form an alliance with England; and even Mr. Gibbons referred to the movement to have the English speaking nations rule the world. The League of Nations is but a recent example of such a danger; and now it is feared that the treaty for peace in the Pacific would bind us to defend the islands of Japan against attack.

It is against this very danger that Senator Brandegee, a staunch republican, submitted reservations to be appended as a condition of ratification of this treaty.

It is rather surprising that in dealing with the senator's speech, the Courier-Citizen devoted its attention to his stand against foreign alliances and overlooked his attack upon the tariff policy of the republican party. Thus the writer criticizes the senator on the matter of his speech and in so doing is palpably guilty of the fault it unfailingly attributes to him: "G. constancy, thou art a jewel of the deepest dye."

HITS AMERICAN VALUATION

P. C. Dumaine, treasurer of the Amoskeag Manufacturing Co., of Manchester, N. H., where one of the most serious wage wars in 21 years is now in progress, is emphatically opposed to certain measures looking to the relief of textile industries lately. At the same time, he desires better protection for American-made goods, but is unalterably opposed to the so-called "American valuation plan."

In a recent letter to the secretary of the National Retail Dry Goods association, Treasurer Dumaine states that the American valuation plan is "unbusinesslike, un-American, and, most important of all, dishonest, in that it deceives the public."

Mr. Dumaine goes further, and says: "Nearly a year has passed since the republican party came into power, and a tariff bill has failed as yet to be enacted. This delay is adding a heavy burden to business, already staggering under the strain of a most unusual period of adjustment."

"We need to be rid of embargoes and blooming clauses. The public demands that much; it will not sanction less and I fear for the party which refuses this to grant it."

"My business is to produce gingham, the most useful fabric in the world, and place them in the hands of the consumer at the lowest prices." We are passing through the severest period of liquidation ever known and it is part of your duty to see to it that these products are supplied into the hands of the people who use them, at the lowest possible prices consistent with good merchandising and a reasonable profit.

"Liquidation must be general and no one trade or vocation should be made to bear the whole burden if prosperity is to return to all of us. What is needed most now in business is volume, and, thereby, re-employment of every person desiring to work. This cannot be brought about unless each of us does his full share toward reducing margins and making prices which will enhance the purchasing power of the dollar and induce wide and full distribution of commodities."

There is much truth in what this mill man says in regard to the tariff and the responsibility of the republican party for delay and the haggling over new theories with the industries of the country suffer from delay. The American plan of valuation is so generally condemned that it should be dropped. It is the idea of Fordney, the new apostle of high protection, President Harding lacks the vision necessary to the prompt decision of such questions and hence congress continues to wrangle instead of following the counsel of a wise leader.

FOR TWENTY-YEAR TRUCE

Premier Lloyd George is out to secure a twenty-year truce against war to be binding on all the nations of Europe, including Germany and Russia.

It would be a great blessing to have even that comparatively brief period of peace maintained throughout the entire continent of Europe. Anybody who looks over the history of Europe will find that very rarely have all the component nations enjoyed continuous peace for a period of twenty or even ten years. There is always some country in a belligerent mood. For a long time the Balkans kept up a sort of warfare, Turkey did her share to maintain the excitement, while England, Germany and Russia have had various colonial wars which, however, passed without much notice.

Under present conditions, Europe is more unsettled than at any time previous to the great war. Russia is a potential source of trouble, as much of the original empire is now held under military force. Trotsky and Lenin have many schemes on foot for the extension of the Bolshevik regime, which means that countries on the border are liable to be plundered as was Russia and then left helpless with no protection against starvation.

Unless these soviet pirates get what they want from the other countries of Europe, they are liable to start border warfare, as it is only by keeping up some kind of anarchy that they can hold their followers. They cannot maintain stable government under peaceful conditions. They depend upon plunder and when everybody is plundered and has to look to the government for protection and support, then the hollowness of the professions of these socialistic dictators is revealed.

The other elements menacing peace are the Germans and the Turks. France is in deadly fear that the Germans will come back at her after a few years; but these fears are based upon her terrible experience in the world war.

If the old Germany could not conquer France and her allies, there is no danger that the new Germany can ever accomplish it. Moreover, we believe the Germans, like other people, have had all the war they want and that hereafter they will devote themselves to outdoing the other nations in the arts of peace.

We do not believe that it will be possible to get a truce of twenty years unless an agreement be made among the powers to maintain the peace by force, if necessary, as provided for in the League of Nations. But whether the idea is practical or not, it will do no harm to try it; and in this connection it will be a great victory for Lloyd George if he can secure any arrangement for such a truce. The suggestion of the ten-year holiday adopted by the armistice conference at Washington has undoubtedly influenced the British people to seek a similar success from the horrors of war through mutual agreement. If it can be accomplished, it will serve a great purpose and may be the first step toward the goal of universal peace, the dream of Woodrow Wilson, the vain ambition of the League of Nations and the hope of the well meaning nations of the world.

EUROPEAN BONDS

Great interest centers in the foreign bond issue offered by the government of the Netherlands with half in the United States. The bonds are to run for 55 years at 5 per cent, a very interesting offer to be sure, if the government behind the bonds continues to exist. It is expected that many alluring offers of this kind will be made by other governments of Europe, but the instability of many of them will deter Americans from putting money in such bonds.

It is expected, however, that vast sums of American capital will be drawn to Europe in long-term loans where the security offered is safe and reliable. This will help very materially in starting up the industries in the war ravaged nations.

Now that Prince's Mary has secured her court, the world has again turned to the problems of finding enough to eat and a few dais to wear, and try to save millions of people now threatened with starvation.

SEEN AND HEARD

Observe the Lenten season.

Self-sacrifice is a real test of a man's courage.

"A girl in short dresses is in danger," says a spectator. Shucks, every man looks after her.

A thought for today

There will be hell in perfect peace where mind and deed are at one.

Trust in Thee, O Lord, for ever, for in the Lord Jehovah is everlasting strength. Isaiah 40:3.

Presence of God is not a thing.

—William Cowper.

A Word a Day

Today's word is abstemious. It's pronounced ab-stee-mee-us with accent on the second syllable.

It means temperate, sparing, restraining from overeating, shunning strong drink.

It's used like this—"If you would escape illness, be abstemious in your diet."

A Slippery Customer

The stationmaster, hearing a crash on the platform, rushed out of his room.

"In a moment I will see the express disappearing around the curve and a disheveled young man sprawling out performing that comical confusion of over-timed, ill-timed and scattered contents of his traveling bag."

"Was he trying to catch a train?" the stationmaster asked of a small boy who stood by admiring the scene.

"He did catch it," said the boy happily, "but it got away again."

Grab the Thin Air

An attendant, perching frailly from sunny trips to the aviation field to carry guns and oil for the planes, had reached the air and his path.

Each trip he had been delayed by inquisitive persons, who bombarded him with foolish questions. Next, 1 to 1000 in emergency balloons to fetch them down.

Finally an old lady stopped him.

"Young man," she said, "what do you do when a machine of gasolene?"

"Confidentially, ma'am," he replied, "there's a couple of them stranded up in the air now, and we're just kneeling on emergency balloons to fetch them down."

The Drift

After the storm, men digging through the drift.

After the cloud, the lowering shadow of life.

Snow, nor the sleek—a thousand things we fear.

We cannot get beyond the gate until the drifts are gone—the old road up the hill.

Must be hurried, and the streets not free.

And life has drifts to clear away ere we.

Toward the heights and splendors of the day.

In vain the purpose if we sit and wait. For time to clear the drifts beyond the gate.

Old errors, doubts, all vanities and pride.

These must be shoveled till the path grows wide.

—Folger McKinney.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

B. M. KEITH'S THEATRE

A show called full of comedy, with funny Bert Baker in the leading place, is shown to audiences at the B. M. Keith theatre this week.

Keith's theatre this week is headed by a comedian (Dan "Prevention") has been given in vaudeville this season, and Baker plays the leading part in the comedy. It is a comedy of the day, and three others of his company, Harry Jackson, brother of the noted Al, is also on the bill, and puts over several songs in a different manner. Jackson is a comedian with much of the manner of his brother. Turner & Nash, in a singing act, were well with every one of his numbers.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

The feature attractions at the Merrimack Square Theatre today are "The Merry Widow" starring Eugene O'Brien and "Everything for a Girl" featuring May McAvoy. Don't miss either of them.

HEALTO THEATRE

A complete change of program featuring two first class productions will appear at the Healto Theatre this afternoon with the showing of Ralph Connor's famous northern story, "Cannibals of the Royal Mounted" and Eugene Peters in "The Hands." In conjunction with the two is a snappy comedy, "House Full of Spirits," and an up-to-date act by Kingmans.

"Cannibals of the Royal Mounted" tells the story of a young man who left his home in Scotland on an expedition to find the lost city of Herculaneum in Canada and joined the mounted police, and pretty soon he fell in love with the daughter of a ranchman. The story of his love is a story of the adventures of the mounted police.

"The Hands" is a story of a man who is a master of the art of the hands.

Berton Braleys' Daily Poem Surest Thing You Know

I've seen men with upon a fluke

One bout, perhaps, or three or four—

A lad may swing a lucky duke

That knocks the other to the floor;

But here's a fact that you can't lose:

This is the dope, year in, year out:

It ain't no luck that makes a champ!

Luck sometimes deals a winning hand

But he'll be in the ring, understand!

He goes back to the tall grass,

The lad that heels it to the top

Can't be no lucky, lucky tramp,

He's got to have the stuff to top

It ain't no luck that makes a champ!

He's got to have the pep and nerve

Which nothing in the world can

Be got to have the grit and nerve

Old luck is a kind of fool, too.

But here's a kind of folk you

An' figurin' the long years through,

It ain't no luck that makes a champ!

U. S. DYE INDUSTRY FACING DIFFICULTY

PARIS, March 2. (By Associated Press)—The American dye industry is facing considerable difficulties because of the refusal of Germany to deliver the American share of dyes to the reparations commission until the controversy between the textile alliance and the minority dye interests in that country is cleared up, the Associated Press was informed yesterday in reliable quarters.

American has not received its share of the German dyes for more than four weeks and American experts in Europe assert that any great prolongation of this situation probably will cause widespread disturbance to America's newly organized dye industry.

It is asserted that while the American dye industry manufactures a majority of its own dyes, those dyes which have been supplied by Germany through the reparations commission are what are known as "key" dyes, and represent vital color elements without which no industry could continue for any length of time to perform acceptable work. America has been receiving the all-important dyes at the rate of $2,000,000 yearly. They include dyes manufactured in Germany from processes which remain a secret to the outside world.

When the American government failed, after two weeks, to respond to a cable dispatch sent it by the reparations commission on the subject of dye deliveries, or to a direct communication said to have been sent by the Textile Alliance representatives here to President Harding, Germany served notice that she did not feel called on to deliver dyes to the commission for America, unless the Washington government indicated its approval of the Textile Alliance or some other responsible agency for their receipt.

In the meantime American observers say they have been informed that the reparations commission is now in a position to deliver dyes to the American government, but that the American government has failed to respond to the offer.

FLAYS GOVERNOR OF PORTO RICO

Demands Congressional Investigation of Acts and Conduct of Gov. Reily

Declares Harding "Imposed Upon" in Making Appointment

WASHINGTON, March 2.—Demand for a congressional investigation of the acts and conduct of Governor E. Mont Reily of Porto Rico, looking to his removal from office, was made in the house today by Delegate Felix Cordova Davila, resident commissioner of Porto Rico.

Mr. Davila told the house that while he believed President Harding made a mistake by appointing Governor Reily, he knew "the president was imposed upon" and, therefore, the appointment was not made "knowingly or with the least malice toward the people of Porto Rico."

"Unable to convince the president of the justice of our cause," he exclaimed, "I appear before you to ask a congressional investigation which will expose to public view the general reputation and conduct of Governor Reily."

Mr. Davila charged among other things:

That Governor Reily "announced publicly that he intended to make $200,000 during the next four years in office, whereas the salary as governor is $10,000."

That he has endeavored to set up

MRS. VESTA LEET AND HER RADIOPHONE

CONNEAUTVILLE, Pa., March 2.

The wireless waves beat a track for the world to the door of Mrs. Vesta Leet, who for five years has been confined to her bed and a wheel-chair in her home in an isolated section of the country near here.

It is with the aid of a radiophone that Mrs. Leet, the widow of a Civil War veteran, keeps in touch with the doings of the world outside.

Enjoys Sermons

"My radiophone brings me interesting talks on all sorts of subjects, and

transformed it into a hot bed of dissension and despair. He could have had the everlasting friendship and affection of Porto Ricans of all classes had he possessed the least qualification to be their governor. And I say to you in full truth, we can stand no more. The moment has come when

Continued

sages fair weather for tonight and tomorrow, with generally fair weather

also due on Saturday and continued

moderate temperatures and light westerly winds.

The storm this morning came in typical fashion for a fairly moderate temperature, with a rather strong easterly wind.

The street railway emergency crews and snow plows were out soon after

3 o'clock, all lines being covered by the plows and sweepers and kept open

and sweepers kept for quick installation on all lines needing plowing out,

Supt. Charles E. Whelan and his cohorts selected a batch of seven big plows and three sweepers, which were sufficient for the work required.

Christian Hill, Lakeview, the Reading line, North Chelmsford, and Chelmsford, as well as the Billerica division, were swept regularly, and there were no snow blockades of any kind reported at headquarters.

At 11:30 a. m., Supt. Whelan called in all but two big plows and one sweeper, and the reserve railwaymen were notified to report at headquarters at 1 o'clock this afternoon for further instructions. Very few car delays were reported, most lines being operated on slightly delayed schedules. There were the usual stoppages of traffic on the down town streets by automobiles, trucks and horse-drawn vehicles. Middlesex street as usual had its quota of these motorman's disposition-disturbers.

With better weather in sight, indications are good for the usual service in the homeward rush hour tonight on all lines. Every extra car that can be used for the rush service will be

"bent" tonight, with plenty of operators ready to maintain proper transportation on the busiest lines.

they are always good. But next to the music I think I enjoy the church services most.

"I am a member of the Universalist church but I get lots of good from the sermons that are broadcasted from other churches, too. If I keep on hearing Presbyterian, Episcopalian, Methodist and all the other services it won't be long before I will hardly know what denomination I really am.

"I think the radiophone was the most wonderful gift my son could have presented me with.

"Wouldn't you enjoy hearing the things that other folks are hearing if you hadn't been able to do it for five years?"

"It's always something to look forward to—what am I going to hear next?"

BOXING

Mike Castle of Lawrence and Johnny Brown of Newport are on the program to play a return engagement at the Crescent rink tonight under the auspices of the Moonlight Club and were exchanged after their whirlwind sets of just two weeks ago and if their offering this evening is anything like their previous tid-bit boxing fans are in for another rare battle treat.

Two bouts were staged in this city compared with the single encounter this pair engaged in and for several days after the bout the subject of discussion here and in Lawrence.

One reason, undoubtedly, for the prolonged post mortem was the complete surprise, as expected, that Brown sprung on the fans. He hoped to take the ring, a virtual unknown here, to substitute for the popular Frankie Britt. Few, very few, in the hall knew of a change in the hall's policy. In fact the big majority figured he would last but a brief period with the aggressive and skillful Castle. Some in the crowd, however, got up to put on their coats to be ready to depart for their homes. But they hesitated when they discovered that Brown was not only giving Castle a battle, but was forcing the fighting and keeping the Lawrencean on the defensive. A few skeptics felt Brown's work was a flash in the pan, but they soon changed their minds and before the half way mark was reached, the hall was in an uproar and hundreds were voicing their approval and words of encouragement to the Newport lad.

The other bouts on tonight's card are Joe Joseph vs. Girard Gillett in the semi-final, and Eddie Shevlin vs. Ned Clinton and Kid Hooker vs. Tommy Grant in the preliminaries.

Johnny Brown arrived in Lowell last night and immediately made his headquarters at the Moody club. He announced that he was at the required weight and confident of winning over Castle tonight. Castle will come down today and will step on the scales. The articles of agreement call for both men to weigh in at 126 pounds.

Nate Slego's victory over Eddie Shevlin in Boston the other night under the dope and sent a bunch of Shevlin supporters home minus much of their spare cash. Slego will undoubtedly be kept busy now, as when he was in the city.

ning over the Dartmouth professor boxer is an achievement that will demand recognition from matchmakers not only in this vicinity, but elsewhere.

Steve Gustin of South Boston continues to pile up victories. He is a workman, one of the type who always give the fans a run. He is aggressive and carries a fine wallop. He has been seen here on several occasions and counts many friends in the Spaulding City.

Word comes from New York that Al Thompson, Lowell flyweight, continued to add new laurels to his record in the big town. Al has done remarkably well since leaving Lowell and attributed much of his success to the opportunity of working out with such high class performers as Benny Leonard and other famous glove men of the Gibson stable.

Lowell fans are greatly interested in Dan Coughlin, the local heavyweight, who recently jumped from the amateur into the professional ranks and signalled his entry into the money class by stopping his opponent in 40 seconds. He has been at 200 pounds in very fast, has a wonderful left hand, and is cool under fire. It is expected that he will soon be seen in action at the Moody club.

Abu Friedman, New England heavyweight champion, will meet Danny Edwards of Lowell, who recently scored a decisive victory over Chick Surges, at Boston next Monday night.

Paul Doyle will box Danny O'Keefe, recent champion of Harry Silver, at Lynn on Monday night. Johnny Lued will meet Tony Donohoe in the semi-final.

Willie "Young" Gradwell, who is now under the management of Charles "Doc" Dodge, is registered as one of the most sensational lightweights in the game. He has boxed all the 125 pound boys of note, from Jimmy Taylor and is matched to meet Willie Jackson at Philadelphia in the near future.

Joe Morana of Manchester, who has been out of the game for several years, made a most successful comeback recently when he defeated Young Kenner and captured the New Hampshire featherweight title. He is in search of bouts in this vicinity.

Pugilistic Tableau May Develop an Opponent for Jack Dempsey

NEW YORK, March 2.—A pugilistic tableau that may develop an opponent for Jack Dempsey, is to be staged in Madison Square Garden tonight by two heavy-weight performers, Harry Wills and "Kid" Norfolk.

Wills, whose muscles were developed by boxing cotton bales down on the docks in New Orleans, is called the "Black Panther." He stands six feet four inches tall, weighs 215 pounds, and carries 74 inches. Norfolk, known as the "Darktown Thunderbolt," is seven and one-half feet tall, weighs 215 pounds, and carries 74 inches. He has punched his way to pugilistic fame and the colored fight heavyweight champion of the world by more than 50 knockouts.

DISCUSS CHANGES IN FOOTBALL RULES

BOSTON, March 2.—Professional football rules were discussed at a meeting tonight by several New England college football coaches and others at the Boston Athletic association. A letter demanding of changing a penalty for fouls who had been made in the past and one ban on the ground when the ball is thrown on a shift play, a clearer definition of the on-side kick and other rules changes were discussed. Another meeting will be held at Harvard tomorrow night and all proposals will be referred to the rules committee of the National Football association which meets in New York on March 10.

RUTH AND MAYS AGREE TO TERMS

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., March 2.—Carl Mays, last year's leading pitcher of the New York Yankees, yesterday signed a contract for the 1922 season and Babe Ruth, who has been contractually bound on terms for this year, Colonel Huston, part owner of the team, announced yesterday. Both men had not been completely satisfied with the contract terms which had been submitted to them. The other owner of the club, Mr. F. C. Hall, said that the contract was not changed, but that the pitcher would be paid $150,000 for 1922, and the big slugger had been holding out for $250,000.

Col. Huston said that the amount of the contract was not the only thing that would be necessary to submit it to Babe Ruth, the other part owner of the club and the director before Ruth attests his signature.

Last year, according to Colonel Huston, Mays made the verbal agreement to sign a contract for the 1922 season, but had been told that the contract would be subject to the approval of the other part owner of the club and the director before Ruth attests his signature.

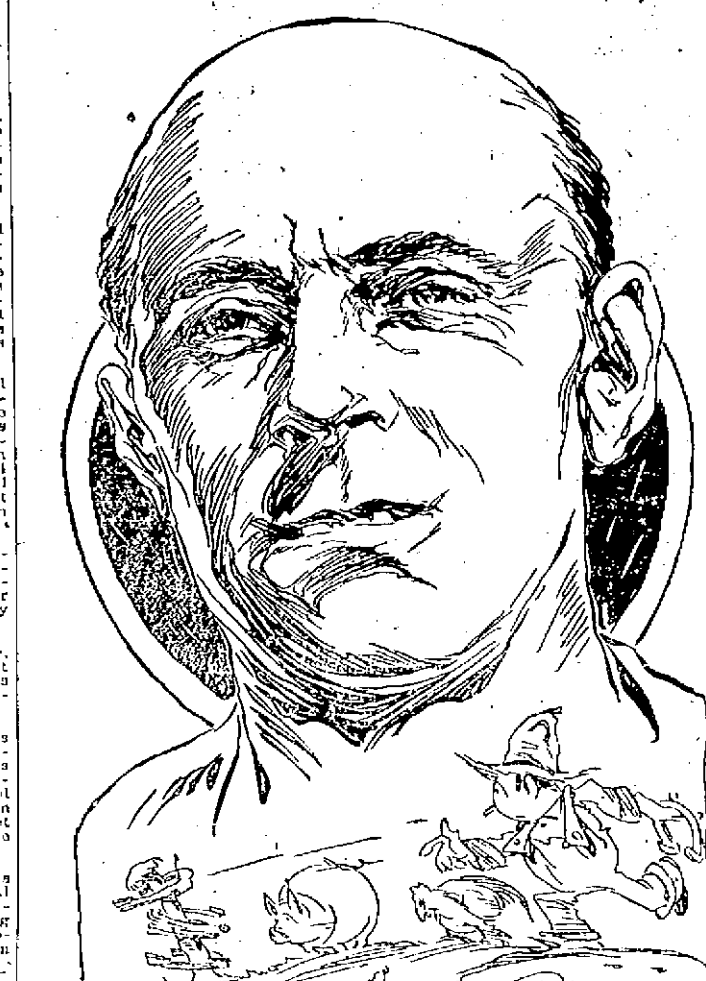

Bob Shawkey, another pitcher, was willing to sign any time, declared Col. Huston, and Mays had arrived here, but he is believed to be on his way.

It is believed to have originated from the fact that the pitcher stretched string of which will suit a medical note.

Barnyard Golf Title Goes to Charles Davis of Columbus, O.

BY BILLY EVANS

Another championship has been decided. Charles Davis of Columbus, O., is the "Barnyard Golf" champion of the United States.

Davis won the American horseshoe pitching title at the recent tourney held at St. Petersburg, Fla.

It was the first national tournament in which Davis had ever taken part. He was pitted against 22 of the best horseshoe pitching experts in the country.

In winning the "Barnyard Golf" title Davis won from four ex-national champions. He came through the tournament without a defeat. Oklahoma was the runner-up. He was defeated by Davis in the finals, 50 to 23.

Davis is a carpenter by trade and is a great outdoorsman. He is registered from his home to Florida in order to take part in the tourney.

Although Davis is 35 years of age, he was one of the youngest entered in the tournament. Which will cause the "I told you so" to repeat that youth will be served even in "Barnyard Golf."

George Hildebrand, the American league umpire, is sponsor for the following story:

Before coming to the American league Hildebrand played, then umpired in the Pacific Coast league.

In that league was the late Hap Hogan, who, in his day, was to the coast league fans what Nick Altrock is to the big league circuit.

Hogan was nothing if not original. On the coast they still talk of some of the stunts that he pulled at the expense of players, fans and umpires. Hildebrand's story deals with an umpire.

In those days it was customary for the umpires to fine the players for various offenses. Often in assessing the fine it was a habit with most umpires, if the fine was $5, to raise his hand and say, "It will cost you that much."

Working with Hildebrand in a certain game was an umpire who had only three fingers on his right hand. Hogan got into an argument with this umpire. The umpire finally decided he wanted to fine Hogan $5, but he merely raised the hand containing three fingers and said, "It will cost you that much."

Hogan neglected to pay the fine, hoping the umpire would forget it. The "ump" didn't, and the president advised Hogan he should pay it immediately if he desired to continue playing.

Hogan immediately sent a check for $3. On its receipt the president suspended him. Hogan refused to pay the other $2. As manager of the club he refused to put his team on the field.

The president of the league was gotten on the telephone, the conditions of the fine explained, and the president ruled in favor of Hogan. Technically he had only been fined $3.

league club were in the team's training quarters at Augusta, Ga., today, awaiting favorable conditions, under which to launch their spring conditioning. A heavy rain greeted players upon arrival at Augusta late yesterday and wet turf, if continued, would prevent a workout today.

Franklin and "Johnny" McMahon went three rounds with no decision. Young Sally and Sailer Rose also went three rounds and there was no decision. J. J. Jones refereed all these bouts. A wrestling bout was staged by Bob Johnson and Bill Brady, which went 15 minutes without a fall. Joseph Henry acted as referee.

After the entertainment adjournment was taken to the banquet hall where a fine menu was provided. The exercises came to a close about midnight with the singing of the "Star Spangled Banner" by three hundred voices.

The committee in charge consisted of Joseph J. Jones, chairman; John J. McMahon, secretary; Bernard J. Gilbo, Thomas P. Plunkett, Joseph M. Henry.

GIRL SWIMMER WILL TOUR COUNTRY

Marcia Burke, Port Worth, Tex., summer holder of several swimming medals, will tour the country this summer with her father, giving swimming and diving exhibitions. Her diving record is 13 feet, the highest available perch at Lake Worth, where she swam.

Larry Gardner, who plays third base for Cleveland, claims a unique distinction.

Larry played in his big league career he has played under three of the greatest managers in the game, Bill Carrigan, Connie Mack and Tris Speaker.

One day last year Gardner and I were discussing Bill Carrigan. Like Gardner, I am a great booster for Bill Carrigan. He was a real manager. In talking over some of the things we had seen Carrigan pull, Gardner remarked:

"Bill Carrigan's judgment was unerring. My sound like a rather strong statement, but I don't believe he ever made a managerial mistake. He was a wonder at making shifts in the lineup, substituting pitchers and calling on pinch hitters."

"Although a left-handed hitter I have always been successful against southpaws. In all my career not once have I been taken out with a southpaw working to let a right-handed hitter bat."

"Bill Carrigan made that change, and when he did it I could have murdered him. I don't believe I was ever so sore in all my life. However, like all of Carrigan's shifts, it produced results."

"It was in the 1916 series with Brooklyn. The game had gone into extra innings. Carrigan was fast coming over the field. It looked as if the game would surely be a tie. Then Carrigan started to make his shifts."

"Sherrod Smith was pitching for Brooklyn and going great. With two out we got a man on second. Carrigan then pulled the game and sent Mike McNally in as pinch runner. It was my turn next at bat."

"Carrigan told me that Del Gainer would hit for me. I looked at him in amazement. It was the first time I had ever been taken out of a game to get someone else for me. Seeing my surprise he again announced that Gainer would bat for me. I threw my bat away in disgust."

"Before I had a chance to get my peeve out of my system Gainer hit safely. McNally had scored from first on a single. The game was over and we were one game closer to a world title."

INDOOR TENNIS TOURNAMENT FOR WOMEN

BOSTON, March 2.—Announcement was made today that the usual indoor tennis championship for women would be held at the Longwood athletic center at Chestnut Hill, the week of March 20. There will be three divisions: singles, double and mixed doubles. Entries will close March 18. The champion of New York, who won the championship here last year, and Mrs. Benjamin D. Cole, 2nd, of Andover, runner-up, will be among the participants in the singles.

PUBLIC 18-HOLE COURSE AT BOSTON

BOSTON, March 2.—This city, the first to have a municipal golf links, is to have an 18-hole course for public play for the first time. Announcement was made today by James R. Chen, chairman of the city park department, that the offer of Donald Ross, links architect and professional player, to lay out an 18-hole course at Forest Hills, had been accepted and that the necessary annual provisions had been made for extending the nine hole system there to one of 18 holes.

BASKETBALL

First game of C. Y. M. L. Y. M. C. I. Series Crescent Rink Friday Night Tickets 25c, 35c—Tax Paid

BASKETBALL

The much discussed C. Y. M. L. Y. M. C. I. series will open tomorrow night at the Crescent rink and a record crowd is expected to turn out to witness the resumption of hostilities begun several years ago.

A few years back players representing these two organizations engaged in a number of thrilling games and every time they clashed a record crowd turned out to witness the run. The lycium team won every series except the final one being decided just ten seconds before the sound of the whistle in the last game.

Ever since that game the Y. M. C. I. has been anxious to again meet their conquerors and the membership is elated over the coming series. Many of the players who participated in those great games of other days, will be in uniform tomorrow night. The lycium lineup will be practically intact.

The Y. M. C. I., however, has added a few new men, but they are counting on several of the old favorites to again play a leading part in the combats.

Jimmy Keenan, hero of the final game of the Lowell Five C. Y. M. L. Y. M. C. I. series, will wear a Y. M. C. I. uniform and his teammates are expecting much from him. Keenan's work in the important game, which decided the championship, stood out conspicuously and while the lycium plans to guard him closely, the institute boys regard him as a dangerous threat, one who is liable at any time to break through the opposition and score.

Lenner, who, like Keenan, played with the Y. M. C. I. in past years, will be sent after Foley. In the recent series he covered the lycium star most effectively.

There is considerable interest in Jimmy Grant's appearance with the Y. M. C. I. Grant has not played on local teams for several years, but a few years back, he was a brilliant member of various "Y" teams. He has been working out in the gymnasium for the past few weeks, and if he can show his old-time speed, he is bound to prove a big asset to the Belvidere organization.

The lycium team will depend on its old reliable, Randall, Foley, Martin, Lockwood, Twohey, P. Flynn, E. Flynn and Gleason.

The members of St. Anne's and St. Patrick's teams which will open their three game series to determine the amateur championship of the city, next Monday night, are putting in considerable work in preparation for the games. This series will be run in accordance with amateur rules, which provide for considerable open work.

Brunettes in Lead at Wellesley

WELLESLEY, March 2.—Brunettes are in the ascendancy at Wellesley college. After a long standing precedent of blonde supremacy, Miss Olive Ladd of Lincoln, Neb., a young woman with black hair, has been elected mistress of the Senior Tree Day exercises. The choice was by vote of the senior class. In the selection of aids to the mistress, the class picked two blondes and two brunettes, Misses Caroline Ingham of New York; Dorothy Tower of Chicago; Elizabeth Woody of Louisville, Ky., and Harriet Rathbun of Madison, N. J.

Stranded on Reef in Blinding Snowstorm

NEW YORK, March 2.—Stranded on a reef of Hunter's Island in Long Island sound for more than six hours in a blinding snowstorm today, the army launch L-51 from Fort Totten with 15 enlisted men and one civilian aboard, reached Hart's Island after a battle against wind and wave. The rising tide lifted the craft from the rocks just as policeboats sent from this city sighted her. The boat's occupants were drenched by the waves and numb with cold. They were given hot coffee and furnished dry clothing and soon recovered. The men had attended a basketball game at Fort Slooem and were returning when they lost their way in the storm.

Italian Minister's Resignation Accepted

ROME, March 2.—(By the Associated Press)—King Victor Emmanuel today accepted the resignation of Giovanni Colonna di Cesarò as minister of posts and approved the appointment of Luigi Falcì, a deputy of the social democratic party to succeed him. Signor Di Cesarò resigned Tuesday as a protest against the practice of several Catholic ministers in consulting Luigi Sturzo, secretary-general of the Catholic party, regarding appointments.

Monument in Honor of America

LENBERG, Poland, March 2.—Following the example of Warsaw, the city of Lenberg is now planning to erect a monument in honor of America. It will commemorate the relief work done in Poland by the Hoover mission, the American Red Cross and other welfare organizations.

CUBAN FENCERS TO MEET N. Y. TEAM

HAVANA, March 2.—Eighteen of the Cuban best American fencers are to meet the New York Athletic club in May. The Americans' challenge having been accepted, the Cuban team will be chosen in elimination trials. The match will be held in New York, but the date has not yet been fixed. Three classes of weapons will be used: foil, sword and sabre.

LOYD GEORGE MAY RESIGN

General Election on Resignation of Premier May Be Upshot of Political Crisis

Prime Minister Declares Sir George Younger Must Go or He Will Quit Office

LONDON, March 2.—(By the Associated Press)—Either an early general election or the resignation of Prime Minister Lloyd George will be the upshot of the present political crisis, it is generally believed. The apparently widening breach in the conservative party, together with the consistent gain in strength of the liberals under former Premier Asquith and the laborites, as evidenced in the recent by-elections, have forced these alternatives on the premier.

Mr. Lloyd George is understood to have served notice in his letter to J. Austen Chamberlain, that Sir George Younger, leader of the conservative secessionists, who recently attacked the premier in the house of commons, must go or he will step down from office.

Sir George Younger's tactics have met with disfavor among a considerable section of the party and some significance is attached to a report that he may resign from the house and be elevated to the peerage.

An early meeting of the whole conservative party is expected.

tion officers for Lowell and vicinity, with a happy man today with the last rush over and plenty of time ahead to catch up on clerical work, reports and other duties necessary from now on to complete the formal statements for headquarters filing and review.

It was stated this morning that returns this year were up to expectations in every way, most money being collected locally, although about 200 less returns were actually filed. The 200 indicate, the collectors say, the number of Lowell residents who have lost income funds to a large extent since returns were filed a year ago.

Deputy Derby has been ably assisted in his work in this neighborhood by Edwin J. McKinley of Lowell, who came from the Boston income tax collector's division to assist in local collections and auditing, and who has now returned to the fifth headquarters. Another local office, attached whose services have proved most valuable at all times must not be overlooked in recapitulating the services of the income collection offices, an efficient assistant being Mrs. Grace M. Blazon, who has been with the department here for the past five years and has proved very competent and a valuable aid to the work of untangling many intricate problems in the taxation department.

Deputy Derby said today: "The grand rush is over. We had a last-minute scramble to take care of, and last open office last evening far beyond the required period. We were glad to do so, as many taxpayers had entirely forgotten that yesterday was the last day for filing returns. There were more than 100 delinquents who had to be taken care of in the final hours. You see there is a five-dollar-a-day penalty from now on for all who failed to make their returns in the time specified."

LAST DITCH FIGHT

14 Families in Two Boston Houses Fight Eviction—Buildings Torn Down

BOSTON, March 2.—Fourteen families in two South End apartment houses today were engaged in a last ditch fight against eviction from buildings being torn down over their heads to permit the construction of a new business block. City water has been shut off and the tenants are carrying water from neighbors' faucets in pails, bottles and pails. Candles and kerosene lamps are being used at night in lieu of the gas and electricity which have been disconnected. Forty families headed the warning to vacate, and in their abandoned apartments workmen are tearing up floors, walls and woodwork. The tenants remaining complain that their predicament is the result of inability to find other places to move. Owners of the buildings have defrayed the expense of moving tenants, and have collected no rent since January.

all over the country must be considered, I find that the returns received were only about 200 less than were recorded last year, which was extraordinary in many respects. But the payments this season have been way ahead of last year's collections.

"Prompt payments made by taxpayers last year saved the state treasurer more than $60,000 in interest charges. This year the figures will run way ahead of that sum. Returns are coming in today, of course, for all letters postmarked March 1, 1922, and so far as filing returns are considered. The penalties to be imposed on delinquents from now on will not be collected here. I have nothing to do with that part of it. I have tried my best to keep the people of Lowell and vicinity acquainted with the income tax problems of all kinds, and I have to the best of my ability kept the taxpayers informed of the closing times and the necessity of getting facts together to use in making out their returns.

"More than once this office has been kept open evenings to accommodate tardy people and help those who could not come here in the day time or during the regular office hours established. Thursday evening, we kept open until nearly 10 o'clock. "We think the campaign to educate the people as to their duties in making payments, has been very successful, and we have to thank the newspapers, including, of course, The Lowell Sun, who have given us very generously of their space, day in and day out at all times, to assist this department in the work set out for it. We are indeed very grateful for the support and publicity gained through the columns of 'The Lowell Sun'."

Deputy Derby received a cordial letter of congratulation this morning from Irving L. Shaw, in charge of the state internal revenue district, Mr. Shaw saying, in part:

"We have nothing but the best reports from the Lowell headquarters of cordial treatment at all times and fine assistance rendered to bewildered income tax payers. We want to thank you for your hearty co-operation at all times, your efficiency and your excellent service, which has a credit to the Lowell district supervisors and the entire income tax division itself. Lowell has done nobly in every respect, and I hasten to congratulate you at this time for the admirable though very arduous service rendered in no painstaking and cheerful manner at all times."

DISTRICT COURT

In district court this morning, the long continued cases against James and Helen Sokorells for drunkenness and assault and battery, and Alexander Introu, for assault and battery, the result of counter-charges made by the Sokorells brothers and Introu was again continued.

IF SKIN BREAKS OUT AND ITCHES APPLY SULPHUR

Just the moment you apply Mentho-Sulphur to an itching, burning or broken out skin, the itching stops and healing begins, says a noted skin specialist. This sulphur preparation, made into a pleasant cold cream, gives such a quick relief, even to fiery eruptions, that nothing has ever been found to take its place. Because of its germ-destroying properties, it quickly subdues the itching, cools the irritation and heals the eczema right up, leaving a clear, smooth skin in place of ugly eruptions, rash, pimples or freckles. You do not have to wait for improvement. It quickly shows. You can get a little jar of Mentho-Sulphur at any drug store.—Adv.

Two Additional Wall Street Brokerage Houses Close—List Nears 50 Mark

NEW YORK, March 2.—The list of Wall street brokerage house failures climbed toward the 50 mark today. Scott & Slump, a consolidated exchange house, went into bankruptcy shortly after the market opened and a short time later Alphonse Deschamps, successor to Friedman, Markelson & Co., an outside house, with a large branch in Montreal, announced an assignment for the benefit of creditors. Friedman, Markelson & Co. recently suspended operations and the three partners were arrested on charges of grand larceny preferred by Deschamps, who also instituted civil action to recover $16,000.

SAYS HE DROVE TAYLOR SLAYER

Harry M. Fields, held by Detroit police, has told authorities he drove the slayer of William D. Taylor, Los Angeles movie director, to the scene of the murder, police say. He also gave the name of the supposed slayer and other details of the crime, which Los Angeles police are checking up.

McLAUGHLIN ANDERSON COACH AMHERST, March 2.—J. O. McLaughlin, director of athletics at Westminster college, New Wilmington, Pa., has been appointed football coach at Amherst college. It was learned today, he succeeds Wesley Englehorn, former Dartmouth star.

McLaughlin played with Michigan "Aggies" and Westminster college as an undergraduate.

Kidney and Bladder Troubles HAVE TO GO

Clogged Up Kidney Deposits Are Dissolved and the Toxins (Poisons) Completely Driven Out. Druggists Told to Guarantee It in Every Instance

"Your very life," says Dr. Carey, "depends upon the perfect functioning and health of your kidneys. So what ever you do, don't neglect them." Dr. Carey's famous Prescription, No. 777 known as Marshroot, is not recommended for everything, but we cannot too strongly urge its use if you suffer from annoying bladder troubles, frequent passing of water night and day, with stinging or irritation, brick dust sediment or highly colored urine, bloating, irritability with loss of flesh, backache, rheumatism or any other tendency to Bright's disease, Diabetes or Gravel, for kidney disease in its worst form may be stealing upon you. Don't wait until tomorrow to begin the use of this wonderful prescription now obtainable in both liquid and tablet form if you have any of the above symptoms. Kidney and bladder troubles don't wear away. They will grow upon you slowly, stealthily and with unfailing certainty. Never mind the fallacies of the past if you even suspect that you are subject to kidney disease, don't lose a single day. For Fred Howard, 197 Central Ave., W. Coast drug store and every good druggist has been authorized to return the purchase money on the first two bottles to all who state they have received no benefit.—Adv.
